COLUMBUS DAY PARADE PROGRAM AND ROUTE K. OF C. FORCES COMING

Carpenters were busy at city hall today on the construction of reviewing stands; one for the mayor and other members of the municipal council and invited guests and the second for G. A. R. veterans too feeble to participate in the parade. The first reviewing stand is directly in front of the Merrimack street door and the stand for the veterans is located on the green plot close by. The streets were being measured off today for the routing that will be done tomorrow morning by Electrician Burns of the police department assisted by four or five firemen.

MANY INJURED CITY HALL NEWS IN STRIKE RIOT

BAYONNE, N. J., Oct. 11.—Virtually all the police of this city are on guard about the plants of the Standard Oil Co., the Tidewater Oil Co., Bergen Point Chemical Works and Vacuum Oil Co., at Constable Hook, where four policemen and nine rioters were wounded yesterday in a battle between the police and 1000 strikers.

Most of the police were entrenched early today before the yards of the Tidewater Oil Co., while the strikers and their sympathizers gathered a block away.

The trolley lines leading to the section where the plants affected are located are barricaded by strikers and sympathizers and no cars were running. The transit of workmen was in some degree met by the use of tugs and motor boats.

After a small disturbance early in the day the police arrested two men and it was asserted that many of the strikers and their followers appeared to be carrying weapons.

Later policemen forced open the avenue which had been barricaded and cars began to run.

The rioting was an outgrowth of a strike of 1500 employees of the Standard Oil Co. which closed that plant, throwing 3000 more men out. Six hundred men of the Vacuum Oil Co. and 200 of the Tidewater Oil company's employees joined the strike. The strikers attempted yesterday to blockade a trolley line by upsetting a flat car on the rails whereupon the police charged them and the shooting ensued.

EBBETS FIELD, Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Spurred on by Tuesday's victory, the Brooklyn Nationals resumed their counter charge against the Boston Americans today in the fourth game of the world's series in an attempt to break down the lead that the champion American leaguers now hold by one game.

Robinson Makes Statement

"Our boys are battling at last," said Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn this afternoon, just before having a war council with his men before the contest.

"We are a battling team. We have looked over all the Red Sox pitchers except Leonard and we now know what to expect. My agent Boston has some fine hurlers, but my men feel that they can beat them."

The Bostonians regard yesterday's defeat as nothing more than what might be expected to happen somewhere along the course of a seven game series.

Barry Says Sox Best in Pinch

"The Red Sox play best in a pinch," remarked Jack Barry, the disabled second baseman of the Bostonians. "Everyone knows what the club has done when it faced a critical series or a single game."

The temporary stand in deep left was the first to fill while the reserved stands and boxes remained half vacant until an hour before the call of play.

Grew Warmer Toward Game Time

Not a cloud flecked the sky and there was enough autumn haze to kill the high sky that proved so troublesome to outfielders playing the sun field. It grew warmer toward game time.

The batteries were announced as follows:

cause, just the same. Boys between the ages of 15 and 18 are not allowed licenses unless they have the authority or consent of their parents or guardians.

Must Have Certificates

Persons going to the maritime provinces or any part of Canada should provide themselves with identification certificates which are issued from the board of health offices in the different cities and towns. Instances have been recorded in this city where young people reached the border and were turned back because they were not provided with certificates. The Canadian authorities compel strict observance of the rule which requires children under 16 years of age to be provided with such certificates. In order to get a certificate from the health authorities it is necessary to have a note from a doctor setting forth the fact that the bearer has not had infantile paralysis, has not been in contact with a case, and is from premises entirely free from that disease.

FIVE ABANDONED SHIPS' BOATS MAY BE FROM THE KINGSTONIAN

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 11.—The finding of five abandoned ship's boats by the Spanish steamer Antonio Lopez, reported in a radio message relayed to the naval station here today by the Nantucket shoals lightship, was considered by officials as the first possible trace of the crew of the steamship Kingstonian, reported torpedoed by the German submarine which invaded Nantucket shoals on Sunday.

Search Suspended

Search for the crew had been suspended by the naval authorities, who had doubted whether the submarine's victims included any vessel other than those whose crews had been brought to land. By some, the message was held to be far from conclusive evidence that a sixth vessel was sunk, the suggestion being made that the boats may have been those from which a crew, now ashore, was taken.

Five Abandoned Boats

"We have found five abandoned boats along a radius of three miles," the message said. The rest of the radiogram was rendered somewhat unintelligible by errors in transmission. As received it read: "They had on board HIS apparel only. It is impossible to read HIS names. One of them had painted words 'Liverpool.' All in good condition."

Radio operators could not suggest a word which might sound like "his" in wireless waves, which would answer for that word in each instance.

Crew Probably Picked Up

Liverpool is the halting port of the steamship Kingstonian and from that fact naval officers developed the possibility that the boats were from that vessel. Liverpool is the halting port also of the steamer West Point, whose crew was rescued by a torpedo boat destroyer. Whether all the West Point's boats are accounted for had not been determined today.

The statement in the message that the boats were in good condition was accepted as an indication that no harm fell to those who had been in them. If the boats were those of the Kingstonian it was thought, her crew probably was picked up by an east-bound vessel, which will land them on the other side.

Verdict

for Defendant in Case of John vs. Roddy in Shooting Case

The jury that heard the case of Gen. Johnson vs. Patrick Roddy, an action of tort in which the plaintiff sought to recover damages in the sum of $5000 for injuries alleged to have been caused by an assault, reported a verdict for the defendant before Judge Hardy in the civil session of superior court. Johnson claimed to have been shot in the leg while attempting to get into a house owned by the defendant late at night. The defendant's answer was that Johnson had no right on the premises and had previously threatened to set the house on fire.

This forenoon an action of contract, brought by William H. Aubertine against his father-in-law, William McCarthy, was heard by a jury. Mr. Aubertine seeks to recover in the sum of $55 for the board of his mother who lived with him for 35 weeks. The defendant claims that his wife left him and he is not liable.

WHO THE DICKENS IS SHE!

Has Louise Dickens of this city been kidnapped, or is some person trying to work a practical joke on her relatives?

While passing through Holden yesterday afternoon Olaf Olson, who is a resident of that town, picked up the cover of a candy box, on which was written the following lines:

"I have been kidnapped by auto, party of three. Hunt for me. Louise Dickens, Lowell, Mass., October 2."

J. W. Holt, one of the selectmen of Holden, immediately got in touch with Capt. Thomas R. Atkinson of the local police, who, after a search, could find no one listed in this year's directory under the name of Dickens.

GERMANS WILL NOT STARVE BUT WILL EAT LESS

One thing after another has disappeared so gradually from German markets since the war began that the very existence of certain luxuries and some things that were once considered necessities, has been forgotten. It was the experience of a correspondent of the Associated Press who had been in Berlin since the war began, and for many years before, to ask upon his arrival in Stockholm, the butcher shop and grocery windows filled with food stuffs he had seen scarcely a suggestion of in Germany for many months, and the restaurant bills of fare also served as pleasant reminders of ante-bellum days when the German restaurants, as much as those of any country, were prepared to supply a great variety of foods.

Germany is not starving and there is no fear that it will, but the people are doing without far more things than they realize, having become so gradually accustomed to the loss of luxuries and certain necessities. Bacon, which the correspondent had not seen in Germany for months—is plentiful in Stockholm, of course; butter, lard and olive oil, seen in the grocery shops offered a really irresistible appeal to one who had scarcely known them for so long. There were different cuts of pork; the correspondent had had a small portion of pork twice in three months. He found many kinds of bread, while the only kind he recently knew were rye mixed with potatoes and wheat mixed with rye.

There was real coffee, which one cannot obtain even in the best hotels or millionaires' homes in Germany.

The taste of French-fried potatoes was almost a new thing for no German household has fat enough to permit indulging in this luxury. With baskets of bread on the tables in hotels and restaurants and no bread card required as a condition precedent to partaking, it seemed almost irregular and even wasteful. An order for mackerel brought a quantity greater than a household of two persons can obtain in Berlin for a whole week. A single order of cold meats contained more than the amount allowed per capita in Germany for a week.

What, then, it may be asked, are the Germans eating? The answer is: Bread, potatoes and other vegetables, one-half pound of meat weekly when it can be obtained, and fish, canned, fresh and smoked. The disappearance of the legumes—beans, peas and beans—has been especially felt by the poorer people. A few beans and peas are occasionally to be had, but only a negligible quantity. Lentils, of which the Germans were very fond, disappeared in the first weeks of the war.

One food, if it can be obtained, one cannot starve, but the poorer people, who either eat nothing but potatoes and bread or who do not know how to make the most of what they do get, complain of the monotony of the fare and that there are insufficiently many. A number of women of this class, some weeks ago, made a demonstration in front of the city hall of one of the municipalities of Greater Berlin, declaring that they were hungry. "You shall not be allowed to starve (verhungern)," said the mayor, "you will have to be hungry (hungrig)."

This is undoubtedly the spirit animating all but an insignificant number of the Germans. They are satisfied that they will not starve, and they are willing to make the sacrifice for the better things included in the mayor's words. And they are the better able to make this sacrifice because, as has been illustrated, they do not realize just how great it is.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

The other Saturday in Spalding park the Old Timers for seven innings on a sorry figure against the South Ends, and then taking advantage of a little carelessness began to push over a few runs and kept it up so consistently that Manager Lyons' men showed signs of being really alarmed. But really there wasn't any danger. Handicapped early in the game by the loss of his regular catcher, Smith never had a chance to win, although he pitched well and batted finely and effectively. He was further handicapped by the weird work of his third baseman and shortstop who collectively manufactured eight costly errors, although the charitable scorer didn't so record. This was certainly enough to take the heart out of any team. Nevertheless the Pawtucketville farmers kept plugging away undismayed by seeing the South Ends score climb to nine runs, until the seventh inning, when, as aforesaid, they began to push runs over the saucer. Owing to the cold which incidentally kept the attendance down, and the approaching darkness, I left before the game ended, but afterwards learned that the final score was 10 to 7, which was much better than I promised to be until the South Ends got careless or O'Donoghue let up a bit. I don't know which. It was a ball game all right, with the South common boys outclassing their opponents.

I hear it said that the C.M.A.C. are fit and willing to take on the South Ends for a Spalding park game. If so, then it is likely that the South Ends are very ready. Constantinides, being they say, has a match between these two teams after the world's series is over should be the proper thing.

Let us have it; and may the better team win.

Where do you dominate?

Oliver's mind is clouded observation about wealth and dominating and men degrading to suit the present hour might be changed to read:

"It fares the land to hastening ills A prey where pleasure dominates And men decay."

There is no question as to the mischievous influences upon a people of too much wealth; and a people wisely given up to the pursuit of rapid pleasures usually has in day of reckoning somewhere ahead of it. The young man or woman who apparently lives for nothing but a "good time" is too often ready to sacrifice place, prospects and health to that end. If perished in the future men and women of the land may be good substitutes for the generation which founded and preserved this nation; and in time of stress will prove a poor defence against enemies from within or without that may rise against them. They devote to selfishness and pleasure, indulged still, the seed of weakness, ignorance and cunning; and the nation, as a result, should be added instruction in certain Spartan virtues which we seem to have forgotten; and our civil life also might be revitalized by a return to the ideals of the past which at least betoken intelligence and strength.

The city of Lowell long will be able to count at least 10 hours of amusement, so there is no lack of opportunity for our people to enjoy themselves in vandolism and waste houses. Twelve o'clock dances are beginning and the howling dervishes are becoming the scenes of great activities. Bridge-whist parties are getting to be rather and pleasant poker parties are increasing as the nights grow long. Still in this late October weather a great many take pleasure in automobiles, and now that baseball is practically over for the season, we may still follow the collier as he comes to back up and buy a ticket for home. He says that the white and cats region out there is alive with harvesters from the states, and in about two weeks the threshers will have finished their work. The weather in the main has been favorable and the crops are doing better.

The "whit" remarked that he didn't smoke very much himself, but all the same did a little; and that was important, and what was most important, was very much benefited in health by his visit.

Our boys in Saskatchewan Letters from Saskatchewan in the region about Durban where quite a number of Lowell boys are having the time of their young lives working like fiends, eating like horses and sleeping like so many logs, say that in a few weeks they will be seeking a warmer climate. Some will come home, some will strike for California, others will try out the middle west, and I hear that a few brave ones contemplate becoming British subjects in order to take up land in Athabasca. I would advise them to wait until the war is over.

I am told that in spite of surroundings that are not particularly ideal in character most of the Lowell contingent experience a strong liking for the Saskatchewan country; but I dare say since that foot of snow which Moffat tells there is a stranger blinding to get away. One of the bunch in a letter says that they are a tough looking crowd, lowbells, all in fine condition. Many haven't shaved for weeks and as for hair-cuts such luxuries are rare. Many first mustaches are appearing and distinctly discernible at 10 paces. Of late much discomfort has been encountered from high winds and dust storms. Many are like young hurricanes and terrific horses and drive everybody to cover. After one storm Tom Farrell was pulled out of a gopher's burrow in a state, it is said, bordering upon near-candidacy for the professional services of Dr. Jenner; while Ted Wright, who has long since been promoted to "Spikie" Wright, was found to have lost a portion of his new mustache. So you see, notwithstanding they are far from Middlesex street they are not without a little excitement on the side. Now I understand that some of the Lowell boys have taken the "Man in the Moon" to task for not putting their names in The Sun. He wishes to explain it by saying that their names have never been given him. Of course he knows about Charlie Miller and Howard Kirby, who own farms out there; and of course he knows "Spikie" Wright, "Hank" Mason, G.B. Mansfield, Alkali Tom Farrell and Ted Cameron of Teakbury. For the omission let them

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dope" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. Which child, it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "middles" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need clearing, give only delicious California Syrup of Figs. Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach; and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." It has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups. plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Ex-Supt. Moffatt Formerly Superintendent of Police William R. Moffatt arrived here from the northwest on Saturday last, looking hale and hearty. He had a very enjoyable visit and might have extended it, but a snow storm last Wednesday had a vengeance in causing him to back up and buy a ticket for home. He says that the white and cats region out there is alive with harvesters from the states, and in about two weeks the threshers will have finished their work. The weather in the main has been favorable and the crops are doing better.

Old Member of the Pennant Winning Lowell Nine is Now in "Fit Condition."

To all who suffer with the symptoms of a deranged stomach, liver, kidney trouble or rheumatism, immediate relief is at hand in the use of a new herbal stomach remedy, Plant Juice. Nothing that science has put forth from the laboratories of Nature has so quickly sprung into world-wide fame and prominence, as has this preparation. Wherever introduced it has taken immediate hold on the public and brought forth words of praise from people in all stations of life. It does all and more than is claimed for it, as verified by the signed statements of people living in your own home city. Possibly your next-door neighbor has proven that this notable remedy has been remarkably successful as a germ-destroyer and builder-up of wasted tissues.

For instance, the signed statement of Mr. James A. Cudworth, of No. 41 Grand street, a popular employee of the T. H. Boyle company of this city, who has hosts of friends and acquaintances, being a member of the baseball team which won the pennant in 1915, will be of interest, he said: "I have been troubled with my stomach for years, and also with muscular rheumatism; my food fermented in my stomach and formed gas. I could not sleep at night and got very weak and completely run down, so that I practically starved myself as I was afraid to take anything into my stomach, as it gave me such distress. The gas pressed so on my heart that I thought I had heart trouble; was constipated all the time and took all kinds of medicine in the hope of getting relief. My liver was affected, and a blur would come up before my eyes so that I could scarcely see anything. Since I started to take Plant Juice I can eat anything I want and digest it. I sleep well, my liver and kidneys are in good condition, and I never felt better in my life. I am certainly glad to recommend Plant Juice."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Dows Drug Store, in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

take it out of the hide of "Hank" Mason—he's to blame, believe me.

Pawtucketville Alleviate

With the completion of the bridge at the falls and the establishing of grades at the northern side of the approaches it will probably be very evident that all of the buildings back of the square and the river banks must be removed. In less than two months the buildings now occupied by a grocery and market must be vacated, and owing to the dilatoriness or indifference, or both, on the part of the owners of the only available land on the square for business purposes, the stockholders are in position something like the young man in the song—they are "all dressed up but they have no place to go." One hears much criticism expressed with reference to the lack of enterprise on the part of individuals holding the keys to the situation and the hope is expressed that no dog in the manger spirit shall be manifested to prevent others with sufficient courage and enterprise to provide for West Pawtucketville's needs.

October Weather

The humidity of late August, long since fled before the cool west winds of September, not to return until old earth again tips over and the dog star rises viewless in the zenith. These early days of October, so like those September ones so freely and so easily, and will come in a larger degree to give us, comfort—a renewal of physical energy which is reflected in eyes open to the beauties of earth and sky and in steps that traverse the city streets or country roads with a lightness hitherto to that of immortal youth.

Let the sun out in the open and see what October has already wrought. If you do you will see many advance agents of the show in evidence. Already "enchanted lights and shadows" rise and fall within the charmed circle of the hills and all is preparation for a great shadow show on earth to take place shortly. It will be markedly successful if we do nothing but a joint continued rain fight away. This show is universal and free. You might see more varied effects by going to the Adirondacks, the Berkshires or to the hills of southern New Hampshire, but you will not get your money's worth around about Lowell. Money, did I say? Forget it. You'll see gold plenty of it—but it's the kind of gold you neither struggle nor do for. He who responds to the call of the great out in nature will feel that his nature is in tune with the earth. He will forget petty pleasures, ostentatious existence, wars, politics and vain ambitions in his complete sympathy with nature's heart and will turn to his daily duties, purified and strengthened for whatever trials and burdens the world may have in store.

Semantic O rare October days! To leave your forest-haunts of things ideal everywhere; Autumnal glory crowns the mountain range; Autumnal rapture floods the traced air; Slept in a golden languor sleeps the sea; As sinks the drowsy sun into his rest, Where burning clouds in crimson masses lie; Althwart the glowing portal of the west. The waning sunshine softens over hills; Enchanted lights and shadows rise and fall; The haze world of magic vision glows; The far-off heights a fairy glimmer take; And distant headlands, dim as summer dreams, shimmer their purple shadows in the lake. From the brown stubble-fields on either side Is heard the mellow piping of the quail; And, from an opal sky, faint, hushed and wide, The hunter's moon looks down, serene and pale. On steepy rents the parting sun-beams rest; Illusive shapes the hazy hollows fill; The twilight shades the quiet glen in veils; And all is dim, and mystical, and still.

LOWELL GUILD REPORT

The following report of the Lowell Guild was made at a meeting of the directors which was held late yesterday afternoon: New babies taken on 28; breast fed; 9; home modifications; 11; station modifications; total, 28. Co-operating agencies were, the board of health, board of charities, Lowell Social Service League, Anti-Tuberculosis League, Lowell General hospital, school department, examining children for infantile paralysis. Relief given: grocery orders, 5; milk quarts, 45; one box men's clothing, one box women's clothing, two boxes children's clothing, three pairs women's shoes, two pairs children's shoes, one hat, three baby carriages. Report was made of a meeting in Boston on health insurance and plans were made for the conference on charities to be held in Lowell this month. The guild would like the private physicians to realize they may send their formulas to the milk station for modification; there are many babies in Lowell who need milk modified according to the doctor's order when the family have not the facility for so doing.

LIST OF DAY TEACHERS ELIGIBLE FOR EVENING

GIVEN OUT BY SCHOOL BOARD
ING

The school committee and superintendent of schools did not have a very easy matter to change over the evening school system as voted at a previous meeting. It was voted on Sept. 28 to discontinue the old system of employing "non-professional" teachers and to put "professional" teachers, preferably day school teachers, in their stead. The school committee met last evening for the purpose of straightening the matter out. The meeting was scheduled for 8 o'clock but did not materialize till about three hours later—as usual. The evening schools will open October 17. The following teachers were approved for the eligible list for the evening high school: Millie A. Severance, Mary H. Kilpatrick, Frances Masterson, Genevieve Lawrence, Elmer G. Breiman, Grace Donovan, Alice H. Harbelle, Alice Richardson, Jessie D. Salice, M. Mabel Cassidy, Loretta McMahon, Joseph G. Pyne, Alice L. Chinn, Estelle Moore, elementary teacher for penmanship, unannounced; Raymond W. Shawburne, D. Murray Cummings, the above teachers to be assigned as needed, and the list to be subject to change as needs become known by registration.

The following were named for the commercial department: Bookkeeping and penmanship, Albert D. Mack, head of department; James Shanley, Marie Sullivan and Charles A. King—special teacher.

Stenography: Otton E. Bevel, Flora A. Owen, Lewis A. Putnam (special teacher), Albertine Bender (special teacher), and Mary M. Furlong (special teacher).

Typewriting: Annabel C. Lowrey and Ruth Eaton.

Mental training: Charles E. Seede, head; Peter J. Gulesian and C. Fred Campbell.

Elementary: Adelaide E. Noyes (special teacher).

French: Sara LaPorte (special teacher).

OUR DESTROYERS READY FOR RESCUE WORK WHEN ORDERS REACHED THEM TO "GO!"

U.S.S. ERICSSON, ADMIRAL KNIGHT, U.S.N. AND THE STEPHANO

Two hundred and fifty-six survivors, including thirty-five women and ten children, reached Newport harbor on United States destroyers, which put to sea when word came of the sinking of the Stephano and other ships by the German U-33 and probably other German submarines. The destroyers had eighty-one among them all the women and children; the Drayton, sixty-eight; the Benham, thirty-six; and the Jenkins, seventy-one.

The Stephano was in the regular service of the Red Cross line and was bound from St. Johns, N. F., to New York.

The sale of the Stephano to the Russian government, which had planned to use her as an ice breaker, was recently announced. Her sister ship, the Florizel, had also been sold to Russia for ice work.

When wireless news came that the German U-33 and probably other German submarines were sinking vessels near the American coast the navy was ready to go to the work of rescue of passengers and crews. In Newport harbor snuggling at anchor near Goat Island, the torpedo boat station, were twenty-five of these low, bristling craft, ungainly in repose but swift and savage in action, popularly known as torpedo boat destroyers and in the navy merely as "destroyers." The wireless of the scout cruiser Birmingham, flagship of Admiral Gleaves, formerly commandant at the New York navy yard, can talk with Colon if it wants to so powerful are its dynamos. It was child's play for its operator to pick up the news that the West Point had been blown up by the German, then only ten miles south of New-tucket, and that the Kansas, fifty miles northeast, had turned to the rescue.

There was quick communication between the two admirals—Gleaves on the Birmingham and Knight, commander of the Narragansett bay station, in his office at the War college. So swift was the electric play that followed with the order to seventeen boats of the destroyer flotilla and their mother ship, the Melville, that it really amounted to "Get ready, go!"

UNITY CLUB'S LICENSE REVOKED BY BOARD

DECISION GIVEN OUT LAST NIGHT—
PARK HOTEL CASE HEARD ON
CHARGE OF SERVING MINOR

At a meeting of the license commission last night the members decided to revoke the special club license.

The following letter was sent to the

Millinery—Mrs. Mary N. Devine.

Miss Esther Downing was appointed head of the women's evening school at a salary.

Miss Anna O'Day was made head of the dressmaking department at $2 per evening. Miss Rubena Brennan was appointed head of the cooking department at $2 each evening. All others of the evening vocational school list had their pay fixed at $1.50 per evening.

John H. McGuinness was appointed head of the plumbing department at $2 per evening and Clark L. Farrington was made assistant to the principal at $1.25 per evening.

president of the club:

Office of the License Commission,
Lowell, Mass., Oct. 10, 1916.

Unity Associates, John McCann, President, 195 Middle street, Lowell, Mass. Gentlemen: At a meeting of the license commission, held this date, the commission voted to revoke the special club license granted and issued to the Unity Associates, by John McCann, president, to be exercised on the premises numbered 195 Middle street in seven rooms on the third floor.

Very respectfully,
The License Commission of the City of Lowell

Per John J. Maherty, Clerk.

The greater part of the session was taken up with the hearing of the charges preferred against John J. and Daniel E. Foye, proprietors of the Park hotel. It was alleged that they sold liquor to Real Parent, a minor, on Sept. 17.

Parent testified that he entered the hotel on the day in question with a friend and, although he and his friend were under age, both were served with liquor.

While the two boys were seated at a table, Inspector Conroy and Dwyer put in an appearance.

They doubted the ages of the boys and upon inquiring they found that they were under age.

George H. Clark, who made the sale, testified that he thought the boy was of age.

Both John J. and Daniel E. Foye were called and testified to their instructions to their employees and to the fact that one or the other at all times was on the premises, in some part of the hotel.

The commissioners took the matter under advisement.

Rules Are Amended

It was voted to amend the rules of the evening schools, so that the special teachers at the evening high school shall be qualified to teach languages.

It was voted that the High, Edson, Colburn, Butler, Greenhalge and Mann schools and two rooms in the Cabot Street school be used as evening schools.

Miss Irene Hogan was granted a second-grade certificate. Dr. W. W. Devine, school physician, was granted leave of absence for two months. Dr. James Y. Rodger was elected a temporary school physician in her place.

A communication was read from John J. Mahoney, principal of the State Normal school, relative to the teaching of music in the Washington school by A. E. Brown, teacher of music at the Normal school. Permission was granted.

Adjourned.

PITTS' SERVICE CAR AL- WAYS ON THE JOB.

EVER READY FOR A QUICK RES-
DEALERS

The Pitts Auto Supply is making an interesting announcement on this page today. As they are the agents for the "Universal" car they have obtained a lot of tires for these cars. A point of advisability is offered to the many motorists who will ride many more miles before the motoring season closes. This supply house does not stretch the point when they say that the Pitts Service car is always ready for a quick rescue. Regardless of hours or weather conditions this car is on the job. It is a sort of first aid to the injured, and it may be well to remember this when something goes wrong.

Tomorrow, Columbus Day, is the last holiday of the summer season. Although it is a little cool, the motorists may call it the most wonderful time of the year for driving, and no doubt there will be few who do not take advantage of this day for a spin out through the country. Just now, before the frosts have killed all the leaves, the foliage has its rare tints and lustre. The combinations of nature's colors make an attraction for the lovers of beauty and art, and it is but an alluring array.

AUTOMOBILE QUESTION BOX

NOTE—In these columns every Wednesday we will give expert advice to motorists on how to repair and operate their machines. Automobile readers of THE SUN are invited to send in questions or problems they may wish to have answered. Such questions will receive attention in due time. Address all communications: Automobile Editor, Sun, Lowell, Mass. Communications must bear the signature and address of the sender, though not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

About three weeks ago I had difficulty with my car. It was a 1916 Ford. I had a lot of trouble with it. I had a lot of trouble with it. I had a lot of trouble with it.

The sales of the Lowell Motor Mart for the past week were: J. C. Abbott, Graniteville; a Chandler roadster; a Dodge Bros. touring car; D. G. Allard, a Dodge Bros. touring car; D. D. Hawley, Dodge Bros. touring car.

During the last year or two automobiles, engineering has been rapidly approaching a limit beyond which advancement is going to be very gradual. There will, of course, be many innovations and changes offered the public from time to time, because the motor car represents a relatively new industry and it will be the practice of manufacturers to constantly change their product in order to lend it variety of style, etc., for the purpose of making sales.

Buyers now generally recognize that factory responsibility, dealer integrity and the facilities and inclination of both factory and dealer to give reliable service after the sale are vital factors in the purchase of an automobile.

Since I notice that quite an amount of it looks out through the right-hand brake of a 1916 Overland. How may I locate trouble and remedy?

Ans. Remove wheel and see if felt washer is in place in axle tube. If it is missing or badly worn one must be provided or the amount of grease in differential must be reduced. A heavier grease than the one you are using would also help to reduce the trouble.

The lights in my car are not as strong and bright as formerly. I can find no cause for this except that in running the motor, thereby charging the batteries, all the cells in the batteries bubble and gas freely, except one which does not gas at all and which indicates to me that this cell needs replenishing. Do you think this cell is the cause of the lights being dim, and if so, how can I restore it to a healthy condition? An answer through the motoring page will oblige.

Ans. Although you do not state so, we assume that you keep the defecfive cell filled with water. Otherwise the radiator would be due to a leaky cell. It is possible that the plates are short circuited. This would reduce the current and make the lights burn dim. It would be advisable to have the battery inspected and repaired without delay.

Please answer the following in your motoring column:
I have a 1916 Ford car, also an automobile equipped with generator and battery, and desire to equip my Ford with a storage battery for nighting. Could I charge the battery for the Ford from the other car? Also, could these batteries be charged from one car to the other? I will appreciate your advice and information.

Ans. The battery on the Ford car could be charged by the other system, but it would not be economical to run the engine just to charge the other battery. You would best proceed as follows: Get a battery of the same capacity as the one with your starting and lighting equipment, and charge it if possible as it will then fit into the same space on the car. Use one of these batteries on the charging system until it is charged and then exchange with the one on the Ford car. This will be found to work out very successfully in practice.

I find that if a Ford car is jacked up behind and thrown in low gear the left rear wheel only will spin, and likewise in reverse the right wheel will remain stationary, while the left will spin, but in high gear both spin. From these facts some contend that the left wheel only does all the pulling in low and reverse gear. Please let me know if this is the case.

I wish to know this for the reason that if this is true it will be best to foul roads to give the left wheel the hardest track when pulling in low gear.

Ans. All differentials are designed to deliver equal power to both wheels. When rear wheels are jacked up a slight drag on one wheel, such as brake dragging or a tight bearing, would cause one wheel to run more slowly or stop while the other ran forward. If the high speed is used it drives the differential with so much more force that it overcomes the resistance and both wheels run forward. You may prove this by holding one wheel while the gears are in high speed. You will find the wheel which will run under as fast. This is an essential feature of the differential, as it is designed to drive both wheels at the same speed while going straight and at different speeds while turning corners.

Would thank you for answering this in your column next week:
I have a 1915 Ford runabout. On opening the coolant one of the explosions is much louder and heard elsewhere than the other. This is not noticeable after the car has gained speed. Motor misses considerably until thoroughly warmed up. However, it then runs evenly. A new set of spark plugs has just been put in. What causes this, and how should it be remedied?

Ans. The trouble may be in one of the valves or coils which does not give as hot a spark as the other. It may be a leak in the inlet manifold, giving some cylinders a defective mixture. Spark gaps may not be set right in plugs. By going over these points carefully you should be able to remove the trouble.

Now that winter is coming on I should like to know what is the best preparation on the market to prevent the water from freezing in the radiator. Any one who has had this experience can tell me what is injurious and which one is safe?

Ans. There may be anti-freezing mixtures for sale which are not injurious, but most of them contain calcium chloride, which eats away the solder holding the radiator together. Glycoline is used by some, but it rots the rubber tubing. The only thing we can recommend is denatured alcohol in the proportion of one to three. Measure the water in the cooling system and you will know how much alcohol to put in. Be careful of leaks, never fill the radiator with fuel, and add alcohol occasionally as it evaporates readily and must be replaced.

Please let me know how to stop a leak in a radiator. It keeps dripping all the time and I have to refill it two or three times a day. A. C. M.

Ans. You fail to state what type of radiator you have. A cellular radiator may be repaired temporarily by plugging both ends of the tube with putty. If the leak is the least bit serious, the leak in the tube surface where it can be reached, a drop of solder may be all that is necessary. A tubular radiator is hard to stop leaking, but your supply dealer has a preparation which is to be dissolved in the hot water in the radiator. As it leaks out it gums up the leak. Some are responsible of this. A good meal, but it is apt to cause the radiator to clog. As soon as possible the radiator should be properly repaired by a competent workman.

The breathing tube on my engine lets out a lot of gas, but doesn't seem to take any in. Is this anything serious? Please tell me what a breathing tube is for.

Ans. The breathing tube is to let the air into the crank case and let it out again as the pistons move up and down, so as to avoid back-pressure against them. If there is much air coming out it shows that the gas is leaking by the pistons. On an old motor this is the result of wear. On a new motor the piston rings are probably gummed. Test motor for loss of compression. Piston rings may be loosened by pouring in half a teaspoonful of kerosene and cranking the engine. A worn cylinder can only be repaired by grinding. This also will require a larger sized piston and rings.

I have been advised to paint my tires with some of the white paint on the market for that purpose. Please let me know if it will prolong the life of the tire, as some claim.

Ans. The paint you mention serves merely to cover the outside of the tire and to improve its appearance, but can have no effect on the interior of the tire, even when the small cuts in the tread. Its main purpose is to add to the appearance of the car.

I find it difficult to start the motor these cold weather hints that will help get the engine started? I would appreciate them very much as I have no stator on my car and do not enjoy spinning it.

Ans. The following hints may help you. If starting is not sufficient, warm carburetor by wrapping hot cloths, wrapping out in hot water, around the carburetor and pipes. Prick the carburetors through the relief valves in another method. You will probably use gasoline, but ether is better, as it evaporates at all temperatures and gives a very snappy explosion. If everything else fails and sufficient hot water can be had, all the cooling system with hot water. This never fails.

HELPFUL HINTS
If at any time you open the switch and the engine continues to run it is due to glowing carbon or overheated engine. Close throttle, put gears in low speed, apply foot-brake gently, and let in clutch suddenly. This will stall motor.

If wire terminals break off and become lost make an eye as follows: Remove enough insulation so that the bare wire may be turned around the sharpened end of a pencil, and the end wrapped around the wire itself. This alone makes a good terminal, but it will be much improved if it can be dipped in melted solder.

Do not neglect to take a few spark plug cores with you on your trip. The metal parts of a spark plug will last almost indefinitely, but the cores must break in time, and that usually means buying a new spark plug. As the cores can be bought for a fraction of the cost of a new plug, it means economy to carry a few with you. Also carry a few extra gaskets.

Spark plug porcelain cracks from a variety of causes. A chance blow from a wrench while tightening, pulling too hard on the engine wire, dropping the plug, or a defect in manufacture are frequent causes. But the usual trouble is from screwing them too hard into the cylinder. As the plug heats up and expands it cracks the porcelain.

Do not neglect to inspect valve clearance at least once a month. If valve lifters are out of adjustment, power is being lost without its being noticed. Walt (Ill) motor cools and adjust them to one sixteenth of an inch. If they are too wide open they become noisy; if too far closed the motor loses compression. In both cases there is a serious loss of power.

IMPORTANT ENGINE FACTORS
At the present day and time, it's the little things that really count in the design of an automobile motor. Up until the past few years it looked as though the only way to increase the power of an automobile engine was to increase the bore of the cylinder which, of course, necessitated a larger cylinder casting, resulting in a motor that was clumsy and heavy and extravagant in its use of gasoline and oil.

The tendency at the present time, and it is undoubtedly correct, is to increase the power of the automobile engine by increasing the speed rather than the size.
"There are many things in design that affect the speed at which a motor may run; in the first place, the reciprocating parts must be very light and carefully balanced, the crankshaft must be designed in such a manner that it will be possible to revolve it at high speed without excessive vibration, and while the motor bearings must be free from friction as nearly as possible, at the same time they must be strong enough to stand the most severe strains.

Two of the most important factors that determine the speed at which a motor may be operated are getting the gasoline vapor into the cylinder and the burned gases out of the cylinder as quickly as possible.

ARMENIAN TAG DAY

Local Committee Wants Workers to Aid in Good Work Next Saturday

The general committee in aid of the Syrian and Armenian relief fund has issued a call for its volunteer collectors or more to sell tags in this city next Saturday. Women are needed more especially and it is hoped that some of the zealous young ladies who worked for other tag days will respond to the call.

There was a meeting of the general committee for tag day yesterday at city hall. Rev. A. C. Perin was chosen permanent chairman and other members of the committee were Rev. J. A. Barber, Alex Williams, A. Rabigan representing the Armenians and George Delaney, representing the Syrians. Twenty young women will form the Armenian corps of workers and the Syrian committee will have from 25 to 30. At least a hundred more are needed.

Alex Williams offered the rooms of the Boy Scouts in Shattuck street as headquarters for tag day and the committee voted to accept. It was suggested that those wishing to serve as collectors should call at headquarters and notify Mr. Williams or some other member of the committee. Saturday will be observed as relief day for the Syrians and Armenians throughout the country and it is to be hoped that Lowell's contribution will be worth while. The movement followed a proclamation by President Wilson and a resolution passed by congress.

BOMB WRECKS CATHOLIC CHURCH AT FRAMINGHAM

FRAMINGHAM, Oct. 11.—An attempt was made last night to destroy St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church by a bomb. One side of the church was blown in by the explosion, which occurred at 3.15, while the teachers in the Sunday school and the church curate, the Rev. Thomas G. Garrahan, were holding a meeting in the vestry.

The shock was tremendous. Every window in the building was shattered and the ceiling rocked under the force of the blast. A gaping hole five feet square was torn in the wall. The stations of the cross were torn from the walls, religious paintings thrown down and the books in the library tossed about.

Anarchists, a group of whom have been active in this vicinity recently, are suspected. At midnight it was thought that at least one of the suspects was in an automobile racing toward Boston, and the police of all cities and towns along the route have been asked to keep a lookout.

REMEDY FOR NEURASTHENIA

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills.

Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

the men. He was short, she said, red faced and smooth shaven.

Had Received No Threats
The Rev. John T. Hoffmann, pastor of the church, was at a loss last night to account for the explosion. "From what the police tell me," he said on a reporter, "the church was blown up by a dynamite bomb. There has been no threat against me or the church. There were some Sunday school teachers in the church at the time, but all escaped."

The police are inclined to believe the placing of the bomb was the work of a party of anarchists who have been meeting in Cohassetville, a few miles from here. It is suspected that they are the same men who placed a bomb under the steps of St. Mary's church in Milford a few weeks ago. The bomb at St. Mary's was discovered before it exploded.

Thrown Into Basement
The force of the explosion last night threw the bricks and boards from the side of the church into the basement. Every window in the church was broken and the damage to the edifice is considerable.

Valuable religious pictures and the church library are buried on the basement floor under a pile of debris and the full extent of the damage cannot be learned until the state police finish their inspection of the building.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS
Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow-complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

lag, but it is believed it will reach $15,000.

Sunday School Teachers Escape
The Sunday school teachers were meeting in the vestry, in the rear of the altar. They escaped the debris but the vestry windows were shattered and the glass buried in over the floor.

The Rev. Thomas G. Garrahan, curate of the church, who was conducting the meeting, said after the explosion: "We are very fortunate that the Sunday school teachers' meeting was not held in the basement, as was originally planned."

"If such had been the case someone surely would have been severely injured if not killed. We are very fortunate that we changed our plans."

Children Had Just Gone
There were about a dozen young women at that meeting. Miss Mollie Callahan, a teacher, said to a reporter: "We were all sitting in the vestry when it seemed as if something was thrown up against the side of the church. The whole building rocked like a boat at sea."

Just a few minutes before the explosion came a number of children of the vestry and passed out by that door under which the bomb was placed. If they had delayed a few minutes longer they might have been killed."

A stone from the foundation of the church was hurled into the home of Earl Parker across the street. It shattered a front window in his home and fell in on the parlor floor. No one was in the room at the time.

Built in 1876
St. Stephen's church was built in 1876. It is a wooden structure on a brick and stone foundation with the main edifice on the street floor and the vestry and church altar in a basement.

The Rev. John T. Hoffmann is pastor and has been since 1905, and the assistant pastor is the Rev. Thomas G. Garrahan. It has many societies, including the Ladies' society of the Blessed Virgin, League of the Sacred Heart and the Holy Name society. The church has a very large membership.

POLICE FIND CLUE
FRAMINGHAM, Oct. 11.—The finding of a note pinned with a knife to a tree near St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church early today gave the police a slight clue from which they hoped to be able to trace the person responsible for the damaging of the structure by an explosion last night.

The authorities declined to make public the contents of the note. A suspect arrested at Brookline last night was released today.

Walter L. Wedger, a bomb expert of the state police after examining the building said that the explosion undoubtedly was caused by dynamite. He was of the opinion that six or seven sticks of the explosive were set off by means of a rope fuse and percussion caps.

EASY VICTORY AT LEXINGTON

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 31.—Split heat races, all of which were hard fought except the Ashland Stakes, which was won by Early Don, was the rule yesterday at the meeting here of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association.

The 2:07 pace carried over from Monday went two heats before it was won by the original favorite, Beth Clark. This race went six heats, which is the longest of the meeting.

The 3:05 trot went five heats and had four heat winners, Peter Miliken, having won two heats, was declared the winner of the race under the rules. He was obliged to take a new record of 2:06 1-2 in the third heat, while Platte lowered his record to 2:05 1-2 in the fourth heat.

The 2:15 pace was unfinished at sundown, the Canadian mare, Queen Hal, having won the first two heats, and Baron Wood, from Michigan, the third.

LAWRENCE ACADEMY WILL

IMPORTANT GAME AT SPALDING

PARK TOMORROW—LOCAL TEAM EXPECTED TO WIN

The Lowell high football eleven which has shown up so favorably in the two games played thus far should have no trouble in winning from Lawrence academy in the game to be played at Spalding park tomorrow forenoon. The student body and other followers of the team will undoubtedly turn out in large numbers as the game is one of the important ones of the first part of the season.

In last Saturday's game when Lowell overcame Nashua, Coach Conway had an opportunity to put in many of his favorite players. All showed up well and Coach Conway realized that he has some good material in the background. Capt. Lator, Lynch and Heathcock are three great ground gainers and Mearns, Mahoney and the others are showing good well. The linemen are also in good condition and the team as a whole is well. The linemen are also in good condition.

The interclass games which were started under the direction of Faculty Manager Joseph Pyle and Mr. Campbell have not only been instrumental in building up a strong lineup but have also created more football interest in the school as it gives the younger players a chance to go onto the field and get a touch of what a real game is like.

"May I take my girl to the rink to see the fifth game of the world's series tomorrow?" said a young man over the phone to Manager Moore of the Rollaway, "I'm certain, Mr. Moore, and I'll guarantee that she'll enjoy the game and find everything highly satisfactory." This is only one of the many inquiries received relative to bringing the ladies to the games. But during the past three days a great many of the fair sex have attended and they made their presence known by cheering the men in cheering. The games are open to all and the management guarantees courteous treatment to everyone who attends. The evening board at the rink is meeting with remarkable success and all who are taking this means of following the big games are elated over the manner in which each and every play is given. Every little movement, every ball, every strike, every hit, and in fact every little detail is flashed on the board. Thousands have already visited the rink, and indications are that thousands more will be there before the final game of the big classic is over. Tomorrow, being the last game, thousands have been made to handle a big crowd. If you want to stay in Lowell, and yet follow the big game, you should get in line and follow the crowd to the Rollaway, third street.

HI MYERS OF BROOKLYN WINS FAME
WITH HOME RUN IN WORLD'S SERIES

MYERS (Brooklyn) ROUNDING THIRD IN SERIES' FIRST HOME RUN.

Most of the second place glory that went to Brooklyn for the fourteen-inning game, second in the world's series, belongs to Smith, pitcher, and Hi Myers, centerfielder. It goes to Smith for the fine game he twirled and to Myers for his home run in the first inning made off Ruth. Myers came within an ace of beating the Red Sox single handed, although Boston won, 2 to 1. He was the Robin, brightest star, Myers shocked Babe Ruth and the Boston fans when he hammered the ball to the concrete wall in right center for a clean home run in the first inning. It was a tremendous hit, and Myers crossed the plate before Janvin, in short center, had a chance to relay. Victory's long throw to 'Catcher' Thomas Myers also made several miraculous plays in the field. He killed a possible two-bagger from Janvin's bat in the first frame, when he captured a hard line drive in right center. He robbed Harry Hooper of a probable home run in the sixth and smothered a rally in the ninth with a gorgeous throw. Picture shows Myers' portrait and also shows him making his home run.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

Boyle in the main bout.

The bout arranged for the Commercial A. C. Friday evening with Phinney Boyle of this city and Tommy Reagan of Boston as the principals has been called off as Reagan has announced that he is not ready to meet the speedy Lowell boy. Another fast lightweight will probably be secured to go against Boyle in the main bout.

Jim Crilly will open his Lawrence club tomorrow. Pete Hartley and Vic Moran were scheduled to meet in a 12-round bout, but Moran has sent word that he will not appear. Manager Crilly is trying to get a substitute capable of making a good showing against Hartley. The bouts this year will be held in the Opera House.

PERCY HAUGHTON BACK ON JOB AT HARVARD

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Percy D. Haughton, '92, Harvard's football coach who has made football history during his career as pilot of the Crimson teams, was present at the Stadium in a coaching capacity yesterday for the first time this fall.

Haughton appeared pleased to be back at his old stand. He was all over the field, getting a line on the new men. Coach Leary was in charge as usual, but Haughton will probably take the reins in the near future.

After Monday's rest, Coach Leary lined the varsity eleven against the scrub for an hour of hard scrimmage. Before the fray came to an end the first division players succeeded in scoring twice. Horween plunged through the right side of the scrub line from the 15-yard mark, scoring the first varsity tally, while Eddy Casey, later in the day, slipped off left tackle and breaking into the open field, scampered 50 yards for the second touchdown. Robinson kicked both goals, making the total 14.

The second shared in the scoring honors. In the latter part of the scrimmage the varsity rushed the ball to the scrub 2-yard line, but fumbled. Brown, playing end for the second, scooped up the ball and ran 35 yards for a score. Firsterson kicked the goal for the second time.

Mosley Taylor, '18, habited about the field with the aid of a cane and watched proceedings from the sidelines. G. C. Carter, '17, the other first string tackle, was also on the sidelines. His injured knee is preventing him from getting into the scrimmage work.

Both Carter and Taylor will be kept out of rough work for some time. Taylor has an injured knee and also a strained back and will be out for a week at least. Carter is expected back here, making a score, firsterson, Homer Sweetser, another of the tackle squad, is also laid up with a bad shoulder.

The varsity lined yesterday as follows: Phinney, Brewer, Woods, Leary, Davis, H. Padman, Day, Ig. Harris, Sagar, Thorndike, Wilgus, G. Clark, Snow, Ig. Wheeler, Lovell, Ig. H. Coolidge, Gaston, re: Robinson, Gardner, qb: Thacher, Burnham, rbb: Horween, Hitchcock, Horne, hb: Casey, Minsel, fb.

The second shared in the scoring honors. In the latter part of the scrimmage the varsity rushed the ball to the scrub 2-yard line, but fumbled. Brown, playing end for the second, scooped up the ball and ran 35 yards for a score. Firsterson kicked the goal for the second time.

Mosley Taylor, '18, habited about the field with the aid of a cane and watched proceedings from the sidelines. G. C. Carter, '17, the other first string tackle, was also on the sidelines. His injured knee is preventing him from getting into the scrimmage work.

Both Carter and Taylor will be kept out of rough work for some time. Taylor has an injured knee and also a strained back and will be out for a week at least. Carter is expected back here, making a score, firsterson, Homer Sweetser, another of the tackle squad, is also laid up with a bad shoulder.

The varsity lined yesterday as follows: Phinney, Brewer, Woods, Leary, Davis, H. Padman, Day, Ig. Harris, Sagar, Thorndike, Wilgus, G. Clark, Snow, Ig. Wheeler, Lovell, Ig. H. Coolidge, Gaston, re: Robinson, Gardner, qb: Thacher, Burnham, rbb: Horween, Hitchcock, Horne, hb: Casey, Minsel, fb.

PERCY HAUGHTON BACK ON JOB AT HARVARD

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Percy D. Haughton, '92, Harvard's football coach who has made football history during his career as pilot of the Crimson teams, was present at the Stadium in a coaching capacity yesterday for the first time this fall.

Haughton appeared pleased to be back at his old stand. He was all over the field, getting a line on the new men. Coach Leary was in charge as usual, but Haughton will probably take the reins in the near future.

After Monday's rest, Coach Leary lined the varsity eleven against the scrub for an hour of hard scrimmage. Before the fray came to an end the first division players succeeded in scoring twice. Horween plunged through the right side of the scrub line from the 15-yard mark, scoring the first varsity tally, while Eddy Casey, later in the day, slipped off left tackle and breaking into the open field, scampered 50 yards for the second touchdown. Robinson kicked both goals, making the total 14.

The second shared in the scoring honors. In the latter part of the scrimmage the varsity rushed the ball to the scrub 2-yard line, but fumbled. Brown, playing end for the second, scooped up the ball and ran 35 yards for a score. Firsterson kicked the goal for the second time.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE MATHEWS BIG SUCCESS

WILLIAM H. CAREY
President

JOHN E. O'NEIL
Chairman Committee

The 36th annual banquet of the Mathew Temperance Institute held in the society hall last evening was highly successful in every particular. The attendance was very large, taxing the hall to capacity, and all present thoroughly enjoyed the program. The supper was first class, the speeches interesting and instructive and the musical numbers of rare excellence.

The speakers of the evening were Congressman John Jacob Rogers, Mayor James E. O'Donnell, Rev. D. J. Keleher, Ph. D., spiritual director of the society, James F. Miskella, John V. Donoghue and William H. Carey, president of the institute.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the doors of the banquet hall were thrown open and the recently remodelled quarters, with the six long tables, filled with lavishly set places, presented a beautiful sight. As the orchestra played a lively march all filled in and assembled around the festive board. Rev. Dr. Keleher offered prayer.

After all appetites had been satisfied, Pres. William H. Carey rapped to order and after extending a cordial welcome to all, gave a very lengthy account of the great work for temperance not only in this country, but in the numerous European nations now at war.

men out into public life whose first step of parliamentary law was whispered in these very halls. It has sent men out to all positions in every walk of life; in a word, it has developed the heart as well as the mind, and has rightly earned the universal commendation of all who are in sympathy with these things and those ideals that make for the highest type of citizenship.

While in the glow of enthusiasm tonight, let us resolve to bestir ourselves, that this organization's fires of total abstinence be ever kept burning, that the lessons of this great night shall be put to practical use, and that the ambition, the aims and the purposes of the founders of the institute shall always be realized: the dissemination of total abstinence principles and the upbuilding of the Catholic young men of our city.

Mr. Donoghue performed the duties in a most acceptable manner, his remarks, particularly his introductions of the speakers being very gracious and proper.

Mr. Warren Kane was next called upon and he sang "In the Garden of My Heart" in a most pleasing manner.

Mayor O'Donnell

Mayor James E. O'Donnell received a great reception. He first congratulated the society for its success in the past and also praised the members for having their lady friends present at the banquet. He said the statistics presented by Pres. Carey were indisputable and should teach all that the temperate man is given the preference in all walks of life. He told of the many members of the Mathews who have made their mark in the business and professional life of the city, and said that they owed their success largely to the training received at meetings of the institute. "The power of proper influence," said the mayor, "is bound to help the young man, and the man who enrolls in this organization and carries out the teachings laid down by the founders cannot help but advance in life. He spoke of the work of the boys' club and said that it was a worthy organization and should be supported. "This society too," continued his Honor, "is one that should be supported by the entire community."

"Your members should meet here regularly and discuss public matters, matters of interest to the city, state and nation and by so doing you not only help yourselves, but you help your fellow members and also the community in general. There is no better place for you to assemble than here, where you are constantly under the proper influence. Then when you go out into the world you are better prepared to fight the great battles of life. Remember that while Lowell is now enjoying a great era of prosperity, it may not always be so and when the time comes for the process of elimination the sober industrious men will be kept and the man who is not so will be forced to go."

George Kirwin of the Sacred Heart choir sang in a most impressive manner "A Little Bit of Heaven."

Congressman Rogers

Congressman John Jacob Rogers when introduced as a future gubernatorial candidate of the Bay State, was enthusiastically greeted. He thanked all for the cordial reception, and said this was his third appearance at Mathew banquets. He was always glad of the pleasure to attend their affairs. He said that on his former occasions as a guest of the Mathews, he spoke on the work of the Mathews, the great apostle of temperance and Fighting Jack Barry, the father of our navy. "Tonight I intend to do what, as it were, is between these two subjects, a talk on the city of Washington, our capital. Now Washington has been called the city of statues, and it has been well named for throughout the entire community can be found monuments erected to the great heroes of this country. I took the time today to make a tour of the city's parks and squares to count the number of statues erected to our heroes, and found that there were some 50. Of this number over half were monuments to men of foreign birth. One of the most beautiful is the replica of Fighting Jack Barry. Another is of Lafayette, the first foreigner to have been accorded the privilege and honor of addressing the house of congress while in session. The second to receive this honor was Hor. Fr. Mathew."

The speaker then made an extended resume of the numberless places of historic interest in the national capital. He said the British ambassador, James Bryce, told him that Washington was the most artistically beautiful city in the world, with Constantinople the most naturally beautiful. He then described the many buildings there which should be seen by all. He urged his audience to visit the city, and said that if he happened to be there when they called he would do all in his power to make their stay pleasant, and profitable. In closing he congratulated the society on its great work and in honoring him with the invitation to be present.

P. F. Sullivan

The toastmaster then read a letter from Mr. P. F. Sullivan, president of the Bay State Street railway and a charter member of the Mathews. Mr. Sullivan expressed his thanks for the invitation of the banquet and said that only illness prevented him from being present. He congratulated the society for its work and urged all to continue their fidelity to its principles. Mr. James Connelley then favored with several recitations.

Dr. Keleher

Rev. Dr. Keleher, spiritual director of the society, spoke on the advantages of being affiliated with such societies as the Mathews. He, too, expressed his pleasure at seeing the ladies present, saying that their attendance at the banquet demonstrated their interest in the noble work of the organization. He said that the temperate man was always in demand, and he urged the ladies to be careful in their selection of a life partner, and when the time comes for them to consider matrimony to give the temperate man the first consideration. He gave several illustrations of the sufferings caused by intemperance and in closing urged the members to assist and co-operate with the officers in all their undertakings.

Miss Florence McManus who possesses a beautiful voice, then sang several pleasing numbers, including "A Perfect Day." Mr. William McManus also sang two numbers, with John McGlinchey at the piano.

James F. Miskella

James F. Miskella, who represented the Burke Temperance Institute, was the last speaker. He congratulated the Mathews for their work which was identical with the work of the society of which he is a member. He told of the great benefit such an organization was to the members, and the society in general. A temperance society is a great asset to a community and its work should be encouraged and supported by all. He said that it keeps the members alert and prepares them to do good for their fellow members. The member should respect the society as he does his parent, and uphold the fundamental principles of the institute. "This is done," he said, "by proper elocution and not only himself but his city will benefit by it. Mr. Miskella then outlined his experiences while out west, showing how the temperance organizations are supported and honored in that part of the country. He concluded by thanking the members for their invitation and congratulating them for their remarkable work during their 36 years of existence.

The affair was brought to a close with all standing and singing America.

The committee on arrangements consisted of: John E. O'Neill, chairman; Walter P. Rogers, secretary; Thomas J. Walker, treasurer; John J. Townsend, Patrick Kane, John Sheehan, Arthur Maherty, P. Frank Riley, Paul Spillane, Rev. Edward T. Draper, John Spillane, William H. Carey, John Pwyer, Fred Brown, Joseph Finnegan, John Doyle, Dennis J. Hallissy, Philip McGuire, J. GERSEY COW BRINGS $450

NORTH EASTON, Oct. 11.—The largest auction of Guernsey cattle ever held in this country took place yesterday at Langwater farm, the estate of F. Lethron Ames.

A new record price for a Guernsey cow was established when Langwater Dairyman, an 8-year-old, bred by Mr. Ames, was sold to C. L. A. Whitney of Albany, N. Y., for $4150. This was $1140 more than was paid for Mary Bimba in 1914 at Berlin, Penn. The next largest price paid yesterday was $5000 by John S. Ames for Langwater Guernsey.

WOMAN SPEAKS FOR HUGHES

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—A novel phase of the campaign of the women's party developed here today when Mrs. H. O. Havemeyer of New York spoke for 15 minutes between acts of a popular play at a downtown theatre. She played at her bowers to vote against President Wilson on the ground that the national administration has consistently opposed a constitutional amendment enfranchising women.

SIMMONS CLOSED ON ACCOUNT OF PARALYSIS

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—In the 11 new cases of infantile paralysis reported in Boston by the board of health yesterday is a Simons college student, Miss Elizabeth Miller, 21, of Warren, O.

The discovery of Miss Miller's case has resulted in the college being closed. The day students will be told today to remain at home until Monday, at which time they will receive notification as to whether the suspension of studies is to be continued.

Miss Miller lives in the South house, 321 Brooklyn avenue. In that dormitory are quartered 350 girls. The dormitory and seven similar buildings have been placed under quarantine.

Miss Miller was taken ill Sunday night, and was removed to the college infirmary.

BANQUET AT ASSOCIATE HALL AND ADDRESS BY CONGRESSMAN PHELAN

A rousing address by Congressman Michael J. Phelan of Lynn, other interesting speeches, a banquet and entertainment and dance marked the celebration of the 37th anniversary of the inception of Court Merrimack, No. 11, Foresters of America, which was held in Associate hall last evening. The event, which proved to be a notable one in the history of this prominent organization, was attended by about 300 men and women and at the close of the evening the committee in charge was warmly congratulated for the manner in which the entire program was carried out.

Shortly after 8 o'clock to the sweet strains of a march played by Minors orchestra, the guests took places around the festive board and partook of a bountiful dinner. At the close of the dinner Chief Ranger Thomas F. Kelley rapped to order and after a brief address of welcome introduced the toastmaster, James J. Gallagher, past chief ranger of the court.

Mr. Gallagher, in his introductory remarks, paid a compliment to the ladies present and thanked them for the interest they show in the organization and in a very interesting address he gave a brief outline of the origin of Forestry in America. He said there are now 250,000 members with $2,500,000 on hand. The order was instituted in Philadelphia in 1835.

Congressman Phelan

The next speaker was Congressman Michael J. Phelan of Lynn, who responded to the toast, "Our Country." The congressman was given a rousing reception and in opening he amused his listeners by telling them of his experiences in Lowell some years ago as a dancer, and he congratulated the members for their devotion and loyalty with them. In responding to the toast assigned to him the visitor referred to the United States congress as a great fraternal organization and said the whole government of this country is based upon fraternity. "We could not exist for a year," continued the speaker, "if the men of this country were not willing to uphold that which is so important to each other and if every man were not willing to give up something for his neighbor. This you do not find in a monarchy. As long as we get in this country men who are willing to give to their neighbors we will have real democracy." He strongly deprecated the action of President Wilson on the railroad strike and keeping the country out of war.

Other numbers on the program included vocal selections by John V. Morris, Francis A. Connor, Harold T. Caterer R. J. Harvey.

MAINE POTATO MEN FOUND GUILTY

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Five members of the Aroostook Potato Shippers' Association were found guilty by a jury in the United States district court yesterday before Judge Morton on an indictment accusing them of conspiracy to restrain trade in Aroostook potatoes.

The defendants are Carl C. King of Carthage, Me., president; John H. Hoxey of Mars Hills, Me., secretary; Clarence E. Powers of Maple Grove, Me.; Edward H. Boyle of New York and H. W. Sylvester of this city.

The jury went out at 12:55 and returned at 4:55. The defense will take the case to the circuit court of appeals on questions of law. The defendants contend that their association is an agricultural one and immune from persecution under the Sherman act by virtue of the provisions of the Clayton act excepting labor and agricultural organizations from the operation of the Sherman law.

Herbert Parker, counsel for the defense, maintains that the term agriculture includes those engaged in the marketing of potatoes as well as the persons who worked in the fields.

Leo Rogers, assistant attorney general, handled the prosecution. He put on a number of witnesses and offered documentary evidence in support of the claim of the government that the association had maintained a blacklist and secondary boycott which restrained trade in Aroostook potatoes.

A. G. POLLARD CO.'S SALE OF GILBRIDE STOCK

GREAT SPECIAL CLOSING OUT SALE OF THE GILBRIDE DEPARTMENT STORE

A. G. Pollard Co. have done some pretty big stunts in their mammoth establishment in past years, but none so successful as this wonderful sale started this morning until they close out nearly $50,000 worth of merchandise of the Gilbride store, and their patrons can hardly conceive of the magnitude of this stock which extends over all the departments, including the Palmer street store as well as the Merrimack street store. The stock is not a bankrupt stock, something that might be shopped, but this stock in its entirety has come over to Pollard's store, and everybody in the city knows the honorable firm of O'Donnell & Gilbride, who more than quarter of a century ago established the dry goods business and were most highly successful in their undertakings. The Gilbride establishment was the outstanding store of the O'Donnell & Gilbride store, who for many years carried on a large department store business. Both of these honorable gentlemen, while highly respected, have passed from this life, and this being the occasion, Mrs. Gilbride, the widow of her late stock and fixtures, and retiring from the business. There will be thousands of people who will attend this sale who will have occasion to remember for years the wonderful bargains received at this Gilbride closing out sale by the Pollard Co. It will in a measure take the form of a souvenir as the stock was purchased for a fraction of its cost, thereby enabling the Pollard Co. to give wonderful bargains to each and every patron. There are very few Gads, and remarks by Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, Grand Chief Ranger James P. Litchman of Lynn and orchestra selections. In the latter part of the evening the tables were removed and general dancing was started and continued all a seasons hour. The officers of the evening were as follows: Thomas F. Kelley, general manager; John F. Sullivan, dear director.

Anniversary committee: Edward J. McInerney, chairman; John W. Sharkey, secretary; James J. Gallagher, John Barrett, James A. Ready, Richard J. Townsend, Jas. Ahern, William M. Farling, Arthur Bernhart, Michael F. Huddy, Michael Red, C. Frank O'Neill, Thomas F. Kelley, Harry F. Kelley, John F. Sullivan.

Reception committee: Charles L. McGinn, John Madden, Oscar O'Neill, William H. Stafford, Patrick Riordan, David Gerow, Martin Moran, Thomas B. Smith, M. D., Denis J. Crowley, James F. Miskella, Frank H. Maroon, Denis J. Crowley, John F. Hendricks, James St. Hillare, Edwin F. Young, Daniel Hedding, Patrick J. Mahoney, J. Francis McInern, George R. O'Neill.

The present officers of the court are as follows: Thomas F. Kelley, chief ranger; John Barrett, chief ranger; John W. Sharkey, financial secretary; John F. Sullivan, recording secretary; George O'Neill, treasurer; C. Frank O'Neill, senior woodward; Arthur Bernhart, junior woodward; John Gilbride, senior woodward; Michael Red, junior woodward; James Ahern, lecturer; James A. Ready, William M. Farling and Harry F. Kelley, trustees; Dr. Thomas E. Smith, physician.

At the close of the evening Mayor O'Donnell and Congressman Rogers paid a visit as guests and were given a rousing reception. The excellent menu for the dinner was provided by Caterer R. J. Harvey.

WAR PROBLEMS TAKEN UP IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The house of commons today began consideration of serious problems resulting from the war, with the introduction by Premier Asquith of a new vote of credit for £200,000,000. Under the procedure of parliament this step permits members to discuss any subject. It was expected the debate would cover a wide range and would include, in addition to financial questions, the government of Ireland, which nationalists who have definitely taken sides against the government will bring up; the suggestion of extension of conscription to Ireland which unionists are urging but which it is understood the government opposes and the obtaining of more men from England, Scotland and Wales by closer scrutiny of men under 40 years of age who have been thus far exempted from military service.

The vote of credit is the 13th since the outbreak of the war, bringing up the total to £3,132,000,000. As today's credit vote is expected to last only until the end of the present year another request will be necessary before March, but in view of the statement made yesterday by the chancellor of the exchequer, Reginald McKenna, there probably will be no fresh public borrowing in the shape of a long term war loan at present, as the country's needs are being met by revenue from taxes and by short dated issues. The latest six per cent. exchequer bonds yielded more than £2,000,000 last week. Financial circles and particularly holders of the 4½ per cent. war loan and other low priced issues which recently have fallen to a discount, are hoping the premier will make some statement regarding the possibilities of conversion of their holding into a new loan when such an issue is considered.

IRISH DIVISION IN WAR NEEDS 30,000 MORE

DUBLIN, Oct. 11.—The Irish division at the front will need reinforcements of 30,000 men before Christmas, according to a statement made last night by Lord Wimborne, the lord lieutenant, in an address. The lord lieutenant said that before the war there were 34,922 Irish Protestants with the colors and in the reserves. Since mobilization 92,404 Catholics and 62,301 Protestants had joined the army from various parts of Ireland.

It might be a shoe store or clothing store, but in this sale it is spread over the entire store. There is hardly anything that a person might desire that cannot be purchased at this mammoth sale, and at prices so low that it is simply an investment whether you need it immediately or not. There is no busier place anywhere than this great closing of the career of the Gilbride Co., which has made the Pollard store a veritable gold mine for the bargain hunters. It is well worth while to visit this store and share in the bargains.

It might be a shoe store or clothing store, but in this sale it is spread over the entire store. There is hardly anything that a person might desire that cannot be purchased at this mammoth sale, and at prices so low that it is simply an investment whether you need it immediately or not. GERMANS WILL NOT STARVE BUT WILL EAT LESS

One thing after another has disappeared so gradually from German markets since the war began that the very existence of certain luxuries and some things that were once considered necessities, has been forgotten. It was the experience of a correspondent of the Associated Press who had been in Berlin since the war began, and for many years before, to find upon his arrival in Stockholm, the butcher shop and grocery windows filled with food stuffs he had seen scarcely a suggestion of in Germany for many months, and the restaurant bills of fare also served as pleasant reminders of ante-bellum days when the German restaurants, as much as those of any country, were prepared to supply a great variety of foods.

Germany is not starving and there is no fear that it will, but the people are doing without far more things than they realize, having become so gradually accustomed to the lack of certain commodities, such as butter, lard and olive oil, seen in the grocery shops offered a really irresistible appeal to one who has scarcely known their existence for so long. There were different cuts of pork; the correspondent had had a small portion of pork twice in three months. He found many kinds of bread, while the only kinds he recently knew were rye mixed with potatoes and wheat mixed with rye. There was real coffee, which one can obtain even in the best hotels or millionaires' homes in Germany.

The taste of French-fried potatoes was almost a new thing, for no German household has fat enough to permit indulging in this luxury. With baskets of bread on the tables in hotels and restaurants, and no bread card required as a condition precedent to partaking, it seemed almost irregular and even wasteful. An order for mackerel brought a quantity greater than a household of two persons could obtain in Berlin for a whole week. A single order of cold meats contained more than the amount allowed per capita in Germany for a week.

What, then, it may be asked, are the Germans eating? The answer is: Bread, potatoes and other vegetables, one-half pound of meat weekly when fresh and available, and fish, when fresh and smoked. The disappearance of the legumes—lentils, peas and beans—has been especially felt by the poorer people. A few beans and peas are occasionally to be had, but only a negligible quantity. Lentils, of which the Germans were very fond, disappeared in the first weeks of the war.

On this food, if it can be obtained, one cannot starve, but the poorer people, who either get nothing but potatoes and bread or who do not know how to make the most of what they do get, complain of the lack of food. The fare and that they are continually hungry. A number of women of this class, some weeks ago, made a demonstration in front of the city hall of one of the municipalities of Greater Berlin, declaring that they were hungry. "You shall not be allowed to starve (verhungern)," said the mayor, "but you will have to be hungry (hungern)."

This is undoubtedly the spirit animating all but an insignificant number of the Germans. They are satisfied that they will not starve, and they are willing to sacrifice for the fatherland implied in the mayor's words. And they are the better able to make this sacrifice because, as has been illustrated, they do not realize just how great it is.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

The other Saturday in Spalding park the Old Timers for seven innings cut a sorry figure against the South Ends, and then taking advantage of a little carelessness began to push over a few runs and kept it up so consistently that Manager Lyons' men showed signs of being really alarmed. But really there wasn't any danger. Handicapped early in the game by the loss of his regular catcher, Smith never had a chance to win, although he pitched well and batted fairly and effectively. He was further handicapped by the weird work of his third baseman and shortstop who collectively manufactured eight costly errors, although the charitable scorer didn't so record. This was certainly enough to take the heart out of any team. Nevertheless the Pawtucketville farmers kept plugging away undismayed by seeing the South Ends' score climb to nine runs, until the seventh inning, when, as aforesaid, they began to push runs over the fence. Owing to the cold (which incidentally kept the attendance down), and the approaching darkness, I left before the game ended, but afterwards learned that the final score was 19 to 7, which was much better than it promised to be until the South Ends' got careless or O'Neil let up a bit, don't know which. It was a bit of a surprise, as the South Ends were all right with the South common boys outclassing their opponents.

I hear it said that the C.M.A.C.'s are fit and willing to take on the South Ends for a Spalding park game. If so, then it is likely that the South Ends are very ready. If Constantine is going as they say he is, a match between these two teams after the world's series is over should be the proper thing.

Let us have it; and may the better team win.

Where is the difference?

Oliver is a little's classical observation about wealth accumulating and men decaying to suit the present hour might be changed to read:

"It fares the land to hastening ills a people's pleasure dominates And men decay."

There is no question as to the mischievous influences upon a people of too much wealth, and a people wholly given up to the pursuit of rapid pleasure surely has a day of reckoning somewhere ahead of it. The young man or woman who apparently lives for nothing but a "good time" is too often ready to sacrifice place, prospects and health to that end. If persisted in, the future man and woman of the future may be poor substitutes for the generations which founded and preserved this nation; and in time of stress will prove a poor defense against enemies from within or without that may rise against them. They devote themselves to pleasure, and are still so selfish and pleasure-inclined, still so devoid of the sense of duty, and so lacking in the virtues of the past which have made this nation what it is.

The city of Lowell before long will be able to count at least 12 hours of amusement, so there is no lack of opportunity for our people to enjoy themselves in vaudeville and movie houses. Twelve o'clock dances are beginning and the bowling alleys are beginning the season of great activities. Bridge-whist parties are getting together and pleasant poker parties are increasing as the nights grow long. Still in this dire October weather a great many take pleasure in automobiles, and how that pleasure is provided for by the season, we may truly follow the golfer as he swings the club, take in a football game and be thankful we are not participating in it actively. Pleasure-bent, all of us; and it is good for us if we do not over-do it and so act as though in following each individual bent we were not the chief end in life. When we control our pleasures we control ourselves and when pleasure controls us we do not control ourselves, which bright and wise remark may be likened to saying that when a man is sick he is not well, or again to quote the clown in Hamlet: "He that is not guilty of his own death cheats not his own life." See?

Ex-Supt. Moffatt

Former Superintendent of Police William B. Moffatt arrived home from the northwest on Saturday last looking hale and hearty. He had a very enjoyable visit and night had extended it but a snow storm last Wednesday had a tendency to cause him to pack up and buy a ticket for home. He says that the wheat and oats raised out there is alive with harvest from the states, and in about two weeks the farmers will have much to show. The weather in the north has been favorable and big crops are being gathered.

The "chief" remarked that he didn't work very much himself, but all the same did a little, and that altogether, and what was most important, was very much benefited in health by his visit.

Our Boys in Saskatchewan

Letters from Saskatchewan in the region about Durburn where quite a number of Lowell boys are having the time of their young lives working like bonds, calling like horses and sleeping like so many logs, say that in a few weeks they will be seeking a warmer climate. Some will come home, some will strike for California, others will try out the middle west, and I hear that a few brave ones contemplate becoming British subjects in order to take up land in Athabasca. I would advise them to wait until the war is over.

I am told that in spite of surroundings that are not particularly ideal in character most of the Lowell contingent experience a strong liking for the Saskatchewan country; but I dare say since that foot of snow Chief Moffatt told about there is a stronger liking to get away. One of the bunch in a letter says that they are a tough looking crowd, howbeit, all in fine condition. Many haven't shaved for weeks and as for half-cuts such luxuries are rare. Many first mustaches are appearing and distinctly discernible at 40 paces. Of late much discomfort has been encountered from high winds and dust storms. Many are like young hurricanes and terribly horses and drive everybody to cover. After one storm Tom Farrell was pulled out of a gopher's burrow in a state, it is said, bordering upon near-candidacy for the professional services of Dr. Bonner; while Ted Wright, who has long since been promoted to "Spikes" Wright, was found to have lost a portion of his new mustache. So you are, notwithstanding they are far from Middlesex street they are not without a little excitement on the side. Now I understand that some of the Lowell boys have taken the "Man in the Moon" to task for not putting their names in the Sun. He wishes to explain (by stating that their names have never been given him. Of course he knows about Charlie Miller and Howard Kirby, who own farms out there; and of course he knows "Spikes" Wright, "Hank" Mason, Gil Mansfield, Alkali Tom Farrell, and Ted Bonner of Tewksbury. For the omission let them

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "Kiss" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics, for you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them. If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicate "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

pul forth from the laboratories of Nature has so quickly spring into world-wide fame and prominence, as has this preparation. Wherever introduced it has taken immediate hold on the public and brought forth words of praise from people in all stations of life. It does all and more than is claimed for it, as verified by the signed statements of people living in your own home city. Possibly your next-door neighbor has proven that this notable remedy has been remarkably successful as a germ-destroyer and builder-up of wasted tissues.

For instance, the signed statement of Mr. James A. Cudworth, of No. 64 Grand street, a popular employee of the T. H. Boyle company of this city, who has hosts of friends and acquaintances, being a member of the baseball team which won the pennant in 1915-16, will be of interest. He said: "I have been troubled with my stomach for years, and also with muscular rheumatism; my food fermented in my stomach and formed gas. I could not sleep at night and got very weak and completely run down, so that I practically starved myself, as I was afraid to take anything into my stomach, as it gave me such distress. The gas pressed so on my heart that I thought I had heart trouble; was constipated all the time and took all kinds of medicine in the hope of getting relief, but liver was affected, and a blur would come up before my eyes so at times I could scarcely see anything. Since I started to take Plant Juice I can eat anything I want and digest it. I sleep well, my liver and kidneys are in good condition, and I never felt better in my life. I am certainly glad to recommend Plant Juice."

take it out of the hide of "Hank" Mason—he's to blame, believe me.

Pawtucketville Alive

With the completion of the bridge at the falls and the establishing of grades at the northern side of the approaches it will probably be very evident that all of the buildings backing up against the river banks must be removed. In less than two months the buildings now occupied by a grocery and market must be vacated, and owing to the dilapidated or insufficient, or both, on the part of the owners of the only available building on the square for business purposes, these storekeepers are in a position something like the young man in the song—they are "all dressed up but they have no place to go." One hears much criticism expressed with reference to the lack of enterprise on the part of individuals and all the keys of the situation and the hope is expressed that no dog in the manger spirit shall be manifested to prevent others with sufficient courage and enterprise to provide for West Pawtucketville's needs.

October Weather

The humidity of late August long since fled before the cool west winds of September not to return until early again this year and the dog star rides viewless in the zenith. These early days of October, so like those of September, are so freely giving us and will continue to give us a degree of physical energy which is reflected in even open to the beauties of earth and sky and in steps that traverse the city streets or country roads with a lightness likened to that of immortal youth.

Go then out into the open and see what October has already wrought. If you do you will see many advance agents of the show in evidence. Already "enchanted lights and shadows rise and fall within the charmed circle of the hills" and all is preparation for the greatest show on earth to take place shortly. It will be markedly successful if we do not have a long continued rain right away. This show is universal and free. You might see more varied effects by going to the Adirondacks, the Adirondack Park, or to the hills of Southern New Hampshire; but you will get your money's worth around about Lowell. Money—did I say? Forget it. You'll see gold-plenty of it—but it's the kind of gold you neither struggle nor die for. It's the gold resulting from the call of the great out of doors, will feel Mother Nature near to him as he answers. He will forget petty pleasures, artificial existence, wars, politics and vain ambitions in his complete sympathy with nature's heart and will return to his daily duties, purified and strengthened for whatever tasks and burdens the world may have in store.

MAYOR ORDERS POLICE IN SUNDAY HOTELS

SECOND LETTER SENT TO SEPT. WELCH OF POLICE DEPARTMENT TOUCHING LAW ENFORCEMENT

A uniformed supernumerary police officer will be stationed in each of the hotels in Lowell on Sundays, beginning next Sunday, Oct. 15, and they will be held strictly accountable for the conduct of the places at which they are stationed. This order is contained in a letter received by the superintendent of police from the mayor. The letter reads as follows:

Redmond Welch, Supt. of Police, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—In my last letter to you, I called your attention to a suggestion made by me some time ago, that, if necessary, you could place uniformed officers in the different hotels on Sundays, to observe if the liquor laws are being enforced, which suggestion, apparently, you have overlooked.

In order that there may be no further misunderstanding on your part, I hereby direct that, beginning on next Sunday, Oct. 15, at 10 o'clock a. m., and continuing every Sunday until further notice, you will have stationed in each hotel in Lowell a uniformed supernumerary police officer, whose duty it shall be to observe if liquor is served in those places to any but sober, adult, legitimate guests. The officers shall report to you any and all cases of violation of any of the laws relative to the sale of liquor, if any there be, and you, in turn, will bring the matter to the attention of the court and the licensing commission.

You will call in the officers to be thus assigned, and give them all necessary instructions, impressing upon them that they will be held strictly accountable for the conduct of the places at which they are stationed.

James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell.

LOWELL GUILD REPORT

The following report of the Lowell Guild was made at a meeting of the directors which was held late yesterday afternoon. New babies taken on, 98; breast fed, 9; home modifications, 2; station modifications, total, 25.

Co-operating agencies were, the board of health, board of charities, Lowell Social Service League, Anti-Tuberculosis League, Lowell General hospital, school department, examining children for infantile paralysis.

Relief given: grocery orders, 5; milk quarts, 54; one box men's clothing, one box women's clothing, two boxes children's clothing, three pairs women's shoes, two pairs children's shoes, one hat, three baby carriages.

Report was made of a meeting in Boston on health insurance and plans were made for the conference on charities to be held in Lowell this month.

The guild would like the private physicians to realize they may send their formulas to the milk station for modification; there are many babies in Lowell who need milk modified according to the doctor's order, when the family have not the facility for so doing.

LIST OF DAY TEACHERS
ELIGIBLE FOR EVENINGGIVEN OUT BY SCHOOL BOARD
ING

The school committee and superintendent of schools find it not a very easy matter to change over the evening school system as voted at a previous meeting. It was voted on Sept. 26 to discontinue the old system of employing "non-professional" teachers and to put "professional" teachers, preferably day school teachers, in their stead. The school committee met last evening for the purpose of straightening the matter out. The meeting was scheduled for 8 o'clock but did not materialize till about three hours later—as usual. The evening schools will open October 17. The following teachers were approved for the eligible list for the evening high school: Millie A. Severance, Mary H. Kilpatrick, Frances Masterson, Gertrude Lawrence, Elmer G. Brennan, Grace Donovan, Alice H. Bacheller, Alice Richardson, Jessie D. Salter, M. Mabel Cassidy, Loretta McMahon, Joseph G. Fyne, Alice L. Chish, Estelle Morris, elementary teacher for penmanship, unnamed; Raymond W. Sherburne, D. Murray Cummings, the above teachers to be assigned as needed, and the list to be subject to change as needs become shown by registration.

The following were named for the commercial department: Bookkeeping and penmanship, Albert D. Mack, head of department; James Stanley, Marie Sullivan and Charles A. King—special teacher.

Stenography: Orton E. Beach, Flora A. Owen, Lewis A. Purnam (special teacher), Albertina Denner (special teacher), and Mary M. Furlong (special teacher).

Typewriting: Annabel C. Lowrey and Ruth Eaton.

Manual Training: Charles E. Seede, head; Peter J. Gulesian and C. Fred Campbell.

Education: Adelaide E. Noyes (special teacher).

French: Sara LaPorte (special teacher).

Eleanor E. Rivett was appointed principal's assistant.

For Elementary Schools

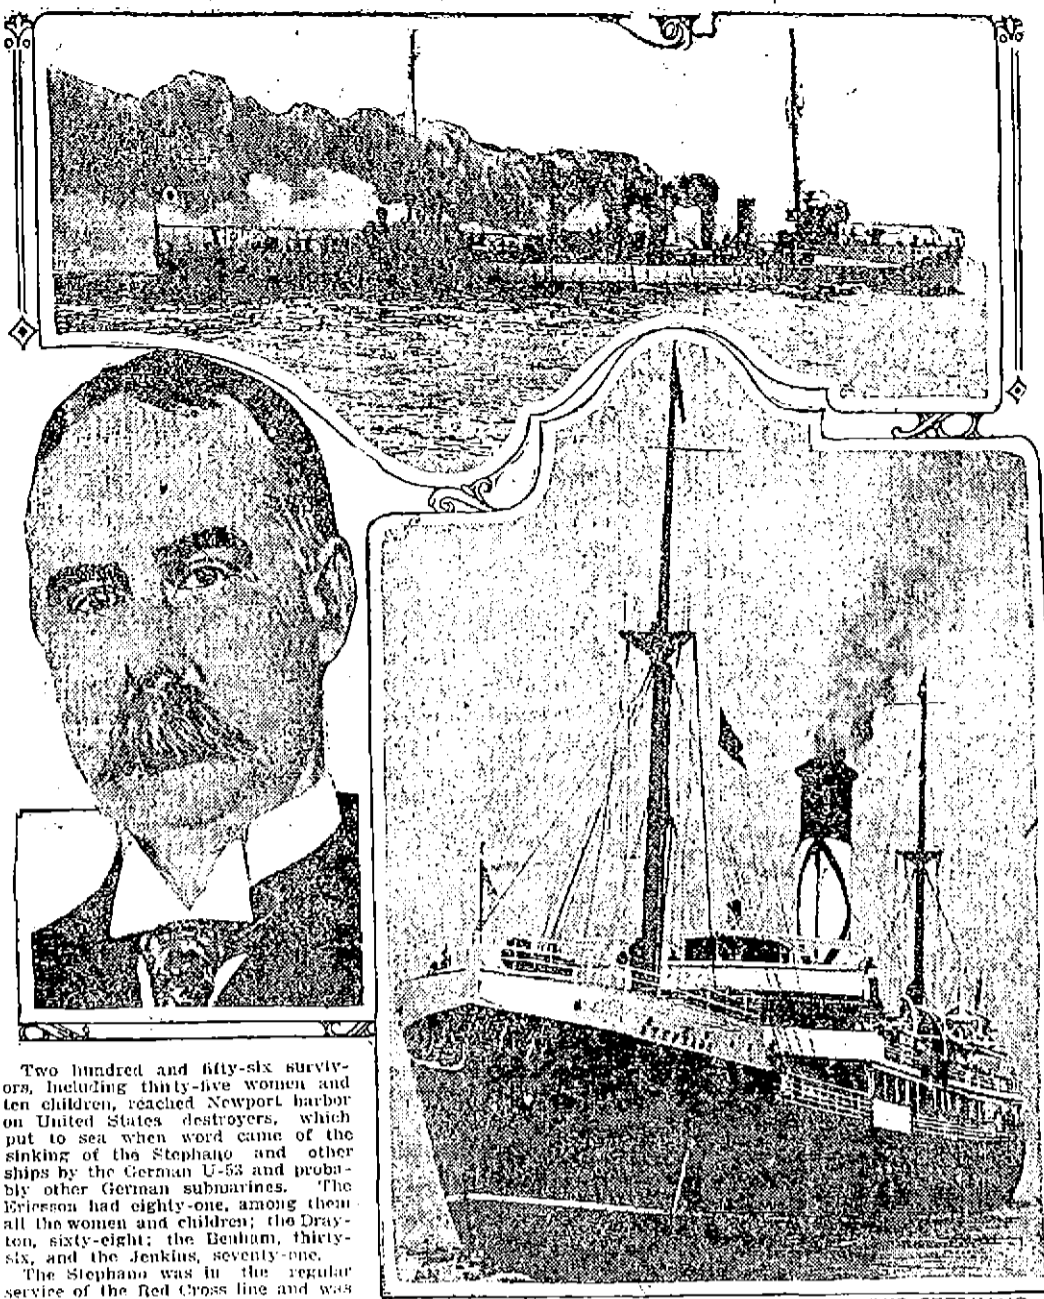

The eligible list for the elementary schools was selected as follows:

OUR DESTROYERS READY FOR RESCUE WORK
WHEN ORDERS REACHED THEM TO "GO!"

U.S.S. ERICSSON, ADMIRAL KNIGHT, U.S.N. AND THE STEPHANO

Two hundred and fifty-six survivors, including thirty-five women and ten children, reached Newport harbor on United States destroyers, which put to sea when word came of the sinking of the Stephano and other ships by the German U-53 and probably other German submarines. The Ericsson had eighty-one, among them all the women and children; the Drayton, sixty-eight; the Benham, thirty-six, and the Jenkins, seventy-one.

The Stephano was in the regular service of the Red Cross line and was bound from St. Johns, N. F., to New York.

The sale of the Stephano to the Russian government, which had planned to use her as an ice breaker, was recently announced. Her sister ship, the Florizel, had also been sold to Russia for ice work.

When wireless news came that the German U-53 and probably other German submarines were sinking vessels near the American coast the navy was ready to go to the work of rescue of passengers and crews. In Newport harbor snuggling at anchor near Goat Island, the torpedo boat station, were twenty-five of these low, bristling craft, muggily in repose but swift and savage in action, popularly known as torpedo boat destroyers and in the navy merely as "destroyers." The wireless of the scout cruiser Birmingham, flagship of Admiral Cleave, formerly commandant at the New York navy yard, can talk with Colon if it wants to so powerful are its dynamos. It was child's play for its operator to pick up the news that the West Point had been blown up by the German, then only ten miles south of Nantucket, and that the Kansan, fifty miles northeast, had turned to the rescue.

There was quick communication between the two admirals—Cleave on the Birmingham and Knight, commander of the Narragansett bay station, in his office at the War college. So swift was the electric play that followed with the orders to seventeen boats of the destroyer flotilla and their mother ship, the Melville, that it really amounted to "Get ready, go."

A Sensible CigaretteUNITY CLUB'S LICENSE REVOKED BY BOARDDECISION GIVEN OUT LAST NIGHT—PARK HOTEL CASE HEARD ON
CHARGE OF SERVING MINOR

At a meeting of the license commission last night the members decided to revoke the special club license.

The following letter was sent to the Millinery—Mrs. Mary N. Devine. Miss Esther Downing was appointed head of the women's evening school at a salary.

Miss Anna O'Day was made head of the dressmaking department at $2 per evening. Miss Roberta Bramhall was appointed head of the cooking department at $2 each evening. All others of the evening vocational school list had their pay fixed at $1.50 per evening.

John H. McGuinness was appointed head of the plumbing department at $2 per evening and Clara I. Farrington was made assistant to the principal at $1.25 per evening.

Rules Are Amended

It was voted to amend the rules of the evening schools, so that the special teachers at the evening high school shall be qualified to teach languages.

It was voted that the High, Edison, Colburn, Butler, Greenhalgo and Allen schools and two rooms in the Cabot Street school be used as evening schools.

Miss Irene Hogan was granted a second-grade certificate. Dr. W. W. Devine, school physician, was granted leave of absence for two months. Dr. James Y. Rodger was elected a temporary school physician in her place. A communication was read from John J. Mahoney, principal of the State Normal school, relative to the teaching of music in the Washington school by A. E. Brown, teacher of music at the Normal school. Permission was granted.

Adjourned.

president of the club:

Office of the License Commission, Lowell, Mass., Oct. 10, 1916. Unity Associates, John McCann, President, 108 Middle street, Lowell, Mass. Gentlemen: At a meeting of the license commission held this date, the commission voted to revoke the special class club license granted and issued to the Unity Associates, by John McCann, president, to be exercised on the premises numbered 108 Middle street, in seven rooms on the third floor.

Very respectfully,

The License Commission of the City of Lowell.

Per John J. Flaherty, Clerk.

The greater part of the session was taken up with the hearing of the charges preferred against John J. and Daniel E. Foye, proprietors of the Park hotel. It was alleged that they sold liquor to Neal Parent, a minor, on Sept. 17.

Parent testified that he entered the hotel on the day in question with a friend and although he and his friend were under age, both were served with liquor.

While the two boys were seated at a table Inspectors Conroy and Dwyer put in an appearance. They doubted the ages of the boys and upon inquiring they found that they were under age.

George H. Clark, who made the sale, testified that he thought the boy was of age.

Both John J. and Daniel E. Foye were called and testified to their instructions to their employees and to the fact that one or the other at all times was on the premises. In some part of the hotel.

The commissioners took the matter under advisement.

NEW GERMAN WAR CREDIT

BERLIN, Oct. 10, via London, Oct. 11.—A bill for a new war credit, of 12,000,000,000 marks will shortly be submitted to the reichstag. The bill has only a precautionary character but is deemed necessary because the margin between the credit granted to June, 1915, totalling 62,000,000,000 marks and the sum of 47,000,000,000 marks raised through the five war loans has become rather small. The new war loan is not expected to be floated before spring next year.

DR. JEWETT NOT LIABLE FOR FATAL ACCIDENT

Dr. Howard W. Jewett was called on by a complaint charging him with manslaughter in causing the death of Olga Koszera, aged 3 years, who was killed by being struck down by an automobile operated by the defendant in Third street on the afternoon of Sept. 27. Through his attorney, Haven G. Hill, he entered a plea of not guilty, and when the inquest finding, submitted previously to the court by Associate Justice John J. Pickman, in which no criminal negligence was found, Judge Bright ordered a finding of not guilty and discharged the defendant.

The inquest finding of the circumstances of the accident at considerable length, concludes as follows:

"I find that the automobile was operated at a reasonable rate of speed.

"I find that the operator of the automobile did not see the child upon the street, in part by reason of the obstruction to his view by the trees, and in part by reason of the child coming out suddenly into the street after the automobile had passed the trees, and was within a few feet of the place of the accident.

"I find that there was a licensed operator riding in the automobile, with the owner, and was operating the automobile at the time of the accident, and that the owner was familiar with the operation of automobiles.

"I find that on Wednesday, the 27th day of September last past, about 6:15 o'clock in the afternoon, that Olga Koszera, about three years of age, while walking on Third street, in said Lowell, a short distance north of the southerly sidewalk on said street, was struck and thrown down by an automobile that was owned and operated by Howard W. Jewett of Lowell, in said county, and that said Olga Koszera thereby sustained injuries that caused her death.

"I find that the death of said Olga Koszera was not caused by the criminal negligence of said Howard W. Jewett.

"Senior Special Justice of the Police Court of Lowell, and Acting."

Non-Support Case

The cows, the pigs, the horses and many other things figured in the case of neglect of wife preferred against Edward Methel of Dracut before Judge Enright in police court this morning. According to the wife and daughter, the defendant has not been doing the right thing, but he claims to be a much abused man and told a story in court which reads like fiction. The court after considering the testimony in the case found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay $3 a week towards the support of his wife. He appealed.

Violated Dog Law

Charles Maligeroski was charged with violating the dog law, it being alleged that he had an unlicensed dog in his possession. He was found guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed.

In the case of Frank Breen, charged with keeping an unlicensed dog, the matter was filed.

Manslaughter Case

Charles R. Chase, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Clayton P. Currier of Tyngsboro on August 17th, appeared before the court this morning but owing to the fact that the report of the inquest had not been made the case was continued until October 15.

FIVE ABANDONED SHIPS

A German submarine off the Nantuxet coast, lighted up on Sunday last, returned here today. None of them reported having found any trace of the Kingstons' boats. The sea was very rough and the weather cold during yesterday and last night.

What became of the submarine after she completed her raid on British and neutral steamers on Sunday night remained a mystery today. The movement of allied warships which are supposed to have increased the vigilance of their patrol off the coast after receiving word of the sinking of six steamers also was unknown here.

LANSING RETICENT

Declined To Discuss His Conference With Pres. Wilson On Submarine Activity

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 11.—Secretary of State Lansing, declining to discuss his conference last night with Pres. Wilson on the German submarine activities off the American coast, left here today for Washington. The secretary and the president were up early this morning and talked briefly before the former's departure.

Officials here declared there was no statement to be made regarding Mr. Lansing's visit beyond the fact that he and the president had discussed the submarine situation very fully. It was reported that on the basis of reports so far received the rules of international law were followed in the recent submarine attacks.

"The president has received many telegrams urging that some action be taken to prevent a repetition of submarine attacks near the American coast."

Mr. Wilson planned to leave Shadow Lawn this afternoon for Indianapolis, where he will speak twice tomorrow. Mrs. Wilson and Secretary Tumulty will accompany him.

The president will reach Indianapolis tomorrow morning and after lunch will review an automobile parade. In the afternoon he will address a good roads celebration at the fair grounds and later will speak at a meeting of farmers. He plans to leave Indianapolis tomorrow, arriving here Friday.

SERIOUS CHARGES MADE AGAINST NEWS SERVICE

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The morning newspapers publish in conspicuous places the official order denying to the International News Service further use of the official Press bureau and the use of cables and all other facilities for transmission of news because of alleged "garbling of messages and breach of faith." The order appears under such headings as "No British News for Hearst," "News Made in America," and "American Agency's Garbling of Messages."

The Daily Express says by way of comment:

"The Daily Express repeatedly has called attention to anti-British lies printed in American newspapers controlled by William H. Hearst. This 'news' it says, 'is supplied by the International News Service, which is entirely a Hearst organization. This news is charged, 'follows repeated breaches of faith by the Hearst organization. One of the latest instances was a message in the Chicago Examiner headed 'London in Flames' and purporting to describe a Zeppelin raid. It was never sent from London.'"

In an extended editorial the Times says:

THE STATE ISSUES

Voters in this state must not lose sight of the fact that the coming state election will have some effect in shaping the national policies of the United States for the next four years. We have our state candidates and our purely local problems but the great overshadowing interest is the contest between the candidates of the two great parties for the presidency. Recognizing this, the platforms of the two state conventions laid special emphasis on the national issues. The democrats base their claims mostly on the record of President Wilson and the democratic administration while the republicans support a candidate whose only plea for election lies in criticism of the present administration. The state elections in Massachusetts are being forecasted and watched by democrats and republicans all over the country, and it behooves the voters of this state to recognize the part that it will play in the selection of president.

Democrats especially should organize their forces so as to give their representatives for state offices the support to which they are entitled. The main issue is the national policy, and the main plea for support is the record of President Wilson. The very first plank of the democratic platform pledges the support of the party to the administration and endorses the national platform which states that the issue in whether we shall have peace and prosperity during the next four years or whether we shall run the risk of war. After endorsing the national administration, the platform explicitly states: "Nothing but the most extreme partisanship can blind any intelligent and conscientious citizen to the fact that in the last three years and a half the democratic congress and administration have promoted the welfare of every man, woman and child in the United States."

After pledging full support to the administration the platform deals in detail with the state issues. It makes the charge that the last republican legislature violated its pledges to the progressives to enact progressive legislation; that it has been the worst in our history, "the most reactionary and the most subservient to outside influence." The chairman of the progressive state committee has made like charges, pointing out that lobbyists controlled the house and the senate. The democratic platform demands the enactment of an effective lobby law so that all who would influence legislation will be forced out into the open. This is a reflection of President Wilson's effective fight against the lobby at Washington.

The platform is in favor of a constitutional convention, first advocated by the democrats and now advocated by all parties. It is for the initiative and referendum. It is in favor of progressive labor laws, making the strong statement that "the wage-earners of Massachusetts owe their labor laws to the democratic party alone." When the republican party has advocated any privileges for labor it has been only after public opinion has sanctioned some progressive stand by the democratic party.

Another state issue prominently mentioned by the democratic party is the need for election reform. Workmen's compensation is approved, with the proviso that amendments be passed and that injured employees be allowed to choose their own physicians. It is a well known fact that the operation of the present law has wrought much unconscious injustice. The platform declares for the navigation of our waterways "to the end that freight rates may be reduced and the cost of living lowered to our inland cities." This will please those of this section who have labored so long for the navigation of the Merrimack. Many other splendid recommendations are made on timely subjects such as old age pensions, farm legislation, popular education, a budget system, taxation, immigration and the railroads.

All in all, the platform is a collection of state issues, far preferable to the empty and vague generalities of the republican party which deals in destructive criticism as its stock in trade.

COLUMBUS DAY

Columbus day, our latest state holiday, has broadened its appeal yearly since its adoption and has come to be regarded as a great American anniversary. Coming at a season suited to outdoor display and having aspects that call for picturesque celebration, it affords a splendid opportunity for inspiring observance. During the past few years parades with unusually attractive features have been held in Boston and other cities of Massachusetts, and this year Lowell is to have the star observance, which, by the way, promises to be the most notable event of its kind since the adoption of the holiday.

There is something especially gratifying in the readiness with which so many groups of Americans have responded to the call of the parade committee, and it is fitting that this should be so. We have holidays more intimately connected with the great events in our development of a nation, but we have no holiday that is more universally American. The wonder is not that Americans irrespective of class or creed should turn out to honor a world character and the pioneer of all who have come to our shores, but that recognition should have been so long in coming. Now that it has come, the celebration should be so widespread and so general that there can be no doubt of the hold which the life and character of the great Columbus has on the hearts and the imagination of the American people.

It may seem a long time from the coming of the Mayflower to the coming of the modern immigrant from Southern Europe, but it was just as long from the coming of the Santa Maria to that of the Puritans. Of the actual life of the navigator who was so far ahead of his time there is little need to speak. It has become a nursery tale, and all of its main incidents tell a story that is not lost on the American child of today. It is a story of devotion to principle, forbearance under persecution, fortitude against misfortune, perseverance in the face of overpowering opposition and steadfastness of purpose which did not fail in fair days or foul. Many a voyager from many a race has come since the great discoverer who added a new continent to the globe, but the honor of being the greatest man of his era and the greatest navigator of all time rests like a halo everlastingly on the name of Christopher Columbus.

PARAGONS OF PERFECTION

A very courageous paper in a nearby city has an editorial laugh at the claims put forward by aspirants to office at the recent primaries. It takes the list of the defeated ones and wonders that so many superior beings should have been left high and dry when the votes were counted. Wonder if the candidates who did not land in this city can read their campaign cards in the privacy of their chamber without blushing? Most of them, undoubtedly, would be good sports and would see the humor in the situation. Here are a few of the claims put forward by the ward veterans of the city referred to: One politician admitted that he is "a good example of the successful young man in politics" having "won his spurs by hard consistent effort, backed by ability and a pleasing personality"; another "has displayed a high order of ability and a conscientious desire to benefit the community"; a third acknowledges that he is "one of the most prominent and popular members of the local profession"; another "stands high in the re-

Child Saved From Worms

A mother of six children writes: "My baby was very sick and a friend of mine suggested trying Dr. True's Worm Expeller. Now I have six children and never without Dr. True's Expeller. In my home Mrs. B. N. Cole, West Newbury, Mass., writes: 'Signs of worms are: Dandruff, stomach, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, offensive breath, loss of appetite and full belly with occasional griping and pains about the navel, face of leaden hue, eyes heavy and full, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, stool dry, cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points sticking out on tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever. If your child shows any of these symptoms, start giving Dr. True's Expeller at once. At all dealers—35¢ per bottle. Advice free. Write to me.' Auburn, Maine. Dr. True."

gard of the legal fraternity, not so much because of his genial personality as because of his fairness, uniform courtesy, impartial judgment and enlightened understanding of the law"; last, but not least, is the fellow who said "I should be elected to the state legislature because I have for a long period of years successfully conducted a cat and dog hospital." To be sure all of these had from another city—but are there any such amongst us?

ACROBATIC CRITICS

Some of the spellbinders who now support Mr. Hughes are wonderful acrobats. Their political jumps and somersaults for the past few years are such as to take away the breath of the beholder. There is Roosevelt himself the great circus tumbler, for instance; then there is Gifford Pinchot, and again there is Mr. Raymond Robbins, who has strong views on the international situation and on the Mexican situation in particular. But, here is what Mr. Robbins said of President Wilson in October, 1914:

"The most skillful, the most courageous, the greatest statesmanship of the last two years in this world was the manner in which Wilson averted war between this country and Mexico. The reason that the blood of American men—sons of our homes—is not today rending the hot sands of Mexico, to serve the interests of a few corporation magnates and speculators, is due more to the courage and constancy of Woodrow Wilson than to any other factor in American life. Wilson, to serve the interests of a few magnates, would commit myself poor and small, indeed, if I were not able to recognize Wilson, courage and public service, even if it had been shown by the chief of an opposing party."

It must be a little embarrassing for Mr. Robbins to see those words in print at the present time. President Wilson has not changed his Mexican policy, has Mr. Robbins changed? Rather.

THE GREAT PAINTER

Not every fair lady can wear vivid colors becomingly. Some of the fairest avoid the brighter shades and affect dull garments. Not every painter can use many colors. The greatest have painted in low tones and used a brilliant splash or two where it was necessary to arrest the attention. Rembrandt almost kept to black and white. Whistler was fond of grays and Raphael bloomed out only in the inimitable blues of the old masters. True, Fra Angelico painted in primary colors with the delight of a child with a box of crayons and Turner's paintings are like dissolved rainbows. But, how the colors of the fair ladies and the colors of the gayest canvases fade before a wood vista in October! The Great Painter is abroad, and all the colors that human eyes have delighted in are thrown broadcast. Purple and crimson and green and gold pile up in leafy places, and there is absolute harmony. The maple and the chestnut and the elm and the oak wear their fairy garments, more vivid than the fints of Arabia and Ind. But all is symphonic and part of the Great Painter's plan. October is a month that makes all painters humble—whether they paint in pigment or in words.

ENFORCE THE LAW

It is to be hoped that out of this controversy between Mayor O'Donnell and Superintendent Welch will come a more rigid enforcement of the law in this city and a permanent improvement. Without harmony there can be no discipline and without discipline there can be no results in law enforcement. It ought to be possible for the police department to keep drunks off the streets and to compel saloon keepers to keep their business up to higher standards. This ought to be done and the public will sooner or later insist that it must be done. Mayor O'Donnell has taken a step in the right direction by ordering a uniformed police officer in every hotel on Sundays, and the work for permanent improvement should not stop here. Let us have an end to the epistolary exchanges and a beginning of genuine law enforcement.

EFFECT OF RAIDS

The sensational submarine raids of last Sunday off the American coast made a profound sensation in this country and nowhere more so than in the stock market. In New York speculation went wild and all day Monday more stock changed hands and there were greater fluctuations than since the panic of 1907. More than 300,000 shares were dealt in during the first hour, it being evident that serious complications were anticipated. The sensitive stock market is quick to reflect any significant change in international relations, and the speedy return of the exchanges to normal would indicate that business does not expect any serious international trouble. Money panics are not to be looked for under present conditions, but Monday's scare was as near a panic as the stock market cares to experience.

DUMMER STREET EXTENSION

The most ardent advocate of the Dummer street extension cannot claim that it was necessary. With two adequate streets running nearby from Market to Merrimack street there is accommodation for all. Yet the proposal is for a parkway and two streets in the cleared area. When we build streets for show that will be all right, but just now we have too many real needs to indulge in costly and needless display. Since what has

ASSERTS O'BRIEN

Gives High Praise to the Great Master Medicine—
O'Brien Says: "I Now Recommend Tanlac Because It Has Helped Me So Much After Suffering Ten Years."

Have you ever watched the employees of a large factory starting their work in the morning? You have probably noticed how some men pick up their tools and resume their work of the day before in a manner that is full of life and ginger, as if they really had a good refreshing night's sleep and were at peace with the world and themselves. And then you have seen the others come in yawning, stretching, eyes half closed, the body apparently almost awake, but the mind partly asleep. And yet these sleepy ones, no doubt, retired early, they were not out on a spree the night before. They are just simply tired and they don't know why.

A disordered stomach will put a person "on the outs" with himself for no apparent reason. One becomes sluggish and entirely inefficient for the serious things expected of him. Tanlac, the Master Medicine, has helped hundreds of local residents by providing an up-building tonic for the digestive system.

SEEN AND HEARD

Just why the authorities pass regulations compelling the jitney men to limit the number of passengers to the seating capacity of their vehicles, while the street railway company is allowed to pack its cars to suffocation is something many of us do not understand.

Sharks Attack Schooner

While fishing off Chatham last Saturday, the Boston fishing schooner Muriel was attacked by a school of more than 100 man-eating sharks which not only destroyed between 40 and 50 trawls, but devoured the fish they contained. The crew, in the small boats at the time, regained the Muriel with difficulty, and were successful in killing off nearly 50 of the monsters. Some of the latter were brought in yesterday on the vessel's deck and were placed on exhibition at the fish pier. The schooner brought in about 15,000 pounds of fresh groundfish and as much more was in the trawls which the sharks destroyed.

Grateful for Train Wreck
"We were bounding along," said a recent traveler on a local South Afrifollowing interesting story September 25th at George F. Donner's Drug Store, Holyoke. In full Mr. O'Brien said:

"I have suffered from catarrh of the head and stomach for 10 years. Every morning when I would wake up I was all filled up. I never took anything that helped me until I saw Tanlac advertised and started to take it. I have now taken two bottles and I am feeling much better. The catarrh is going away quickly and I now feel better every morning. I am now glad to recommend Tanlac because it helped me so much."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is the most rational weapon against catarrh as it soon brings about an astonishing improvement in your spirits and general condition. Tanlac is now being introduced in Lowell, at The Lowell Pharmacy, Roulbier and Delle, Prop., 632 North Main street, where Mr. Brooks, the Tanlac Man, is daily explaining the merits of this wonderful preparation. Tanlac can also be obtained in all neighboring cities and towns at the Tanlac stores.

been done cannot be undone let us make the best of a bad mess by utilizing the space for a civic building or putting the street through as cheaply as possible. The Dummer street extension is one of the gravest mistakes of years—and it will seem for more so when we come to foot the bills.

Then Brought Dugs Back

An American tourist had been boasting again in the village inn. "Talking of scarecrows," he said, "I have a story to tell you. I once put one up and it frightened the crows so much that not one entered the field again for over a year."

He looked triumphantly around his audience. Surely that had settled those country folks.

But he was to feel his match. "That's nothing," retorted one farmer. "A neighbor of mine once put a scarecrow into his potato patch, and it terrified the birds so much that our rascal of a crow, who had stolen some potatoes, came next day and put them back."

But the Odor Remains

A picnic party of city girls were strolling along a country lane when suddenly they all stopped with gasps and cries of delight.

Inside a cottage garden were growing several clumps of a strange but lovely flower, with long, graceful stalks, each of which bore a globe of palest green that shaded into gray and purple.

"Oh, how sweet! Magnificent!" "Weirdly striking!" were some of the gushing comments which fell from their lips.

"Do tell us," one girl asked the man working in the garden, "what those strange but beautiful things are?" "Them?" asked the native in contemptuous tones. "Them's onions gone to seed!"

Happened in Maine

Martin Conway, the U. S. Cartridge company's very efficient chief of police, was down in Maine a week ago and he allows that one would have to go some to beat the state of Maine folks for hospitality. Everybody who knows Martin knows he has a penchant for asking questions for that is part of a good detective's business and they do tell that he talked with pretty nearly everybody he met, asking questions pertinent and otherwise. In the course of a conversation with a middle-aged farmer, the latter, in reply to one of Martin's questions, said his father—90 years old was still on the farm where he was born.

"Ninety years old, eh?" queried Martin.

"Yes, pop is close to 90," came the reply.

"Is his health good?"

"Taint much now. He's been complainin' for a few months back."

"What's the matter with him?"

"I dunno; sometimes I think farmin' don't agree with him."

This little dialogue took place near New Portland, Me., and when the apparently earnest farmer said he didn't think farmin' agreed with his ninety-year-old father, Martin said "good night" so long that a constable in Old Town thought the Indians had broken loose over on the island.

What Is a Pezomist?

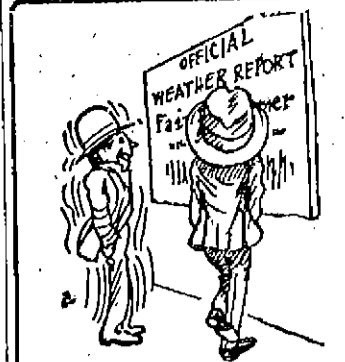

A pezomist is a son of the man who doesn't believe there was any such thing as electricity.

He is an offspring of the man who was sure that the horseless carriage would never come, and a nephew of the man who was willing to bet money that men would never fly.

A pezomist is a direct descendant of the man who was sure that wireless telegraphy was a fool's dream, and a submarine merely the creation of a fiction writer's brain.

The pezomist's ancestry soaked at the telephone, the type-setting machine, the story-building acrobatics and every forward step the optimists have taken for the betterment of human life.

If the pezomists of the past had been right, men would still be living in caves and trying to get their meals with clubs and flint arrows. And evidently they died without publicly confessing their mistakes, for their pessimistic children continue to prophesy

Wasted Time
It was nine o'clock last evening when some callers came to call.

I was sitting in a corner with my back against the wall. With a heap of clover lying in my lap, and taking pains to keep my chin up, I was listening to a contriving clover chains. With my youngest crouched beside me with her glad blue eyes alight, choosing long-stemmed blossoms, letting me which way was right. And the hour was filled with laughter. "Was a most engrossing game. Till the doorbell clanged its summons and until our callers came."

Jink said, standing there above me with a pitying sort of smile, "I can't see, not for a minute, how you can find it worth while To waste your time in the corner with such foolish things. Don't catch me at any nonsense; when one of my children brings Playroom stuff to me to fool with, that's the time they go to bed: None of that in mine!" I pondered on the words my caller said. And I thought of the young Jinxes back at home there fast asleep. And my heart was filled with pity for each lonesome little heap.

"Wasted time," my caller called for; wasted time to bring such joy To the heart of a wee girlie, or a little boy. That through all the years of living they will smile when they recall How they daddied in the corner with his back against the wall. Played at games to make them happy, how their mother loved at night To cut rows of finger dollies for a little girl's delight.

Humph! I went on with my weaving, adding new snaks on to links. Wasted time, you say? I wasn't wasting any time on Jink.

Skin trouble costs many a man his job

No matter how efficient a man may be, if he has an ugly skin-eruption, there are positions in which he cannot be tolerated. He may know that it is not in the least contagious, but other people are afraid, they avoid him, and he must make way for a man with a clear, healthy skin. Why run this risk, when

PITTS' SERVICE CAR ALWAYS ON THE JOB

EVER READY FOR A QUICK RESCUE—NOTES OF THE LOCAL DEALERS

The Pitts Auto Supply is making an interesting announcement on this page today. As they are the agents for the "Universal" car they have obtained a lot of these for these Fords. A point of advisability is offered to many motorists who will ride many more miles before the motor will close. This supply house does not stretch the point when they say that the Pitts Service car is always ready for a quick rescue. Regardless of hours or weather conditions this car is on the job. It is a sort of first aid to the injured, and it may be well to remember this when something goes wrong.

Tomorrow, Columbus Day, is the last holiday of the summer season. Although it is a little cool, the motorists may call it a most wonderful time of the year for driving, and no doubt there will be few who do not take advantage of this day for a spin out through the country. Just now, before the frosts have killed all the leaves, the foliage has its rare tints and lustre. The combinations of nature's colors make an attraction for the lovers of beauty and art, and it is art in an alluring array.

AUTOMOBILE QUESTION BOX

NOTE—In these columns every Wednesday we will give expert advice to motorists on how to repair and operate their machines. Automobile readers of THE SUN are invited to send in questions or problems they may wish to have answered. Such questions will receive attention in due time. Address all communications: Automobile Editor, Sun, Lowell, Mass. Communications must bear the signature and address of the sender, though not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

About three weeks ago I had differential filled with grease, and ever since I notice that quite an amount of it leaks out through the right-hand brake of a 1916 Overland. How may I locate trouble and remedy?

H. G. M.
Ans. Remove wheel and see if felt washer is in place in axle tube. If it is missing or badly worn one must be provided or the amount of grease in differential must be reduced. A heavier grease than the one you are using would also help to reduce the trouble.

The sales of the Lowell Motor Mart for the past week are: J. C. Abbott, Grandville, a Chandler roadster and a Dodge Bros. roadster; D. G. Allard, a Dodge Bros. touring car; G. D. Hawley, Dodge Bros. touring car.

During the last year or two automobile engineering has been rapidly approaching a limit beyond which advancement is going to be very gradual. There will, of course, be many innovations, and changes offered the public from time to time, because the motor car represents a relatively new industry and it will be the practice of many manufacturers to constantly change their product in order to lend it variety, style, etc., for the purpose of making sales.

Buyers now generally recognize that factory responsibility, dealer integrity and the facilities and inclination of both factory and dealer to give reliable service after the sale are vital factors in the purchase of an automobile.

I notice that quite an amount of it leaks out through the right-hand brake of a 1916 Overland. How may I locate trouble and remedy?

H. G. M.
Ans. Remove wheel and see if felt washer is in place in axle tube. If it is missing or badly worn one must be provided or the amount of grease in differential must be reduced. A heavier grease than the one you are using would also help to reduce the trouble.

The lights in my car are not as strong and bright as formerly. I can find no cause for this except that in running the motor, thereby charging the batteries, all the cells in the battery which does not gas at all and which indicates to me that this cell needs replenishing. Do you think this is the cause of the lights being dim, and if so, how can I restore it to a healthy condition? An answer through the motoring page will oblige.

T. M. H.

Ans. Although you do not state so, we assume that you keep the defective cell filled with water. Otherwise your trouble would be due to a leaky cell. It is possible that the plates are short circuited. This would reduce the current and make the lights burn dimly. We would be advised to have the battery inspected and repaired without delay.

Please answer the following in your motoring column:

I have a 1916 Ford car, also an automobile equipped with generator and battery, and desire to equip my Ford with a storage battery for lighting. Could I charge the battery for the Ford from the other car? Also, could these batteries be changed from one car to the other? I will appreciate your advice and information.

W. L. S.

Ans. The battery on the Ford car could be charged by the other system, but it would not be economical to run the engine just to charge the other battery. You would best proceed as follows: Get a battery of the same capacity as the one with your starting and lighting system. A duplicate of it in power, but with the light of the same space on the car. Use one of these batteries on the charging system until it is charged and then exchange with the one on the Ford car. This will be found to work out very successfully in practice.

I find that if a Ford car is jacked up behind and thrown in low gear the left rear wheel only will spin, and likewise in reverse the right wheel will remain stationary, while the left will spin. Will this tell me that from these facts some contend that the left wheel only does all the pulling in low and reverse gear. Please let me know if this is the case.

J. S. W.
I wish to know this for the reason that if this is true it will be best in your mind to give the left wheel the hardest track when pulling in low gear.

Ans. All differentials are designed to deliver equal power to both wheels. When your wheels are jacked up on a slight drag on one wheel, such as brake dragging or a tight bearing, would cause one wheel to run more slowly. Motorists must consider this. If the high speed is used it drives the differential with so much more force that it overcomes the resistance and both wheels run forward. You may prove this by holding one wheel while the gears are in high speed. You will find the free wheel will run faster. This is not an essential feature of the differential, as it is designed to drive both wheels at the same speed while going straight and at different speeds while turning corners.

Would thank you for answering this in your column next week:

I have a 1915 Ford runabout. On opening the engine one of the explosions is much louder and heard distinctly above the others. This is more noticeable after the car has gained full running speed. The car is in good condition, giving some cylinders a defective mixture. Spark gaps may not be set right in plugs. By going over these points carefully you should be able to remove the trouble.

H. F. B.

Now that winter is coming on I should like to know what is the best preparation on the market to prevent the water from freezing in the radiator. Are any of them injurious? If so, how can I tell which ones are injurious and which ones are not?

R. M. G.

Ans. There may be anti-freezing mixtures for sale which are not injurious, but most of them contain calcium chloride, which eats away the solder holding the radiator together. Glycerine is used by some, but it rots the rubber tubing. The only thing we recommend is to keep the radiator in the proportion of one to three. Measure the water in the cooling system and you will know how much alcohol to put in. Be careful of leaks, never fill the radiator quite full, and add alcohol occasionally, as it evaporates readily and must be replaced.

Please let me know how to stop a leak in a radiator. I keep dripping all the time and I have to refill it two or three times a day. A. C. M.

Ans. You fail to state what type of radiator you have. A cellular radiator may be repaired temporarily by plugging both ends of the tube with a piece of cork. If the leak is at the surface where it can be reached a drop of solder will do it. If necessary, a tubular radiator is hard to stop leaking, but your supply dealer has a preparation which is to be dissolved in the hot water in the radiator. As it leaks out it gums up the leak. Some use a teaspoonful of the seed meal, but it is apt to cause the radiator to clog. As soon as possible the radiator should be properly repaired by a competent workman.

The breathing tube on my engine lets out a lot of gas, but doesn't seem to take any in. Is this anything serious? Please tell me what a breathing tube is for.

R. M. L.

Ans. The breathing tube is to let the air into the crank case and let it out again as the pistons move up and down, so as to avoid back-pressure against them. If there is much air coming out it shows that the gas is leaking by the pistons. On an old motor this is the result of wear. On a new motor the piston rings are probably gummed. Test motor for loss of compression. Piston rings may be loosened by pouring in half a teaspoonful of kerosene and cranking the engine. A worn cylinder can only be restored by grinding. This also, will require a larger sized piston and rings.

I have been advised to paint my motor with some one of the white paints on the market for that purpose. Please let me know if it will prolong the life of the tire, as some claim.

F. T. R.

Ans. The paint you mention serves merely to cover the outside of the tire and to improve its appearance, but can have no effect on the interior. It does not even close up the small holes in the tread. Its main purpose is to add to the appearance of the car.

I find it difficult to start the motor these cold mornings. Can you give me some cold weather hints that will help get the engine started? I would appreciate them very much as I have no starter on my car and do not enjoy spinning it.

G. C. R.

Ans. The following hints may help you. It is raining is not sufficient, warm carburetor by wrapping hot cloths, wrapping out in hot water, around the carburetor and pipes. Priming the cylinders through the relief valves is another method. You will probably use gasoline, but ether is better, as it evaporates at all temperatures and gives a very snappy explosion. If everything else fails and sufficient hot water can be had, fill the cooling system with hot water. This never fails.

HELPFUL HINTS

If at any time you open the switch and the engine continues to run it is due to glowing carbon or overheated engine. Close throttle, put gear in low speed, apply foot-brake, gently, and let it clutch suddenly. This will stall motor.

If wire terminals break off and become lost make an eye as follows: Remove enough insulation so that the bare wire may be turned around the sharpened end of a pencil, and the end wrapped around the wire itself. This alone makes a good terminal, but it will be much improved if it can be dipped in melted solder.

Do not neglect to take a few spark plug cores with you on your trip. The metal parts of a spark plug will last almost indefinitely, but the cores must be changed in time, and that usually means buying a new spark plug. As the cores can be bought for a fraction of the cost of a new plug, it means economy to carry a few with you. Also carry a few extra gaskets.

Spark plug porcelain cracks from a variety of causes. A chance blow from a wrench while tightening; pulling too hard on the ignition wire, dropping the plug; or a defect in manufacturing, as a frequent cause. But the usual trouble is from overtightening. Tighten the plug with a wrench until it is snug, and then turn it hard into the cylinder. As the plug heats up and expands it cracks the porcelain.

Do not neglect to inspect valve clearance at least once a month. If valve lifters are out of adjustment power is being lost without its being noticed. Wait till motor cools and adjust them to one sixteenth of an inch. If they are too wide open they become noisy; if too far closed the motor loses compression. In both cases there is a serious loss of power.

IMPORTANT ENGINE FACTORS

"At the present day and time, it's the little things that really count in the design of an automobile motor," declares an authority in engineering. "Up until the past few years it looked as though the only way to increase the power of an automobile engine was to increase the bore of the cylinder which, of course, necessitated a larger cylinder casting, resulting in a motor that was clumsy and heavy and extravagant in its use of gasoline and oil."

"The tendency at the present time, and it is undoubtedly correct, is to increase the power of the automobile engine by increasing the speed rather than the size."

"There are many things in design that affect the speed at which a motor may run; in the first place, the reciprocating parts must be very light and carefully balanced, the crankshaft must be designed in such a manner that it will be possible to revolve it at high speed without excessive vibration, and while the motor bearings must be free from friction as nearly as possible, at the same time they must be strong enough to stand the most severe strains."

"Two of the most important factors that determine the speed at which a motor may be operated are getting the gasoline vapor into the cylinder and the burned gases out of the cylinder as quickly as possible."

ARMENIAN TAG DAY

Local Committee Wants Workers to Aid in Good Work Next Saturday

The general committee in aid of the Syrian and Armenian relief fund has issued a call for 100 volunteer collectors or more to sell tags in this city next Saturday. Women are needed more especially and it is hoped that some of the zealous young ladies who worked for other tag days will respond to the call.

There was a meeting of the general committee for tag day yesterday at city hall. Rev. A. C. Perrin was chosen permanent chairman and other members of the committee named were Rev. H. A. Barber, Alex. Williams, A. Bahagian representing the Armenians and George Eohney, representing the Syrians. Twenty young women will form the Armenian corps of workers and the Syrian committee will have from 25 to 40. At least a hundred more are needed.

Alex. Williams offered the rooms of the Boy Scouts in Shattuck street as headquarters for tag day and the committee voted to accept. It was suggested that those wishing to serve as collectors should call at headquarters and notify Mr. Williams or some other member of the committee. Saturday will be observed as relief day for the Syrians and Armenians throughout the country and it is to be hoped that Lowell's contribution will be worth while. The movement followed a proclamation by President Wilson and a resolution passed by congress.

BOMB WRECKS CATHOLIC CHURCH AT FRAMINGHAM

FRAMINGHAM, Oct. 11.—An attempt was made last night to destroy St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church by a bomb. One side of the church was blown in by the explosion, which occurred at 9:15, while the teachers in the Sunday school and the church curate, the Rev. Thomas G. Garrahan, were holding a meeting in the vestry.

The shock was tremendous. Every window in the building was shattered and the edifice rocked under the force of the blast. A gaping hole five feet square was torn in the wall. The stations of the cross were torn from the walls, religious paintings thrown down and the books in the library tossed about.

Anarchists, a group of whom have been active in this vicinity recently, are suspected.

At midnight it was thought that at least one of the suspects was in an automobile racing toward Boston, and the police of all cities and towns along the route have been asked to keep a lookout.

the men. He was short, she said, red faced and smooth shaven.

Had Received No Threats

The Rev. John F. Heffernan, pastor of the church, was at a loss last night to account for the explosion. "From what the police tell me," he said to a reporter, "the church was blown up by a dynamite bomb. There has been no threat against me or the church. There were 11 in the Sunday school teachers in the church at the time, but all escaped."

The police are inclined to believe the placing of the bomb was the work of a party of anarchists who have been meeting in Cohasset, a few miles from here. It is suspected that they are the same men who placed a bomb under the steps of St. Mary's church in Milford a few weeks ago.

The bomb at St. Mary's was discovered before it exploded.

Thrown Into Basement

The force of the explosion last night threw the bricks and boards from the side of the church into the basement. Every window in the church was broken and the damage to the edifice is considerable.

Valuable religious pictures and the church library are buried on the basement floor under a pile of bricks and boards.

The full extent of the damage cannot be learned until the state police finish their inspection of the building.

REMEDY FOR NEURASTHENIA

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are oversensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills.

Two useful books, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Sunday School Teachers Escape

The Sunday school teachers were meeting in the vestry. In the rear of the altar, they escaped the debris, but the vestry windows were shattered and the glass hurled in over the floor.

The Rev. Thomas G. Garrahan, curate of the church, who was conducting the meeting, said after the explosion: "We are very fortunate that the Sunday school teachers' meeting was not held in the basement, as was originally planned."

"If such had been the case someone surely would have been severely injured if not killed. We are very fortunate that we changed our plans."

Children Had Just Gone

There were about a dozen young women at that meeting. Miss Marie Callahan, a teacher, said to a reporter: "We were all sitting in the vestry when it seemed as if something was thrown up against the side of the church. The whole building rocked like a boat at sea."

"Just a few minutes before the explosion came a number of children left the vestry and passed out by that door under which the bomb was placed. If they had delayed a few minutes longer they might have been killed."

A stone from the foundation of the church was hurled into the home of Earl Bitterman across the street. It shattered a front window in his home and fell in on the parlor floor. No one was in the room at the time.

POLICE FIND CLUE

FRAMINGHAM, Oct. 11.—The finding of a note pinned with a knife to a tree near St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church early today gave the police a slight clue from which they hoped to be able to trace the person responsible for the damaging of the structure by an explosion last night. The authorities declined to make public the contents of the note.

A suspect arrested at Brookline last night was released today.

Walter L. Wedgitt, a bomb expert of the state police after examining the building said that the explosion undoubtedly was caused by dynamite. He was of the opinion that six or seven sticks of the explosive were set off by means of a rope fuse and percussion caps.

EUROPEAN WAR NEWS

SUCCESSES FOR BRITISH

British troops are now within two miles of Seres, one of the most important towns in the strip of Greek Macedonia occupied by the Bulgarians. The capture of two more towns east of the Struma river also is announced in an official British statement from Saloniki.

The sustained character of the offensive on the part of the British troops which forced a passage of the Struma indicates that after several momentary efforts, serious operations have been undertaken on the Macedonian front. Not only in the Struma region but in the territory south and southeast of Monastir, where the Serbians have been making important progress recently, heavy fighting is under way.

Rumanian Hard Pressed

It is probable these operations are being undertaken partly to relieve the pressure on the Rumanians, who are being hard pressed by the Bulgarians and their Austrian and German allies. In Transylvania the troops of the Rumanians are forcing back the Rumanian border at some points. Vienna reports the repulse of Rumanian attacks in Transylvania and says the defeated Rumanians are being pursued into the mountains.

Russian Attacks Repulsed

The repulse of Russian attacks in Galicia is reported by the Austrian war office. German troops have captured the village of Herbutov, south-east of Lemberg.

Huge Credit Votes

The British and German governments are preparing to obtain further huge credit votes for carrying on the war. A vote of 300,000,000 pounds asked of the house of commons will bring up the total expenditure sanctioned since the beginning of the war to 7,132,000,000 pounds. In the Reichstag a bill for a credit of 12,000,000,000 marks will be presented soon, which will increase Germany's total to 61,000,000,000 marks.

REPORT GERMANY DRAFTING

MEN BETWEEN 35 AND 43 YEARS OLD

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent quotes from Tageblatt of Berlin to the effect that examination of the military classes of 1870 to 1875, (men between the ages of 56 and 63) will take place this month in the province of Brandenburg in which Berlin is situated. The dispatch says the order refers to all those who previously have been declared unfit for military service.

BRITISH CAPTURE TWO MORE TOWNS IN GREEK

MACEDONIA

SALONIKI, Oct. 11, via London, 11.38 a. m.—British troops yesterday occupied two more towns to the east of the river Struma, in Greek Macedonia, it was announced in an official British statement issued at the British headquarters. They were Papalova and Protentik, the latter town seven miles south of Domir-Illsar. British mounted troops have reached a point two miles south of Seres.

GERMAN ARTILLERY ACTIVE ON FRONT IN NORTHERN FRANCE

LONDON, Oct. 11.—"The enemy artillery," says the British official statement issued today, "was somewhat active during the night on the greater part of the battle front in northern France."

"North of Neuville St. Vaast the enemy blew a camouflaged early this morning without inflicting casualties. A successful minor enterprise was made by our troops against the enemy's trenches south of Houthuys."

FRENCH TROOPS GAIN MORE GROUND SOUTH OF RIVER

SOMME

PARIS, Oct. 11, 12.01 p. m.—On the course of last night French troops gained more ground south of the River Somme, it was announced today, at the French war department.

The Germans attacked heavily at Schoenhausen, in the Vosges, after violent shelling, the statement adds, and captured the French trenches at a certain point, but were thrown back by the grenadier corps.

BOYS' PRANK PUT CITY OF EVERETT IN MOTION

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Four boys, a stolen automobile, a 1600-gallon tank filled with ammoniac, two collisions, a whole neighborhood put to flight, serious injury of a lad and a call for the fire department—all figured in an incident of busy life in Everett yesterday afternoon.

The automobile released by a smash-up flooded the street, and the flames drove people out of stores and houses.

Stole the Auto

The trouble began when James O'Brien, driving an automobile belonging to the Malden Electric company, brought his machine to a stop in front of 323 Broadway. Leaving the automobile, he went into an automobile supply store.

Scarcely had O'Brien disappeared in the building when four boys, who had been playing near, ran to the automobile. One of the lads attempted to crank the machine, but was unequal to the task. A companion had better luck, however, and as the motor began to hum, the boys piled into the seats. In a few moments they were off.

Becoming alarmed now, the boy at the wheel made an attempt to stop the machine but only succeeded in increasing its speed. Then the lad began to drop off. Three reached the ground without injury. The fourth, Frank Callahan, 12 years old, of 1 Ja-cob's place, was flung against a telephone pole and his pelvis broken.

Flood of Ammoniac

Without any hand to guide it, the machine now proceeded to run amuck. Shots from both sides of the street reached the ears of Edward Harris of 97 Third street. He found the machine driving five horses attached to a big tank wagon owned by the Cochran Chemical company and containing 1600 gallons of ammoniac. Harris, relying in his five-horse team, turned in his seat as the runaway machine crashed into the rear of the tank. The collision occurred at the northwest corner of Broadway and the boulevard.

The automobile was reduced to a twisted mass of wreckage by the force of the impact. The valve of the tank was snapped away and the ammoniac began to pour into the street. Harris, however, was not flung from his seat.

Neighborhood Flees

The fumes of the escaping ammoniac drove further and farther away the crowd that had assembled, and entering houses and stores, caused their occupants to flee.

So overwhelming became the fumes that a fire alarm was rung in for the purpose of bringing relief. Two companies responded. These delayed the streets with water. Not until more than a half hour after the accident was the atmosphere freed of the ammoniac fumes.

Board of Trade Approaches Mr. Putnam's Action in Closing Streets to Be Washed Sunday Morning

The following letter from the public health committee of the board of trade to the board of aldermen relative to the washing of the downtown and business streets early Sunday morning is self explanatory:

October 10th, 1916.
Mr. Newell F. Putnam,
Commissioner of Water Works and Fire Prevention, City Hall, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir: I have been instructed by vote of the public health committee of this organization to send you a letter of commendation for your very prompt compliance with the request of this committee to flush the business streets early Sunday morning.

The committee appreciates your action. The city will be benefited from a high standard in a great many ways, by reason of your splendid work. Trusting you will continue this work as long as the weather will permit, I am,

Respectfully yours,
John H. Murphy, executive-secretary.

SINK ANY SHIP BOUND BY WAY OF ENGLAND

U-BOAT COMMANDER SO TOLD DUTCH CAPTAIN—PRESS OF HOLLAND INDIGNANT

ROTTERDAM, via London, Oct. 10.—The Holland-American Line has received only a brief report of the sinking of the Dutch steamer Bloemerdijk and the rescue of her crew by the American torpedo boat, Benham. This report, which does not give the submarine's number, says the submarine commander "informed the Bloemerdijk's captain that he would sink any ship bound by way of an English port."

The steamship company's directors shortly will discuss the new situation with the minister of foreign affairs, but meanwhile will not alter the sailing dates of the company's vessels.

The value of the Bloemerdijk was about $1,000,000, half of which was insured against war risks. The grain cargo for the Holland government, however, was not insured, as the government carries its own war risks.

LAWRENCE ACADEMY WILL PLAY HIGH SCHOOL

IMPORTANT GAME AT SPALDING PARK TOMORROW—LOCAL TEAM EXPECTED TO WIN

The Lowell high football eleven which has shown up so favorably in the two games played thus far should have no trouble in winning from Lawrence academy in the game to be played at Spalding park tomorrow forenoon. The student body and other followers of the team will undoubtedly turn out in large numbers as the game is one of the important ones of the first part of the season.

In last Saturday's game when Lawrence overcame Nashua, Coach Conway had an opportunity to put in many of his substitute players. All showed up well and Coach Conway now realizes that he has some good material in the background. Capt. Ed-ton Lynch and Heathcock, who three weeks ago gained honors and Mansur, Mahoney and the others are showing up well. The line-men are also in good condition and the team as a whole is well. The line-men are also in good condition.

The interclass games which were started under the direction of Faculty Manager Joseph Tyne and Mr. Campbell have not only been instrumental in building up a strong lineup but have also created a more favorable spirit in the school as it gives the young players a chance to get onto the field and get a touch of what a real game is like.

WITH THE PADDED MITTS

The bout arranged for the Commercial A. C. Friday evening with Phineas Boyle of this city and Tommy Reagan of Boston as the principals has been called off as Reagan has announced that he is not ready to meet the speedy Lowell boy.

Another first lightweight will probably be secured to go against Boyle in the main bout.

Jim Grille will open his Lawrence club tomorrow. Pete Hartley and Vic Moran were scheduled to meet in a 12-round bout, but Moran has sent word that he will not appear. Manager Grille is trying to get a substitute capable of making a good showing against Hartley. The bouts this year will be held in the Opera House.

GREAT JUBILATION AFTER BROOKLYN'S VICTORY

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Firmly entrenched within their own grounds, the Brooklyn Nationals turned upon the famous "Tessie" song and march, and soon the park was filled with parading battalions. After a number of maneuvers the adherents of the two clubs met in mid-field and following an interchange of cheers, good naturedly bombarded each other with cushions.

The demonstration made up in part for the lack of the thrilling features which lifted the first two contests out of the rank of ordinary baseball conflicts. There was missing in the third game the tenseness and emotional individual play which dominated the preceding clashes at Braves field. Brooklyn jumped into the lead early in the contest and was never headed, although the Boston club crept up to within a run of tying the score in the closing innings. Neither was the game marked by super-excellent baseball, but Brooklyn won, and with the hope that the team would repeat, that was entirely enough for their supporters.

Contrary to the Boston games, that of yesterday was played in cool, crisp weather, and overcasts were necessary for comfort to the spectators in all but in the sunny left field stands. Jack Coombs, already a veteran of the world's series with the Philadelphia Americans, came in for unflattering criticism for his splendid twirling in the early innings of the game and later for his self-abnegation in requesting to be relieved when he felt himself slipping and realized that to remain in the box would endanger the victory for his teammates.

That last sentiment, however, Coombs held the Red Sox to six hits and two runs, but when Larry Gardner lifted the ball over the right field wall for a home run, Coombs realized that he was losing his cunning. His teammates urged him to remain in the game, but the Kousser, who had been in the game for his determination and was finally replaced by Pfeffer, who held the one-run lead Coombs had given him until the end, Boston being helpless and hitless before his delivery.

DRIVER WELLS GETS TOSS AT THE NASHUA FAIR

NASHUA, N. H., Oct. 11.—The second day of the Nashua fair yesterday saw a much larger attendance than on Monday. The motorcycle race was run in the dark and called off at 7.15 miles.

In the second heat of the special matinee race, Driver Wells was thrown over his horse, Jannette Wells, when she stumbled. The sulky was wrecked but Wells was not injured.

Mrs. Susan Walker Fitzgerald of Boston made a suffrage speech from the stand. Mayors of several neighboring cities were in attendance and were the guests of Mayor James B. Crowley at the Country club at lunch.

MANY FANETTES ENJOY GAMES AT ROLLAWAY

"May I take my girl to the rink to see the fifth game of the world's series tomorrow?" said young man over the phone to Manager Moore of the Rollaway. "Why, certainly," responded the genial manager, "and I'll guarantee that she'll enjoy it very much and certainly highly satisfactory."

This is only one of the many inquiries received relative to bringing the ladies to the games. But during the past three days a great many of the fair sex have attended and they made their presence known by joining the men in cheering, throwing hats and every other thing that a crowd can do.

The electric board at the rink is meeting with remarkable success and all who are taking thousands of following the big games are elated over the manner in which each and every play is given. Every hit, every run, every ball, every strike, every hit, and in fact every little detail is flashed on the board. Thousands have already listed the rink and indications are that thousands more will be there before the final game of the big classic is over. Tomorrow, being a holiday, arrangements have been made to handle a big crowd. If you want to stay in Lowell, and yet follow the big game, you should get in line and follow the crowd to the Rollaway, third street.

JODDIN MAKES GREAT SCORE IN CITY LEAGUE

The second week's schedule of the City Bowling league brought together eight teams which provided plenty of excitement for the large number of spectators attracted to each of the four alleys. The Kimball System quintet made the best score knocking down a remarkable score of 351 with a single strike of 112. The Kimballs rolled on Kirtledge's alley and a capacity crowd followed Joddin's work as he piked up his high score.

The results were as follows: At Kirtledge's, Kimball System 1560, Newton Mfg. Co. 1491; At Crescent, Crescent 1537, Highland Daylights 1133; At White Way, White Ways 1593; Carr's 1535; At the Jewel, Jewels 1535, Boyd's 1535.

SMITH'S RUNNING LOST BROOKLYN CHANCE TO WIN SECOND GAME

In Brooklyn's half of the third inning of the second world's series game, after Miller had bounced out, Scott to Hobitzel, poor coaching or poor judgment by Pitcher Smith threw away a chance for Brooklyn to score at least one run, a tally that would have given them victory without going into extra innings to be defeated. Smith let one ball go by and then slammed a terrible drive to the right fence. He made two bases easily, but Jack Combs, who was coaching at third, either urged him to take another base or else the pitcher ran blindly on without using the proper judgment. At any rate, he was thrown out at third by at least two men when Homer relayed the ball to Walker, who came in and shot to Gardner. This act proved very costly for the Robins, as Johnston followed Smith's double with a single to center, which might have brought Smith home.

LEGAL NOTICES

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:

Respectfully I, the undersigned, representing the said Thomas Millette, do hereby certify that the said Thomas Millette lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth, to wit, at Lowell, Massachusetts, that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Thomas Millette, being wholly regardless of the same, at said Lowell, has contracted gross and confirmed habits of intoxication caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquor, and on or about the seventeenth day of September, A. D. 1912, and at divers other times and places the libellee has been guilty of cruel and abusive treatment towards your libellant; and that the said libellee being of sufficient ability, grossly, wantonly and cruelly refused and neglected to provide suitable maintenance for your libellant.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony be decreed between the said Thomas Millette and the said Thomas Millette and that the said Thomas Millette may be allowed to resume her maiden name of Celia G. Gaudin.

Dated this fourth day of March, A. D. 1916.

CELINA MILLETTE.

the selection, has not done more than inquire of the eligibles whether they would consider an offer from the Crimian camp. Snodgrass has been approached in this way, and as he is thought to be favorably disposed toward the Harvard nine as a team to coach, there is a possibility that the Braves will be signed up.

Fred Mitchell, another Brave who was in charge of the team last year, had great success and it is possible that his showing may have influenced the Harvard camp to favor another player who has had training with the Braves. Mitchell's three-year contract with the Braves has forced him to give up coaching the Harvard nine to league baseball for nine years under John McGraw and Stallings, is now looked on with favor.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF THE MATHEWS BIG SUCCESS

WILLIAM H. CAREY
President

JOHN E. O'NEILL
Chairman Committee

The 25th annual banquet of the Mathews Temperance Institute held in the society hall last evening was highly successful in every particular. The attendance was very large, taking the hall to capacity, and all present thoroughly enjoyed the program. The supper was first class, the speeches interesting and instructive and the musical numbers of rare excellence.

The speakers of the evening were Congressman John Jacob Rogers, Mayor James E. O'Donnell, Rev. D. J. Keleher, P. D., spiritual director of the society, James F. Miskella, John V. Donoghue and William H. Carey, president of the institute.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the doors of the banquet hall were thrown open and the recently remodeled quarters, with the long tables filled with inviting edibles, presented a beautiful sight. As the orchestra played a lively march all fled in and assembled around the festive board. Rev. Dr. Keleher offered prayer.

After all appetites had been satisfied, Pres. William H. Carey opened to the president by extending a cordial welcome to a very large and varied group of the great work for temperance not only in this country, but in the numerous European nations now at war.

He presented statistics showing the horror and suffering caused by intemperance. In conclusion he urged all members to continue their work in behalf of temperance, and also to be faithful in their attendance at the society's meetings. He then introduced Ex-Pres John V. Donoghue as toastmaster of the evening. Mr. Donoghue in assuming charge of the exercises thanked the great group for the honor conferred upon him and then spoke in part as follows:

"In keeping with the best traditions of the society, this occasion tonight commemorates the 25th anniversary of its fraternal to us all. In the midst of a great political battle, deciding as to who shall sit in the presidential chair for four years, in the glow of the famous world's series, testing as to which team shall hereafter be hailed as the world's champion, and in the midst of all these things, we are gathered here tonight to reflect on the useful life of our prototype and our patron, Rev. Theobald Mathew, and to gather therefrom some inspiration, little though it may be, which shall spur us on to greater effort and to greater activity in the days to come."

After paying a high tribute to Rev. Fr. Mathew he said:

"The career of the Mathew Temperance Institute, furnishes ample evidence that it has unwaveringly kept the faith. Its history is replete with the accomplishment of great deeds that recall it all would be to recall the splendid work of an O'Donnell, a Ryan, a Hart, a Gray, a Courtney, a Sullivan, a Slattery and the hosts of others who have stood shoulder to shoulder in this organization in its span of 35 years and followed resolutely the principles enunciated by the great priest in whose honor we are fraternizing tonight. Surely time does not permit the recital of a story which our society historians have never adequately told."

"But apart from the work for total abstinence, this organization has fulfilled another mission in our community. It has developed the educational side of the members with splendid results, it has cultivated in the members a taste for the best in literature; it has trained young men in the intricacies of parliamentary law; it has sent men out into public life whose first step of parliamentary law was whispered in these very halls. It has sent men out to fill positions in every walk of life; in a word, it has developed the heart as well as the mind, and has rightly earned the universal commendation of all who are in sympathy with those things and those ideals that make for the highest type of citizenship.

"While in the glow of enthusiasm tonight, let us resolve to bestir ourselves, that this organization's flag of temperance shall never be lowered, that the lessons of this great night shall be put to practical use, and that the ambition, the aims and the purposes of the founders of the institute shall always be realized; the dissemination of total abstinence principles and the uplifting of the Catholic young men of our city."

Mr. Donoghue performed the duties in a most acceptable manner, his remarks, particularly his introductions of the speakers being very gracious and apropos.

J. Warren Kane was next called upon and he sang "In the Garden of My Heart" in a most pleasing manner.

Mayor O'Donnell

Mayor James E. O'Donnell received a great reception. He first congratulated the society for its success in the past and also praised the members for having their lady friends present at the banquet. He said the statistics presented by Pres. Carey were indisputable and should teach all that the temperate man is given the preference in all walks of life. He told of the many members of the Mathews who have made their mark in the business and professional life of the city, and said that they owed their success largely to the training received at meetings of the institute. "The power of proper influence," said the mayor, "is bound to help the young man, and the man who enrolls in this organization and carries out the teachings laid down by the founders cannot help but advance in life. He spoke of the work of the boys' club and said that it was a worthy organization and should be supported. This society too," continued Mr. O'Donnell, "is one that should be supported by the entire community."

Your members should meet here regularly and discuss public matters of interest to the city, state and nation and by so doing you not only help yourselves, but you help your fellow members and also the community in general. There is no better place for you to assemble than here, where you are constantly under the proper influence. Then when you go out in the world you are better prepared to fight the great battles of life. Remember that while Lowell is now enjoying a great era of prosperity, it may not always be so and when the time comes for the process of elimination from the industrial machine will be kept and the man who is not so will be forced to go."

George Kirwin of the Sacred Heart choir sang in a most impressive manner "A Little Bit of Heaven."

Congressman Rogers

Congressman John Jacob Rogers when introduced as a future gubernatorial candidate of the Bay State, was enthusiastically greeted. He thanked all for the cordial reception, and said this was his third appearance at Mathews banquets. He was always glad to be the pleasure to attend their affairs. He said that on his former occasions as a guest of the Mathews, he spoke on the work of Fr. Mathew, the great apostle of temperance and fighting Jack Barry, the father of our way. "Tonight I intend to do so," he said, "in between these two subjects, a link on the city of Washington, our capital. Now Washington has been called the city of statues, and it has been well named for throughout the entire community can be found monuments erected to the great heroes of this country. I took the time one day to make a tour of the city's parks and squares to count the number of statues erected to our heroes, and found that there were some 35 of them. This number over half were memorials to men of foreign birth. One of the most beautiful is the replica of Fighting Jack Barry. Another is of Lafayette, the first foreigner to have been accorded the privilege and honor of addressing the house of congress while in session. The second to receive this honor was Rev. Fr. Mathew."

The speaker then made an extended resume of the numberless places of historic interest in the national capital. He said the British ambassador, James Bryce, told him that Washington was the most artistically beautiful city in the world, and that it was the most naturally beautiful. He then described the many buildings there which should be seen by all. He urged his audience to visit the city, and said that if he happened to be there when they called he would do all in his power to make their stay pleasant and profitable. In closing he congratulated the society on its great work and in honoring him with the invitation to be present.

P. P. Sullivan

The toastmaster then read a letter from Mr. P. P. Sullivan, president of the Bay State Society, and a charter member of the Mathews. Mr. Sullivan expressed his thanks for the notification of the banquet and said that only illness prevented him from being present. He congratulated the society for its work and urged all to continue their fidelity to its principles. Mr. James Coughlin then favored with several recitations.

Rev. Dr. Keleher

Rev. Dr. Keleher, spiritual director of the society, spoke on the advantages of being affiliated with such societies as the Mathews. He, too, expressed his pleasure at seeing the ladies present, saying that their attendance at the banquet demonstrated their interest in the noble work of the organization. He said that the temperate man was always in demand and he urged the ladies to be careful in their selection of a life partner, and when the time comes for them to consider matrimony to give the temperate man the first consideration. He gave several illustrations of the sufferings caused by intemperance and in closing urged the members to assist and co-operate with the officers in all their undertakings.

Miss Florence McManus who possesses a beautiful voice, sang several beautiful numbers, including "A Perfect Day." Mr. William McNamara also sang two numbers, with John McGlinchey at the piano.

James F. Miskella

James F. Miskella, who represented the Burke Temperance institute, was the last speaker. He congratulated the Mathews for their work which was identical with the work of the society of which he is a member. He told of the great benefit such an organization was to the members, the city and the nation. A temperance society is a great asset to a community and its work should be encouraged and supported by all. He said that it keeps the members alert and prepares them to do good for their fellow members. The member should respect the society as he does his parent, and uphold the fundamental principles of the institute. If this is done he will himself be a better citizen and not only himself but his city will benefit by it. Mr. Miskella then outlined his experiences while out west, showing how the temperance organizations are supported and honored in that part of the country. He concluded by thanking the members for their invitation and congratulating them for their remarkable work during their 36 years of existence.

The affair was brought to a close with all standing and singing America.

GUERNSEY COW BRINGS $6150

NORTH EASTON, Oct. 11.—The largest auction of Guernsey cattle ever held in this county took place yesterday at Longwater farm, the estate of P. Lethrop Ames.

A new record price for a Guernsey cow was established when Langwater Dairyman, an 8-year-old, bred by Mr. Ames, was sold to C. L. A. Whitney of Albany, N. Y., for $6150. This was $1140 more than the record paid for a Guernsey cow in this county, made by Mary Rimes in 1914 at Berwyn, Penn. The most largest price paid yesterday was $5000 by John S. Ames for Langwater Generous.

WOMAN SPEAKS FOR HUGHES

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—A novel phase of the campaign of the women's party developed here today when Mrs. O. H. Haverwood of New York spoke for 15 minutes between acts of a popular play at a downtown theatre. She urged her listeners to vote against President Wilson on the ground that the national administration has consistently opposed the constitutional amendment enfranchising women.

SIMMONS CLOSED ON ACCOUNT OF PARALYSIS

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—In the 11 new cases of infantile paralysis reported in Boston by the board of health yesterday is a Simmons college student, Miss Elizabeth Miller, 21, of Warren, O.

The discovery of Miss Miller's case resulted in the college being closed. The day students will be told today to remain at home until Monday, at which time they will receive notification as to whether the suspension of studies is to be continued.

Miss Miller lives in the South house, 321 Brookline avenue. In that dormitory are quartered 350 girls. The dormitory and seven similar buildings have been placed under quarantine.

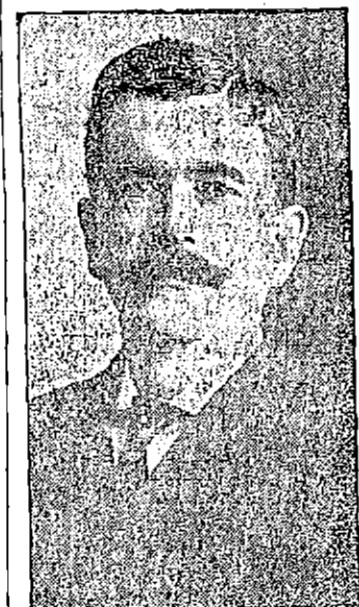

Miss Miller was taken ill Sunday night, and was removed to the college infirmary.

BANQUET AT ASSOCIATE HALL AND ADDRESS BY CONGRESSMAN PHELAN

A rousing address by Congressman Michael J. Phelan of Lynn, other interesting speeches, a banquet and entertainment and dance marked the celebration of the 37th anniversary of the inception of Court Merrimack, No. 11, Foresters of America, which was held in Associate hall last evening. The event, which proved to be a notable one in the history of this prominent organization was attended by about 200 men and women and at the close of the evening the committee in charge was warmly congratulated for the manner in which the entire program was carried out. Shortly after 8 o'clock to the sweet strains of a march played by Miner's orchestra, the guests took places around the festive board and partook of a bountiful dinner. At the close of the dinner Chief Ranger Thomas F. Kelley rapped to order and after a brief address he introduced as toastmaster, James I. Gallagher, past chief ranger of the court.

Mr. Gallagher, in his introductory remarks, paid a compliment to the ladies present and thanked them for the interest they show in the organization and in a very interesting address he gave a brief outline of the origin of Forestry in America. He said there are now 250,000 members with $2,000,000 on hand. The order was instituted in Philadelphia in 1835.

Congressman Phelan

The next speaker was Congressman Michael J. Phelan of Lynn, who responded to the toast, "Our Country." The congressman was given a rousing reception and in opening he amused his listeners by telling them of his experience in Lowell some years ago as a dancer, and he congratulated the men present for having their wives with them. In responding to the toast assigned to him the visitor referred to the United States congress as a great fraternal organization and said the whole government of this country is based upon fraternity. "We could not exist for a year," continued the speaker, "if the men of this country were not willing to enforce, that is support each other and if every man were not willing to give up something for his neighbor. This you do not do in a monarchy. As long as we live in this country men who are willing to give to their neighbors we will have real democracy." He strongly defended the action of President Wilson on the railroad strike and keeping the country out of war.

Other numbers on the program included vocal selections by John T. Myers, Francis A. Connor, Harold T. Catterer and J. Harvey.

MAINE POTATO MEN FOUND GUILTY

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Five members of the Arrostook Potato Shippers' association were found guilty by a jury in the United States district court yesterday before Judge Morton on an indictment accusing them of conspiracy to restrain trade in Arrostook potatoes. The defendants are Carl C. King of Carleton, Me., president; John H. Hovey of Mars Hills, Me., secretary; Clarence E. Powers of Maple Grove, Me.; Edward H. Doyle of New York and H. W. Sylvester of this city.

The jury went out at 12:55 and returned at 4:55.

The defense will take the case to the circuit court of appeals on questions of law. The defendants contend that their association is an agricultural one and immune from persecution under the Sherman act by virtue of the provisions of the Clayton act exempting labor and agricultural organizations from the operation of the Sherman law.

Herbert Parker, counsel for the defense, maintaining that the term agriculture includes those engaged in the marketing of potatoes as well as the persons who worked in the fields.

Leo Rogers, assistant attorney general, handled the prosecution. He put on a number of witnesses and offered documentary evidence in support of the claim of the government that the association had maintained a blacklist and secondary boycott which restrained trade in Arrostook potatoes.

A. G. POLLARD CO.'S SALE OF GILBRIDE STOCK

GREAT SPECIAL CLOSING OUT SALE OF THE GILBRIDE DEPARTMENT STORE

A. G. Pollard Co. have done some pretty big stunts in their mammoth establishment in past years, but none that can compare with this wonderful sale started this morning. They close out nearly $50,000 worth of merchandise of the Gilbride store, and their patrons can hardly conceive of the magnitude of this stock which extends over all the departments, including the Palmer street store as well as the Merrimack street store. The stock is not a bankrupt stock, something that might be shopped, but this stock in its entirety has come over to Pollard's store, and everybody in the city knows the honorable firm of O'Donnell & Gilbride, who more than quarter of a century ago established the dry goods business and were most highly successful in their undertakings. The Gilbride establishment was the outgrowth of the O'Donnell & Gilbride store, who for many years carried on a large department store business. Both of these honorable gentlemen, while highly respected, have passed from this life, and this being the occasion for the sale, the disposing of her entire stock and fixtures, and relieving from the business. There will be thousands of people who will attend this sale who will have occasion to remember for years the wonderful bargains received at this Gilbride closing out sale by the Pollard Co. It will in a measure take the form of a souvenir as the stock was purchased for a fraction of its cost, thereby enabling the Pollard Co. to give wonderful bargains to each and every patron. There are very few Cady, and remarks by Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, Grand Chief Ranger James P. Linahan of Lynn and orchestra selections. In the latter part of the evening the tables were removed and general dancing was started and continued till a seasonable hour. The officers of the evening were as follows:

Thomas F. Kelley, general manager; John F. Sullivan, floor director.

Anniversary committee: Edward J. McNamee, chairman; John W. Sharkey, secretary; James I. Gallagher, John Barrett, James A. Ready, Richard J. Townsend, Jas. Alexan, William M. Furlong, Arthur Bernhart, Michael E. Roddy, Michael Reid, C. Frank O'Neill, Thomas F. Kelley, Harry F. Kelley, John F. Sullivan.

Anniversary committee: Charles L. Warren, John McPadden, Owen O'Neill, William H. Stafford, Patrick Riordan, David Gerow, Martin Moran, Thomas B. Smith, M. D., Denis J. Crowley, James F. Miskella; Frank H. Marren, Denis J. Crowley; John F. Hendricks, James St. Hare, William M. Furlong, Daniel Redding, Patrick J. Mahoney, H. Francis Kiernan, George R. O'Neill.

The present officers of the court are as follows:

Thomas F. Kelley, chief ranger; John Barrett, senior chief ranger; John W. Sharkey, financial secretary; John F. Sullivan, recording secretary; George R. O'Neill, treasurer; C. Frank O'Neill, senior woodward; Arthur Bernhart, junior woodward; John Gilligan, senior headler; Michael Reid, junior headler; James A. Hearn, lecturer; James A. Ready, William M. Furlong and Harry F. Kelley, trustees; Dr. Thomas B. Smith, physician.

At the close of the evening Mayor O'Donnell and Congressman Rogers paid a visit as guests and were given a rousing reception. The excellent menu for the dinner was provided by Caterer R. J. Harvey.

WAR PROBLEMS TAKEN UP IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The house of commons today began consideration of serious problems resulting from the war, with the introduction by Premier Asquith of a new vote of credit for £300,000,000. Under the procedure of parliament this step permits members to discuss any subject. It was expected the debate would cover a wide range and would include, in addition to financial questions, the government of Ireland, which nationalists who have definitely taken sides against the government will bring up; the suggestion of extension of conscription to Ireland which unionists are urging in which it is understood the government opposes and the obtaining of more men from England, Scotland and Wales by closer scrutiny of men under 40 years of age who have been thus far exempted from military service.

The vote of credit is the 13th since the outbreak of the war, bringing up the total to £3,122,000,000. As today's credit vote is expected to last only until the end of the present year another request will be necessary before March, but in view of the statement made yesterday by the chancellor of the exchequer, Reginald McKenna, there probably will be no fresh public borrowing in the shape of a long term war loan at present, as the country's needs are being met by revenue from taxes and by short dated issues. The latest six per cent. exchequer bonds yielded more than £2,000,000 last week. Financial circles and particularly holders of the 4½ per cent. war loan and other priced issues which recently have fallen to a discount, are hoping the premier will make some statement regarding the possibilities of conversion of their holding into a new loan when such an issue is considered.

IRISH DIVISION IN WAR NEEDS 30,000 MORE

DUBLIN, Oct. 11.—The Irish division at the front will need reinforcements of 30,000 men before Christmas, according to a statement made last night by Lord Wimborne, the lord lieutenant, in an address.

The lord lieutenant said that before the war there were 34,822 Irish Protestants with the colors and in the reserves. Since mobilization 92,404 Catholics and 62,391 Protestants had joined the army from various parts of Ireland.

stores in New England that could take over such an immense stock and handle it as this sale is being handled. It took years of experience for the A. G. Pollard Co. to know how to handle a sale of this kind. They have handled hundreds of special sales from houses in and out of the city, it might be a shoe store or clothing store, but in this sale it is spread over the entire store. There is hardly anything that a person might desire that could not be purchased at this mammoth sale, and at prices so low that it is simply an investment whether you need it immediately or not. To look into the store at any time would make one think it was the only store in town, with hundreds of eager buyers, and its army of clerks attending. There is no busier place anywhere than this great closing of the career of the Gilbride Co., which has made the Pollard store a veritable gold mine for the bargain hunters. It is well worth while to visit this store and share in the bargains.

AGED FARMER

Made Strong and Well by Vinol

The following letter from Farmer Lester adds another link to the chain of evidence which proves that there is nothing equal to Vinol to create strength for feeble, weak, run-down conditions and after sickness. The writer is a 74 year old man and got into a weak, run-down condition as a result of the grippe. Our druggist suggested Vinol to build me up and I noticed an improvement soon after taking it, and it has restored my strength so I can now do a good day's work. My wife has also taken Vinol for run-down condition with splendid results. H. W. GERMANS WILL NOT STARVE BUT WILL EAT LESS

One thing after another has disappeared so gradually from the German market since the war began that the very existence of certain luxuries and some things that were once considered necessities, has been forgotten. It was the experience of a correspondent of the Associated Press who had been in Berlin since the war began, and for many years before, to find, upon his arrival in Stockholm, the butcher shop and grocery windows filled with food stuffs he had seen scarcely a suggestion of in Germany for many months, and the restaurant bills of fare also seemed to be made up of the same luxuries which the German restaurants, as much as those of any country, were prepared to supply a great variety of foods.

Germany is not starving and there is no fear that it will, but the people are doing without far more things than they realize, having become so gradually accustomed to the loss or curtailment of certain edibles. Bacon—which the correspondent had not seen in Germany for months—is plentiful in Stockholm, of course; butter, lard and olive oil, seen in the grocery shops offered a really irrefragable proof to one who had scarcely known them for so long. There were different cuts of pork; the correspondent had had a small portion of pork twice in three months. He found many kinds of bread, while the only kind he recently knew was the mixed wheat and rye, and wheat mixed with rye. There was real coffee, which one cannot obtain even in the best hotels or millionaires' homes in Germany.

The taste of French-fried potatoes was almost a new thing, for no German household had enough to fry them, indulging in this luxury. With baskets of bread on the tables in hotels and restaurants, and no bread card required as a condition precedent to partaking, it seemed almost irregular and even wasteful. An order for marmoset brought a quantity greater than a household of two persons can obtain in Berlin for a whole week. A single order of cold meats contained more than the amount allowed per capita in Germany for a week.

What, then, it may be asked, are the Germans eating? The answer is: bread, potatoes and other vegetables, one-half pound of meat weekly which can be obtained, and fish, canned, fresh and smoked. The disappearance of the legumes—lentils, peas and beans—has been especially felt by the poorer people. A few beans and peas are occasionally to be had, but only in negligible quantities. Lentils, of which the Germans were very fond, disappeared in the first weeks of the war.

On this food, if it can be obtained, one cannot starve, but the poorer people, who either get nothing but potatoes and bread, or who do not know how to make the most of what they do get, complain of the monotony of the fare and that they are continually hungry. A number of women of this class, some weeks ago, made a demonstration in front of the city hall of one of the municipalities of Greater Berlin, declaring that they were hungry. "You shall not be allowed to starve (verhungern)," said the mayor, "but you will have to be hungry (hungern)."

This is undoubtedly the spirit animating all but an insignificant number of the Germans, who are satisfied that they will not starve; and they are willing to make the sacrifice for the Fatherland implied in the mayor's words. And they are the better able to make this sacrifice because, as has been illustrated, they do not realize just how great it is.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

The other Saturday in Spalding park the Old Timers for seven innings out a sorry figure against the South Ends, and then taking advantage of a little carelessness began to push over a few runs and kept it up so consistently that Manager Lyons' men showed signs of being really alarmed. But really there wasn't any danger. Handicapped early in the game by the loss of his regular catcher, Smith never had a chance to win, although he pitched well and batted finely and effectively. He was further handicapped by the wild work of his third baseman and shortstop who collectively manufactured eight costly errors, although the charitable scorer didn't so record. This was certainly enough to take the heart out of any team. Nevertheless the Pavlovskville farmers kept plugging away unaimingly by seeing the South Ends' score climb to nine runs, until the seventh inning, when, as a forecast they began to push runs over the fence. Due to the cold (which incidentally kept the attendance down), and the approaching darkness, I left before the game ended, but afterwards learned that the final score was 10 to 7, which was much better than I promised to be. The South Ends' score was 10 to 7, which was much better than I promised to be. The South Ends' score was 10 to 7, which was much better than I promised to be.

I hear it said that the C.M.A.C.'s are not willing to take on the South Ends for Spalding park game. If so, then it is likely that the South Ends are very ready. If Constantineau is going as they say he is, a match between these two teams after the world's series is over should be the proper thing.

Let us have it; and may the better team win.

Where Pleasure Dominates

Oliver Goldsmith's classical observation about wealth accumulating and men decaying to suit the present hour might be changed to read:

"It fares the land to hastening tide
A prey where pleasure dominates
And men decay."

There is no question as to the influence of pleasure upon a people of too much wealth; and a people wholly given up to the pursuit of rapid pleasure surely has a day of reckoning somewhere ahead of it. The young man or woman who apparently lives for nothing but a "good time" is too often ready to sacrifice place, prospect and health to that end. If perished in the future men and women of the land may be poor substitutes for the generations which founded and preserved this nation; and in time of stress will prove a poor defense against enemies from within or without that may arise against them. They, devotees to selfishness and pleasure inherited, still sowed the seed of weakness, ignorance and effeminacy and reaped the harvest. To the curriculum of our schools should be added instruction in certain Spartan virtues which we seem to have forgotten, and our civic life also might be revitalized by a return to the ideals of the past which at least betoken intelligence and strength.

The city of Lowell before long will be able to count at least 12 hours of amusement, so there is no lack of opportunity for our people to enjoy themselves in vaudeville and movie houses. Twelve o'clock dances are beginning and the bowling alleys are becoming the scene of great activities. Bridge-whist parties are getting together and pleasant poker parties are increasing as the nights grow longer. Still in this "good time" era, however, often ready to sacrifice place, prospect and health to that end. If perished in the future men and women of the land may be poor substitutes for the generations which founded and preserved this nation; and in time of stress will prove a poor defense against enemies from within or without that may arise against them. They, devotees to selfishness and pleasure inherited, still sowed the seed of weakness, ignorance and effeminacy and reaped the harvest. To the curriculum of our schools should be added instruction in certain Spartan virtues which we seem to have forgotten, and our civic life also might be revitalized by a return to the ideals of the past which at least betoken intelligence and strength.

Ex-Supt. Monatt
Former Superintendent of Police William B. Moffatt arrived home from the northwest on Saturday last, looking hale and hearty. He had a very enjoyable visit and might have extended it but a snow storm last Wednesday had a tendency to cause him to pack up and buy a ticket for home. He says that the wheat and oats received out there is alive with harvest. The states, and in about two weeks the threshers will have finished their work. The weather in the main has been favorable and big crops are being gathered.

The "chief" remarked that he didn't work very much himself, but all the same did a little; and that, altogether, and what was most important, was very much benefited in health by his visit.

Our Boys in Saskatchewan

Letters from Saskatchewan in the region about Durburn where quite a number of Lowell boys are having the time of their young lives working like fiends, eating like horses and sleeping like so many logs, say that in a few weeks they will be seeking a warmer climate. Some will come home, some will strike for California, others will try out the middle west, and I hear that a few brave ones contemplate becoming British subjects in order to take up land in Alhambra. I would advise them to wait until the war is over.

I am told that in spite of surroundings that are not particularly ideal in character most of the Lowell contingent experience a strong liking for the Saskatchewan country; but I dare say since that lot of snow Chief Moffatt tells about there is a stronger liking to get away. One of the bunch in a letter says that they are a tough looking crowd, honest, all in fine condition. Many haven't shaved for weeks and as for hair-cuts such luxuries are rare. Many first mustaches are appearing and distinctly disconcerting at 40 paces. Of late much discomfort has been encountered from high winds and dust storms. Many are like young hurricanes and terribly horses and drive everybody to cover. After one storm Tom Farrell was pulled out of a gopher's burrow in a state, it is said, bordering upon near-candidacy for the professional services of Dr. Benner, while Ted Wright, who has long since been promoted to "spike" Wright, was found to have lost a portion of his new mustache. So you see, notwithstanding they are far from Middlesex street they are not without a little excitement on the side. Now I understand that one of the Lowell boys have taken the "man in the moon" to task for not putting their names in the Sun. He wishes to explain this stating that their names have never been given him. Of course he knows about Charlie Miller and Howard Kirby, who own farms out there; and of course he knows "Spike" Wright, "Hank" Mason, Gih Mansfield, Alton Tom Farrell and Ted Cameron of Tewksbury. For the omission let them

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them. With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them. If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

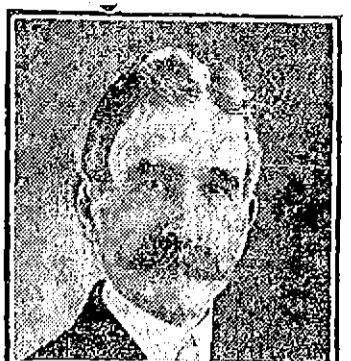

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

NOW BATS 300 IN LEAGUE OF HEALTH

Old Member of the Pennant Winning Lowell Nine is Now in "Fit Condition."

To all who suffer with the symptoms of a deranged stomach, liver, kidney trouble or rheumatism, immediate relief is at hand in the use of the new herbal stomach remedy, Plant Juice. Nothing that science has put forth from the laboratories of Nature has so quickly sprung into world-wide fame and prominence, as has this preparation. Whenever introduced it has taken immediate hold on the public, and brought forth words of praise from people in all stations of life. It does all and more than is claimed for it, as verified by the signed statements of people living in your own home city. Possibly your next-door neighbor has proven that this remedy really has been remarkably successful as a germ-destroyer and builder-up of wasted tissues.

For instance, the signed statement of Mr. James A. Cudworth, of No. 64 Grand Street, a popular employee of the T. H. Boyle company of this city, who has hosts of friends and acquaintances, being a member of the baseball team which won the pennant in 1915-16, will be of interest. He said: "I have been troubled with my stomach for years, and also with muscular rheumatism; my food fermented in my stomach and formed gas, I could sleep at night and get very weak and completely run down, so that I practically starved myself, as I was afraid to take anything into my stomach, as it gave me such distress. The gas pressed so on my heart that I thought I had heart trouble; was constipated all the time and looked all kinds of medicine in the hope of getting relief. My liver was affected, and a blur would come up before my eyes so at times I could scarcely see anything. Since I started to take Plant Juice I can eat anything I want and digest it. I sleep well, my liver and kidneys are in good condition, and I never felt better in my life. I am certainly glad to recommend Plant Juice."

The Plant Juice Man is at The Dows Drug Store, in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Take it out of the hide of "Hank" Mason—let's be blame, believe me.

Pantuckettville After

With the completion of the bridge at the falls and the establishment of grades at the mill side of the river, it will probably be very evident that all of the buildings backing up against the river banks must be removed. In less than two months the buildings now occupied by a grocery and market must be vacated, and the site of the mill side of the river, or both on the part of the owners of the only available land on the square for business purposes, these storekeepers are in a position something like the young man in the song—they are "all dressed up but they have no place to go." One hears much criticism of the city of Lowell for the lack of enterprise on the part of individuals holding the keys of the situation and the hope is expressed that no dog in the manger spirit shall be manifested to prevent others with sufficient courage and enterprise to vacate the West Pawtucketville needs.

October Weather

The humidity of late August long since fled before the cool west winds of September and to return until cold earth again tips over and the dog days are wheeled in the zenith. These early days of October, so like those of September gave so freely of are giving us and will continue in a larger degree to give us, comfort and a renewal of physical energy which is reflected in eyes open to the beauties of earth and sky and in the refreshment of the city streets or country roads with a lightness likened to that of immortal youth.

Go then out into the open and see what October has already wrought. If you do you will see many advance agents of the show in evidence. Already the golden lights and shadows rise and fall within the charmed circle of the hills and all is preparation for the greatest show on earth to take place shortly. It will be markedly successful if we do not have a long continued rain, which away. This show is universal and free. Ten million eyes will witness the coming of the Adirondacks, the Berkshires or to the hills of southern New Hampshire; but you will get your money's worth around about Lowell—money—plenty of it—forget it. You'll see gold-plenty of it—but it's the gold of golden lights and shadows on the face of the earth. Who responds to the call of the great out of doors will feel Mother Nature near to him as he answers. He will forget petty pleasures, artificial existence, wars, politics and vain ambitions in his complete sympathy with nature's heart and shadows. He will be daily happy, peaceful and strengthened for whatever trials and burdens the world may have in store.

Semlones

O rare October days! Ye leave your strange Forebodes of things ideal everywhere. Autumnal glory crowns the mountain range; Autumnal rapture floods the traced hills. Steeped in a golden languor sleeps the sky. As sinks the drowsy sun into his rest, Where burning clouds in crimson masses lie. Athwart the glowing portal of the west. The waning sunshine softens over all. Unto the music of sweet-voiced hills. Enchanted lights and shadows rise and fall. Within the charmed circle of the hills. The hazy world of magic vision seems: The far-off heights a fairy glamor take. And distant headlands, dim as summer dreams. Immerse their purple shadows in the lake. From the brown stubble-fields on either side Is heard the mellow piping of the reed. And, from an opal sky, faint, flushed and wide. The hunter's moon looks down, serene and pale. On steepy slopes the parting sun beams rest; Illusive shapes the bosky hollows vest. The twilight shades the quiet glen in vests. And all is dim, and mystical, and still.

MAYOR ORDERS POLICE IN SUNDAY HOTELS

SECOND LETTER SENT TO SUPT. WELCH OF POLICE DEPARTMENT TOUCHING LAW ENFORCEMENT

A uniformed supernumerary police officer will be stationed in each of the hotels in Lowell on Sundays, beginning next Sunday, Oct. 15, and they will be held strictly accountable for the conduct of the places at which they are stationed. This order is contained in a letter received by the superintendent of police from the mayor. The letter reads as follows: Redmond Welch, Supt. of Police, Lowell, Mass.:

Dear Sir—In my last letter to you, I called your attention to a suggestion made by me some time ago, that, if necessary, you could place uniformed officers in the different hotels on Sundays, to observe if the liquor laws are being enforced, which suggestion, apparently, you have overlooked.

In order that there may be no further misunderstanding on your part, I hereby direct that, beginning on next Sunday, Oct. 15, at 10 o'clock a. m., and continuing every Sunday until further notice, you will have stationed in each hotel in Lowell a uniformed supernumerary police officer, whose duty it shall be to observe if liquor is served in those places to any but sober adult, legitimate guests. The officers shall report to you any and all cases of violation of any of the laws relative to the sale of liquor, if any there be, and, in a firm, will bring the matter to the attention of the court and the license commission.

You will call in the officers to be thus assigned, and give them all necessary instructions, impressing upon them that they will be held strictly accountable for the conduct of the places at which they are stationed.

James E. O'Donnell, Mayor of Lowell.

LOWELL GUILD REPORT

The following report of the Lowell Guild was made at a meeting of the directors which was held late yesterday afternoon: New babies taken on 25; breast fed, 25; home modifications, 25; station modifications, total, 25. Co-operating agencies were, the board of health, board of charities, Lowell Social Service League, Anti-Tuberculosis League, Lowell General Hospital, school department, examining children for infantile paralysis.

Relief given: grocery orders, 5; milk quarts, 154; one box, baby's clothing, one box women's clothing, two boxes children's clothing, three pairs women's shoes, two pairs children's shoes, one hat, three baby carriages.

Report was made of a meeting in Boston on health insurance and plans were made for the conference on charities to be held in Lowell this month. The guild would like the private physicians to realize they may send their formulas to the milk station for modification; there are many babies in Lowell who need milk modified according to the doctor's order when the family have not the facility for so doing.

LIST OF DAY TEACHERS ELIGIBLE FOR EVENING

GIVEN OUT BY SCHOOL BOARD
ING

The school committee and superintendent of schools find it not a very easy matter to change over the evening school system as voted at a previous meeting. It was voted on Sept. 28 to discontinue the old system of employing "non-professional" teachers and to put "professional" teachers, preferably day school teachers, in their stead. The school committee met last evening for the purpose of straightening the matter out. The meeting was scheduled for 8 o'clock but did not materialize till about three hours later—as usual. The evening schools will open October 17. The following teachers were approved for the eligible list for the evening high school: Millie A. Severance, Mary H. Kilpatrick, Frances Masterson, Genevieve Lawrence, Elmer G. Brennan, Grace Donovan, Alice H. Bacheller, Alice Richardson, Jessie D. Fuller, M. Mabel Cusby, Loretta McManimon, Joseph G. Pyne, Alice L. Cluhn, Estelle Moore, elementary teacher for penmanship, penmanship, Raymond W. Shurtleff, D. Murray Cummings, the above teachers to be assigned as needed, and the list to be subject to change as needs become shown by registration.

The following were named for the commercial department: Bookkeeping and penmanship, Albert D. Mack, head of department; James Shanley, Marie Sullivan and Charles A. King—special teacher.

Stenography: Orton E. Beach, Flora A. Owen, Lewis A. Putnam (special teacher), Albertine Bernier (special teacher), and Mary M. Furlong (special teacher).

Typewriting: Annabel C. Lowrey and Ruth Eaton.

Manual training: Charles E. Seede, head; Peter J. Gulesian and C. Fred Campbell.

Education: Adelaide E. Noyes (special teacher).

French: Sara LaPorte (special teacher).

OUR DESTROYERS READY FOR RESCUE WORK WHEN ORDERS REACHED THEM TO "GO!"

U.S.S. ERICSSON, ADMIRAL KNIGHT, U.S.N. AND THE STEPANO

Two hundred and fifty-six survivors, including thirty-five women and ten children, reached Newport harbor on United States destroyers, which put to sea when word came of the sinking of the Stepano and other ships by the German U-53 and probably other German submarines. The Ericsson had eighty-one, among them all the women and children; the Drayton, sixty-eight; the Benham, thirty-six, and the Jenkins, seventy-one.

The Stepano was in the regular service of the Red Cross line and was bound from St. Johns, N. F., to New York.

The sale of the Stepano to the Russian government, which had planned to use her as an ice breaker, was recently announced. Her sister ship, the Florizel, had also been sold to Russia for ice work.

When wireless news came that the German U-53 and probably other German submarines were sinking vessels near the American coast the Navy was ready to go to the work of rescue of passengers and crews. In Newport harbor snuggled at anchor near Goat Island, the torpedo boat station, were twenty-five of these low, bristling craft, ungainly in repose but swift and savage in action, popularly known as torpedo boat destroyers and in the navy merely as "destroyers." The wireless of the scout cruiser Birmingham, flagship of Admiral Gleaves, formerly commandant at the New York navy yard, can talk with Colon if it wants to so powerful are its dynamoes. It was child's play for its operator to pick up the news that the West Point had been blown up by the German, then only ten miles south of Nanucket, and that the Kansas, fifty miles northeast, had turned to the rescue.

There was quick communication between the two admirals—Gleaves on the Birmingham and Knight, commander of the Narragansett bay station, in his office at the War college. So swift was the electric play that followed with the orders to seventeen boats of the destroyer flotilla and their mother ship, the Melville, that it really amounted to "Get ready; go."

UNITY CLUB'S LICENSE REVOKED BY BOARD

PARK HOTEL CASE HEARD ON
CHARGE OF SERVING MINOR

At a meeting of the license commission last night the members decided to revoke the special club license.

Millinery—Mrs. Mary N. Devine.
Miss Esther Downing was appointed head of the women's evening school at a salary.

Miss Anna O'Day was made head of the dressmaking department at $2 per evening. Miss Roberta Bramhall was appointed head of the cooking department at $2 each evening. All others of the evening vocational school list had their pay fixed at $1.50 per evening.

John H. McGuinness was appointed head of the plumbing department at $3 per evening and Clara I. Farrington was made assistant to the principal at $1.25 per evening.

Rules Are Amended

It was voted to amend the rules of the evening schools, so that the special teachers at the evening high school shall be qualified to teach languages.

It was voted that the High, Edson, Colburn, Butler, Greenhalge and Mann schools and two rooms in the Cabot Street school be used as evening schools.

Miss Irene Hogan was granted a second-grade certificate. Dr. W. W. Devine, school physician, was granted leave of absence for two months. Dr. James Y. Rodger was elected a temporary school physician in her place.

A communication was read from John J. Mahoney, principal of the State Normal school, relative to the teaching of music in the Washington school by A. E. Brown, teacher of music at the Normal school. Permission was granted.

Adjourned.

Office of the License Commission, Lowell, Mass., Oct. 10, 1916.
Unity Associates, John McCann, President, 103 Middle street, Lowell, Mass.
Gentlemen: At a meeting of the license commission, held this date, the commission voted to revoke the special club license granted and issued to the Unity Associates, by John McCann, president, to be exercised on the premises numbered 103 Middle street in seven rooms on the third floor. Very respectfully,
The License Commission of the City of Lowell.

Per John J. Flaherty, Clerk.

The greater part of the session was taken up with the hearing of the charges preferred against John J. and Daniel E. Foye, proprietors of the Park hotel. It was alleged that they sold liquor to Real Parent, a minor, on Sept. 15.

Parent testified that he entered the hotel on the day in question with a friend and, although he and his friend were under age, both were served with liquor. While the two boys were seated at a table inspectors Conney and Dwyer put in an appearance.

They doubted the ages of the boys and upon inquiring they found that they were under age.

George H. Clark, who made the sale, testified that he thought the boys were of age.

Both John J. and Daniel E. Foye were called and testified to their instructions to their employees and to the fact that one or the other at all times was on the premises, in some part of the hotel.

NEW GERMAN WAR CREDIT

BERLIN, Oct. 10, via London, Oct. 11.—A bill for a new war credit of 12,000,000,000 marks will, shortly, be submitted to the reichstag. The bill has only a precautionary character but is deemed necessary because the margin between the credit granted to June, 1916, totalling $2,000,000,000 marks and the sum of $1,000,000,000 marks raised through the five war loans has become rather small. The new war loan is not expected to be floated before spring next year.

Before leaving Mr. Mahon gave pledges to the strikers that $100,000 would be available here tomorrow for the payment of benefits.

POSTPONE STRIKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—About 300 conductors, guards and gatemen employed by the Hudson & Manhattan railroad, which operates the tubes under the Hudson river, decided early today to postpone until 4 p. m. today a contemplated strike. The trouble arose because the company had dismissed 32 men for joining a union.

W. C. Fisk, president of the company, said the tube trains would not be held up even if the men went on strike as the motormen were under contract to continue at work and were satisfied.

MILK MEN ORGANIZE TO IMPROVE CONDITIONS

LOWELL SUBURBAN DAIRY ASSOCIATION FORMED LAST NIGHT—OFFICERS TO BE NAMED LATER

Milk raisers of Lowell and vicinity met last evening in Odd Fellows hall, Bridge street, and formed an association for the improvement of conditions surrounding the production and sale of market milk and other dairy products. There was a good attendance.

Walter S. Holder was elected temporary chairman and Harry M. Fox temporary clerk. The meeting proceeded to organize a permanent association to be known as the Lowell Suburban Dairy association. The following board of directors was chosen:

B. A. Cluff, R. E. Paigson, C. E. Wetmore, Melvin Rogers, Martin Kennedy and Harry Parker. Harry M. Fox was elected treasurer and Walter S. Holder was elected clerk. A committee of audit was elected, comprising Arthur Fletcher, George Garland and Alexis Peckham.

Those signing the incorporation papers were Walter S. Holder, Charles L. Wetmore, Arthur W. Fletcher, Bert A. Cluff, Joseph P. Varum, George P. Garland, John R. Martin, Robert C. Mills, Harry M. Fox, Eliot French, M. L. Kennedy, Melvin Rogers, Frank E. Miller, George J. Carlin, Samuel E. Taylor, William H. Pollock, Arthur H. Burdham, Alexis F. Peckham, Albie H. Peckham, William C. Tucker, Albert N. Fox, Leslie E. Paigson, Murray H. Pratt, Arthur W. Crosby, William M. Dupree, Edgar B. Lapham, Harry M. Parker and Edgar E. Stanyan.

The board of directors will meet at a later date and choose officers of the new association.

SENDS MESSAGE TO WILSON

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 11.—Allan L. Benson, socialist candidate for president, sent a message today to President Wilson on an alternative vote from his audience at a meeting last night, asking him to set forth his reasons for signing the army reorganization bill, which Mr. Benson said "contains a draft law clause."

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

The most famous Hawaiian today is Toots Paka—there isn't any question about it at all—and Miss Paka is at the B. F. Keith theatre this week, singing and dancing. With her are five native Hawaiian men singers and songsters, and together they constitute one of the best acts ever seen on a local stage in a long time. It should be borne in mind that there are comparatively few Hawaiians in the world today and that they are stuck very closely to their beautiful island home in the middle of the Pacific ocean. There, isolated from the rest of the world, they have built up a civilization which in many of its aspects differs very materially from anything else in the world. Their songs are distinctive and very satisfying heart-searching and their dancing is like no other. It is with much pride, therefore, that the management brings to this city what is the duplication anywhere, Julia Curtis, the girl with the thousand voices, makes good all right her limitations of a noted stage folk singer and dancer, but decidedly artistic. Each one of them she mixes to some well known animal. Miss Curtis can sing in different voices too, and this always gets her applause. A new play is surely the variety boy. He sings, dances, talks, whistles and plays a piano-accompanied and makes up his pants so well that his schedule will be easily followed. "Me and Mary" with Thos. F. Swift & Co. producing and as such it ranks very high. It is a likeable light comedienne, and his supporting company is fully adequate. The Nagsyfs are a good act, and they show red hot sealing cutters, and other things which have high temperatures. Murphy and Lachmar, funologists; Black & McCone, acrobats, and the 19th chapter of "Gloria's Romance," complete the bill. Phone 28.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

That "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" is the most delightful comedy that the Lowell theatres have seen in many years is the opinion of the crowded houses at the Opera House, thus far this week. The production of the Emerson Players' production of this great American play by Anne Warner. Never before has a play been so well liked as "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," and the attraction will bring all former records of the Emerson Players to "sulleterers." Seats are fast and for this afternoon and evening and Columbus day and Saturday night it is well to get seats early. There are plenty of good seats left for all remaining performances but the demand is so great that those who tarry are certain to be left with reservations can be made by phoning 281.

Rose Morrison's work as "Aunt Mary" is the talk of the city. This clever character actress, who for several years was one of Boston's biggest box office attractions at the Boston theatre and the Castle Square theatre, is giving a superb exhibition of acting and the crowd houses at the Opera House are loud in praise of her work. Rose Morrison, too, is seen in a splendid character this week, one that he plays finely. While Luez Ragan is more charming than ever in her part of "The Girl From Frisco," James Hayden, Frank Wright, Millard Vincent, James T. Galloway, Ernest Karl, David Baker, Gertrude Shirley, Gladys McLeod and other members of the company certainly do themselves proud in this comedy.

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" is a sweet, wholesome comedy that will live forever. For two years it was the starring vehicle of Miss Robinson and just now she is appearing in the play in all the big cities at topmost prices. The situations which arise and are woven around Aunt Mary's trip to New York city has made the play just as popular and loveable as "The Old Homestead." It is a play that will live for years to come for its great appeal to the emotions of all classes of theatregoers.

In ordering seats, order them for as early in the week as possible. On account of the big demand for seats, patrons should also get their reservations early too, for seats ordered by phone will be held until 1.30 and 7.30 o'clock only, excepting for the Columbus day and Saturday performances, when seats for the afternoon will be held until noon and those for the evening performance held until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" is a play that you cannot afford to miss. It is a play for yourself, your family, and all your friends to see.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

This is the final day on which to see the excellent bill of motion pictures which has been shown at the Merrimack Square theatre on the past two days. Everyone should see the admirable acting of House Peters, who plays opposite the charming and adroit Gail Kane in the great political story of Washington, "The Great Day," which will again be shown today for the last time, as well as the other pictures on this program will also be shown today.

A new holiday bill will be presented at the Merrimack Square theatre tomorrow, Columbus day, during the afternoon and evening. The great Merrimack Square theatre favorite, Blanche Sweet, will be seen in her latest and best photo appearance, "The Storm." In this unusual play Miss Sweet, after having appeared in a variety of roles, is seen in a half-wild, fun-loving daughter of a retired professor who is so submerged in his studies that he permits his daughter to run at will in the Maine summer resort where they live.

This holiday program is well rounded out by the other five act play, "The Girl From Frisco," featuring the popular actress, Frances Nelson and the leading star, Arthur Ashley. This is the story of a young shop girl who revolts against the evil influences which beset her. It is a great study in present day morality, and being such, it is a play which should gain the attention of all other pictures in the theatre. The program of plays are the Burton Holmes travel pictures of distant lands and peoples, a comedy of the refreshing sort and other plays. The program, which begins tomorrow, will continue to be shown at the Merrimack Square theatre during the rest of this week.

OWL THEATRE

The motion picture lovers, and in fact all theatregoers of Lowell, have a big treat in store for them today and tomorrow at the Owl theatre, when Herbert Heyes, the regular leading man at the Opera House last season, will be seen, playing opposite to Theda Bara in "Under Two Flags," a powerful picture of the famous stage actress of the same name. When Mr. Heyes was in Lowell last season, he made hundreds of friends by his clever portrayal of the parts assigned to him on the local stage and also by his pleasing personality off the stage. As this is his first appearance in the movies, and also as he is to be seen in a leading role with such a famous star as Theda Bara, there is no doubt that the Owl theatre will be packed today and tomorrow as it has never been packed before. In order to make the screen production of "Under Two Flags" as great a success as the stage production, the Fox studio spent a large sum of money in making the picture, and the result is a masterpiece of pictorialization of Dumas's internationally famous novel.

The story of this play is well known to all. It is the story of a French nobleman, who shoulders the responsibility of his brother's crime, disappears from his home and ends up in the French army. There he meets the daughter of the regiment and falls in love with her. How this girl later, when she discovers his identity, begs him to return to his family and how the young man, sometime afterward is court-martialed for insubordination, how the girl rides across the desert to secure his release, for him, and how she returns, just in time to stop, with her own body, the bullet

ROYAL THEATRE

Surely the biggest array of feature pictures ever put together is offered at the Royal theatre for today and tomorrow only. First in line is Pathe new monster $5,000,000 serial photo-play in fifteen two reel episodes, "The Shielding Shadow." This is another play written by the author of "The Iron Claw" and it surpasses the former a hundred fold. In the unangry words are correct words, "The Shielding Shadow" is a play of features such that no further words are necessary. The usual program also shown.

CHARLES CHAPLIN

hands and burning eyes that hover protectively near the beautiful Louline whenever she is in danger. Her life is plunged into mystery and dangerous adventures from the day she marries a wealthy Spaniard, Sebastian Navarro, to save her father from financial ruin. She has a husband who is in name only until her husband can win her love, as she is still faithful to the memory of her sweetheart who has disappeared at sea.

Her many perils—the hovering "Shielding Shadow's" protection, and the timely appearance of the good looking mysterious stranger with the grey hair and youthful eyes—the part he plays in her destiny, all furnish a host of thrills never before dreamed of in serials. Grace Damaged, "The Countess" of "The Shielding Shadow," needs no introduction to picture goers. She is supported by two very clever and good actors, Ralph Keel and Leon Barry, and a notable cast of the usual high caliber quality. To go "The Iron Claw" one better.

was a difficult problem for author and producers, but with "The Shielding Shadow" the first of their series of experience in serial making, has given the motion picture public what is well called the wonder serial.

And on top of this first episode, Charles Chaplin will be seen in "The Night Owl," the twelfth episode of "The Grip of Evil," and the eighth episode of "The Girl From Frisco." It will also be shown, offering an array of features such that no further words are necessary. The usual program also shown.

Y.M.C.A. OPENED WITH ENTERTAINMENT

With every prospect of a most successful year the Y.M.C.A. opened last evening with a social and impromptu entertainment that gave enjoyment to all who attended. In the early part of the evening billiards, bowling, pool and other games were enjoyed after which all repaired to the hall where President John H. Shea extended a cordial welcome and talked of plans for the future.

Mr. Shea outlined the plans of the board of trustees for the season and called attention to the various improvements in the library, bowling alley, game room and throughout the building generally. He said that no society in the city can now point to finer quarters and that at no time since its foundation has the Y.M.C.A.

Speaking of the part to be taken by the Y.M.C.A. on Columbus day, Mr. Shea said that the members are to wear grey gloves and grey ties, both of which may be obtained at the club rooms the day of the parade. Seventy-five applications for membership were reported, and there are 350 prospects on file.

The following musical program was given:

Phono solo, William Cogger; song, Andrew Doyle; musical trio number, Booth family; solo, Ernest Brady; Scotch song, Edward Loughry; recitation, James Monahan; songs, John McCaffrey, Frank McArthur and Walter Davis and character solo, John Murray. The accompanist of the evening was Richard Carlson.

The committee in charge comprised John Cole, Andrew Doyle, James Cogger, David Dwyer, John Mulligan and Joseph McArthur.

DR. JEWETT NOT LIABLE FOR FATAL ACCIDENT

Dr. Howard W. Jewett was called on to continue in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with manslaughter in causing the death of Olga Koszera, aged 3 years, who was killed by being struck down by an automobile operated by the defendant in Third street on the afternoon of Sept. 27. Through his attorney, Haven G. Hill, he entered a plea of not guilty and when the inquest finding submitted previously to the court by Associate Justice John J. Pickman, in which no criminal negligence was found, Judge Enright ordered a finding of not guilty and discharged the defendant.

The inquest finding of Judge Pickman, which reviewed the circumstances of the accident at considerable length, concludes as follows:

"I find that the automobile was operated at a reasonable rate of speed."

"I find that the operator of the automobile did not see the child upon the street, and that the child was struck by the view of the trees, and in part by reason of the child coming out suddenly into the street after the automobile had passed the trees, and was within a few feet of the place of the accident."

"I find that there was a licensed operator riding in the automobile with the owner, and was operating the automobile at the time of the accident, and that the owner was familiar with the operation of automobiles."

"I find that on Wednesday, the 27th day of September, last past, about 5:15 o'clock in the afternoon, that Olga Koszera, about three years of age, while walking on Third street, in said Lowell, a short distance north of the southerly sidewalk on said street, was struck and thrown down by an automobile that was owned and operated by Howard W. Jewett of Lowell, in said county, and that said Olga Koszera thereby sustained injuries that caused her death."

"I find that the death of said Olga Koszera was not caused by the criminal negligence of said Howard W. Jewett."

Lowell, Mass., Sept. 10, 1916.

Senior Special Justice of the Police Court of Lowell, and Acting."

Non-Support Case

The crown, the pigs, the horses and many other things figured in the case of neglect of wife preferred against Edward Melhot of Dracont before Judge Enright in police court this morning. According to the wife and daughter the defendant has not been doing the right thing, but he claims to be a much abused man and told a story in court which reads like fiction. The court after considering the testimony in the case found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay $3 a week towards the support of his wife. He appealed.

Violated Dog Law

Charles Malisgeroski was charged with violating the dog law, it being alleged that he had an unlicensed dog in his possession. He was found guilty and a fine of $5 was imposed.

In the case of Frank Bruen, charged with keeping an unlicensed dog, the matter was filed.

Manslaughter Case

Charles R. Chase, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Clayton F. Currier of Tyngsboro on August 17th, appeared before the court this morning but owing to the fact that the report of the inquest had not been made the case was continued until October 13.

THE SICKABED LADY

Nurse says poison looks innocent. This is why so many people are poisoned accidentally. Some poisons are sweet to the taste. This is why children may easily mistake them for sugar and water.

When you buy a poison ask for a distinctive label and have it state the proper antidote. Be particular to keep your poison in its distinctive package. Never tolerate its careless exposure. In case of poison by any of the poisons most commonly taken by accident follow these rules:

Always remember that the first thing in all cases is to empty the stomach. Poison by mineral acids may be neutralized by chalk, magnesia, even the plaster from the wall in water solution. For any burning or corrosive poisoning much help may be given after the vomiting by raw eggs in milk. White of eggs is particularly helpful in corrosive substance poisoning. "Carbolic acid" poisoning is difficult to deal with because the anesthetic effect of the poison prevents the action of the usual emetics. A large drink of whisky or alcohol will help to modify the effects of the acid, and renewed efforts may then be made to induce vomiting. Raw eggs and milk are helpful, but the proper antidote is sodium sulphate.

SERIOUS CHARGES MADE AGAINST NEWS SERVICE

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The morning newspapers publish in conspicuous places the official order denying to the International News Service further use of the Official Press Bureau and the use of cables and all other facilities for transmission of news because of alleged "garbling of messages and breach of faith." The order appears under such headings as "No British News for Hearst" and "News Made in America" and "American Agency's Garbling of Messages."

The Daily Express says by way of comment:

"The Daily Express repeatedly has called attention to anti-British lies printed in American newspapers controlled by William R. Hearst. This 'news' it says, is supplied by the International News Service, which is entirely a Hearst organization. This action, it is charged, follows repeated breaches of faith by the Hearst organization. One of the latest instances was a message in the Chicago Examiner headed 'London in Flames' and purporting to describe a Zeppelin raid. It was never sent from London."

In an extended editorial the Times says:

"The disciplinary measures taken against the International News Service shovel and drop thereon 20 drops of carbolic acid. The vapor circulating through the room will kill the flies.

A cheap, reliable fly poison, one which is not dangerous to human life, is bicarbonate of potash in solution. Dissolve one dram in two ounces of water, and add a little sugar. Put some of this solution in shallow dishes, and distribute them about the house. Keep away from cats.

Sticky fly-paper and other poisons are among the things of use in killing flies, but the latest and best solution is formalin or formaldehyde in water. A spoonful of this liquid put into a quart of a pint of water and exposed in a room will be enough to kill all the flies.

Be especially clear the room where there are many flies, burn pyrethrum powder in the room. This stupefies the flies, when they may be swept up and burned. Moisten the powder, press into a little cone and light the top of it with a match.

Nurse says she has often made a small quantity of ice cream for a patient in this way.

Put one pint of milk in a double boiler to scald. Mix one-half cup of sugar and a pinch of salt. Add this to the scalded milk. Stir quickly. Then add one beaten egg. Stir often and cook until it begins to thicken or coats the spoon. Strain and cool.

When ready to freeze add one or two cups of cream, whipped, cream, and a little flavor to suit taste. Pour a part of it into a baking powder can that the remainder in a cool place till next day, place the can in a cold place and surround with finely chopped ice and salt. Cover the pan and as mixture begins to harden, scum from sides and bottom and beat until smooth. Continue beating until of the desired consistency.

Nurse says this is a very old cure for bunions: Have slice of steak about half an inch thick cut into pieces large enough to cover bunion. Put steak into preserve jar, cover with vinegar and drop a penny into jar. Stand for twenty-four hours, shaking occasionally.

Put piece of steak on bunion, bind on with cloth. Keep on as long as possible at one time. If bandage dries some of the liquid can be poured on, but after few hours a new application should be applied.

Nurse also gives this old fashioned recipe for a cough syrup: One ounce each of the following herbs: thoroughwort, slippery elm, wood licorice and flaxseed. Add 3 pints of water, simmer until strength is all extracted, add a half pint of honey. Now strain through cloth, then add 1 pint of molasses, one-half a pound of loaf sugar, simmer them well together. When cold bottle and keep in a cool place. Dose: a dessertspoonful four times a day and one at bedtime.

It is said to have come originally from old India.

Nurse says these exercises are splendid to take off superfluous flesh: First exercise—Stand with heels together, toes out, head up, chest forward and stomach held in. Now extend arms in front on a level with the shoulders, stiffen them in this position, then, keeping every muscle rigid, swing the arms as far to the right as possible, then to the left, breathing through the nose as you do so. Repeat 10 to 20 times.

throw left arm out in front of body, extending right arm back on same horizontal line, elbows stiff. Bend the body at waist so the fingers on left hand, without bending arms, will touch floor in front of left foot and right arm will extend upward in perpendicular line. Resume first position and repeat with right leg and arm. Alternate practising 10 to 15 times.

Officials here declared there was no statement to be made regarding Mr. Lansing's visit beyond the fact that he and the president had discussed the submarine situation very fully.

It was reiterated that on the basis of reports so far received, the rules of international law were followed in the recent submarine attacks.

The president has received many telegrams urging that some action be taken to prevent a repetition of submarine attacks near the American coast.

THE STATE ISSUES

Voters in this state must not lose sight of the fact that the coming state election will have some effect in shaping the national policies of the United States for the next four years. We have our state candidates, and our purely local problems but the great overshadowing interest is the contest between the candidates of the two great parties for the presidency. Recognizing this, the platforms of the two state conventions laid special emphasis on the national issues. The democrats base their claims mostly on the record of President Wilson and the democratic administration while the republicans support a candidate whose only plea for election lies in criticism of the present administration. The state elections in Massachusetts are being forecasted and watched by democrats and republicans all over the country, and it behooves the voters of this state to recognize the part that it will play in the selection of president.

Democrats especially should organize their forces so as to give their representatives for state officers the support to which they are entitled. The main issue is the national policy, and the main plea for support is the record of President Wilson. The very first plank of the democratic platform pledges the support of the state to the administration and endorses the national platform which states that the issue is whether we shall have peace and prosperity during the next four years or whether we shall run the risk of war. After endorsing the national administration, the platform explicitly states: "Nothing but the most extreme partisanship can blind any intelligent and conscientious critic to the fact that in the last three years and a half the democratic congress and administration have promoted the welfare of every man, woman and child in the United States."

After pledging full support to the administration the platform deals in detail with the state issues. It makes the charge that the last republican legislature violated its pledges to the progressives to enact progressive legislation; that it has been the worst in our history, "the most reactionary and the most subservient to outside influence." The chairman of the progressive state committee has made like charges, pointing out that lobbyists controlled the house and the senate. "The democratic platform demands the enactment of an effective lobby law so that all who would influence legislation will be forced out into the open. This is a reflection of President Wilson's effective fight against the lobby at Washington."

The platform is in favor of a constitutional convention, first advocated by the democrats and now advocated by all parties. It is for the initiative and referendum. It is in favor of progressive labor laws, making the strong statement that "the wage-earners of Massachusetts owe their labor laws to the democratic party alone." When the republican party has advocated any privileges for labor it has been only after public opinion has sanctioned some progressive stand by the democratic party.

Another state issue prominently mentioned by the democratic party is the need for election reform. Workmen's compensation is approved, with the proviso that amendments be passed and that injured employees be allowed to choose their own physicians. It is a well known fact that the operation of the present law has wrought much unconscious injustice. The platform declares for the navigation of our waterways "to the end that freight rates may be reduced and the cost of living lowered to our inland cities." This will please those of this section who have labored so long for the navigation of the Merrimack. Many other splendid recommendations are made on timely subjects such as old age pensions, farm legislation, popular education, a budget system, taxation, immigration and the railroads.

All in all, the platform is a collection of state issues, far preferable to the empty and vague generalities of the republican party which deals in destructive criticism as its stock in trade.

COLUMBUS DAY

Columbus day, our latest state holiday, has broadened its appeal yearly since its adoption and has come to be regarded as a great American anniversary. Coming at a season suited to out-door display and having aspects that call for picturesque celebration, it affords a splendid opportunity for inspiring observance. During the past few years parades with unusually attractive features have been held in Boston and other cities of Massachusetts, and this year Lowell is to have the star observance, which, by the way, promises to be the most notable event of its kind since the adoption of the holiday.

There is something especially gratifying in the readiness with which so many groups of Americans have responded to the call of the parade committee, and it is fitting that this should be so. We have holidays more intimately connected with the great events in our development of a nation, but we have no holiday that is more universally American. The wonder is not that Americans irrespective of class or creed should turn out to honor a world character and the pioneer of all who have come to our shores, but that recognition should have been so long in coming. Now that it has come, the celebration should be so widespread and so general that there can be no doubt of the hold which the life and character of the great Columbus has on the hearts and the imagination of the American people.

It may seem a long time from the coming of the Mayflower to the coming of the modern immigrant from Southern Europe, but it was just as long from the coming of the Santa Maria to that of the Puritans. Of the actual life of the navigator there is so far ahead of his time that there is little need to speak. It has become a nursery tale, and all of its main incidents tell a story that is not lost on the American child of today. It is a story of devotion to principle, forbearance under persecution, fortitude against misfortune, perseverance in the face of overpowering opposition and steadfastness of purpose which did not fail in fair days or foul. Many a voyager from many a race has come since the guard of the legal fraternity, not so much because of his genial personality as because of his fairness, uniform courtesy, impartial judgment and enlightened understanding of the law; last, but not least, is the fellow who said "I should be elected to the state legislature because I have for a long period of years successfully conducted a cat and dog hospital." To be sure all of these hall from another city—but are there any such amongst us?

ACROBATIC CRITICS

Some of the spellbinders who now support Mr. Hughes are wonderful acrobats. Their political jumps and somersaults for the past few years are such as to take away the breath of the beholder. There is Roosevelt himself the great circus tumbler, for instance; then there is Clifford Pinchot, and again there is Mr. Raymond Robbins, who has strong views on the international situation and on the Mexican situation in particular. But, here is what Mr. Robbins said of President Wilson in October, 1914:

"The most skillful, the most courageous, the greatest statesmanship of the last two years in this world was the manner in which Wilson navigated the waters between this country and Mexico. The reason that the blood of American men—sons of our homes—is not today reddening the hot sands of Mexico, to serve the interests of a few corporation magnates and speculators, is due more to the courage and constancy of Woodrow Wilson than to any other factor in American life. I would count myself poor and small, indeed, if I were not able to recognize wisdom, courage, and public service, even if it had been shown by the chief of an opposing party."

It must be a little embarrassing for Mr. Robbins to see those words in print at the present time. President Wilson has not changed his Mexican policy, has Mr. Robbins changed? Rather.

THE GREAT PAINTER

Not every fair lady can wear vivid colors becomingly. Some of the fairest avoid the brighter shades and affect dull garments. Not every painter can use many colors. The greatest have painted in low tones and used a brilliant splash or two where it was necessary to arrest the attention. Rembrandt almost kept to black and white. Whistler was fond of grays and Raphael bloomed out only in the inimitable blues of the old masters. True, Fra Angelico painted in primary colors with the delight of a child with a box of crayons and Turner's paintings are like dissolved rainbows. But, how the colors of the fair ladies and the colors of the great canvases fade before a wood vista in October! The Great Painter is abroad, and all the colors that human eyes have delighted in are thrown broadcast. Purple and crimson and green and gold pile up in leafy places, and there is absolute harmony. The maple and the chestnut and the elm and the oak wear their fairy garments more vivid than the tints of Arabia and Ind, but all is symphonic and part of the Great Painter's plan. October is a month that makes all painters tumble—whether they paint in pigment or in words.

ENFORCE THE LAW

It is to be hoped that out of this controversy between Mayor O'Donnell and Superintendent Welch will come a more rigid enforcement of the law in this city and a permanent improvement. Without harmony there can be no discipline and without discipline there can be no results in law enforcement. It ought to be possible for the police department to keep drunks off the streets and to compel saloon keepers to keep their business up to higher standards. This ought to be done and the public will sooner or later insist that it must be done. Mayor O'Donnell has taken a step in the right direction by ordering a uniformed police officer in every hotel on Sundays, and the work for permanent improvement should not stop here. Let us have an end to the epistolary exchanges and a beginning of genuine law enforcement.

EFFECT OF RAIDS

The sensational submarine raids of last Sunday off the American coast made a profound sensation in this country and nowhere more so than in the stock market. In New York speculation went wild and all day Monday more stock changed hands and there were greater fluctuations than since the panic of 1907. More than 300,000 shares were dealt in during the first hour, it being evident that serious complications were anticipated. The sensitive stock market is quick to reflect any significant change in international relations, and the speedy return of the exchanges to normal would indicate that business does not expect any serious international trouble. Money panics are not to be looked for under present conditions, but Monday's scare was as near a panic as the stock market cares to experience.

DUMMER STREET EXTENSION

The most ardent advocate of the Dummer street extension cannot claim that it was necessary. With two adequate streets running nearby from Market to Merrimack street there is accommodation for all. Yet, the proposal is for a parkway and two streets in the cleared area. When we build streets for show that will be all right, but just now we have too many real needs to indulge in costly and needless display. Since what has

CATARRH GONE ASSERTS O'BRIEN

O'Brien Says: "I Now Recommend Tanlac Because It Has Helped Me So Much After Suffering Ten Years."

Have you ever watched the employees of a large factory starting their work in the morning? You have probably noticed how some men pick up their tools and resume their work of the day before in a manner that is full of life and ginger, as if they really had a good restful night's sleep and were at peace with the world and themselves. And then you have seen the others come in yawning, stretching, eyes half closed, the body apparently almost awake, the mind partly asleep. And yet these sleepy ones, no doubt, retired early, they were not out on a spree, they tired and they don't know why.

A disordered stomach will put a person "on the outs" with himself for no apparent reason. One becomes sluggish and entirely inefficient for the serious things expected of him. Tanlac, the Master Medicine, has helped hundreds of local residents by providing an up-building tonic for the digestive system.

Daniel O'Brien of 61 Hampden street, Holyoke, Mass., a machinist, has been a sufferer from catarrh of the head and stomach for 10 years. Since taking Tanlac he related the following interesting story September 25th at George F. O'Connor's Drug Store, Holyoke. In full Mr. O'Brien said: "I have suffered from catarrh of the head and stomach for 10 years. Every morning when I would wake up I was all filled up. I never took anything that helped me until I saw Tanlac advertised and started to take it. I have now taken two bottles and I am feeling much better. The catarrh is going away quickly and I now feel better every morning. I am now glad to recommend Tanlac because it helped me so much." Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is the most rational weapon against catarrh as it soon brings about an astonishing improvement in your sphincter and general condition. Tanlac is now being introduced in Lowell, at The Lowell Pharmacy, Roullet and Deblis, Prop., 632 Merrimack street, where Mr. Brooks, the Tanlac Man, is daily explaining the merits of this wonderful preparation. Tanlac can also be obtained in all neighboring cities and towns at the Tanlac stores.

been done cannot be undone let us make the best of a bad mess by utilizing the space for a civic building or putting the street through as cheaply as possible. The Dummer street extension is one of the gravest mistakes of years—and it will seem far more so when we come to foot the bills.

SEEN AND HEARD

Just why the authorities pass regulations compelling the jitney men to limit the number of passengers to the seating capacity of their vehicles, while the street railway company is allowed to pack its cars to suffocation is something many of us do not understand.

Sharks Attack Schooner
While fishing off Chatham last Saturday, the Boston fishing schooner Muriel was attacked by a school of over 100 man-eating sharks, which not only destroyed between 10 and 20 trawls, but devoured the fish boats at the time, regained the Muriel with difficulty, and were successful in killing off nearly 50 of the crew.

Some of the letters were brought in yesterday on the vessel's deck and were placed on exhibition at the fish pier. The schooner brought in about 15,000 pounds of fresh groundfish and as much more was in the trawls which the sharks destroyed.

Grateful for Train Wreck
"We were bounding along," said a recent traveler on a local South African single-line railway, "at the rate of about seven miles an hour, and make the best of a bad mess by utilizing the space for a civic building or putting the street through as cheaply as possible. The Dummer street extension is one of the gravest mistakes of years—and it will seem far more so when we come to foot the bills."

"There was a quiet-looking man opposite me. I looked up at a ghastly smile, wishing to appear cheerful, and said: 'We are going a bit smoother, I see.' 'Yes,' he said, 'we're off the track now.'—Chicago News

Then Brought Bugs Back
An American tourist had been boasting again in the village inn. "Talking of scarecrows," he said, "with a drawl, 'why, my father once put one up and it frightened the crows so much that not one entered the field again for over a year.'"

He looked triumphantly around his audience, sure that had settled those country folks. But he was to meet his match. "That's nothing," retorted one farmer. "A neighbor of mine once put a scarecrow into his potato patch, and it terrified the birds so much that one potato, a crew, who had stolen some potatoes, came every day and put them back."

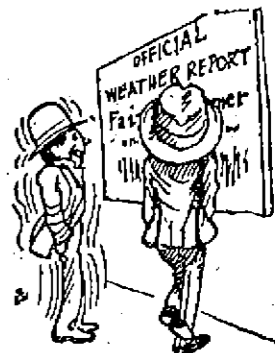

But the Odor Remains
A picnic party of city folks were strolling along a country lane when suddenly they all stopped with gasps and cries of delight. Inside a cottage garden were growing several clumps of a strange, low, lovely flower, with long, graceful stalks each of which bore a globe of palest green that shaded into gray and purple. "Oh, how sweet!" "Magnificent!" "Weirdly striking!" were some of the rushing comments which fell from their lips. "Do tell us," one girl asked the man working in the garden, "what those strange but beautiful things are?" "Them?" asked the native in contented tones. "Them's onions gone to seed!"

Happened in Maine
Martin Conway, the U. S. Cartridge company's very efficient chief of police, was down in Maine a week ago and he allows that one would have to go some to beat the state of Maine folks for hospitality. Everybody who knows Martin knows he has a penchant for asking questions for that is part of a good detective's business and they tell that he talked with pretty nearly everybody he met, asking questions, pertinent and otherwise. In the course of a conversation with a middle-aged farmer, the latter, in reply to one of Martin's questions, said his father—30 years old was still on the farm where he was born.

"Ninety years old, eh?" queried Martin. "Yes, ppp is close to 90," came the reply. "Is his health good?" "Taint much now. He's been complaining for a few months back." "What's the matter with him?" "I dunno, sometimes I think farmin' don't agree with him." This little dialogue took place near Newport, Me., and when the apparently earnest farmer said he didn't think farmin' agreed with his ninety-year-old father, Martin said "good night" so loud that a constable in Old Town thought the Indians had broken loose over on the island.

What Is a Pessimist?
A pessimist is a son of the man who doesn't believe there was any such thing as electricity. He is an offspring of the man who was sure that the horseless carriage would never come, and a nephew of a man who was willing to bet money that men would never fly. A pessimist is a direct descendant of the man who was sure that wireless telegraphy was a fool's dream, and a submarine merely the creation of a fiction writer's brain.

The pessimist's ancestry scoffed at the telephone, the type-setting machine, the motor building, and every forward step the optimists have taken for the betterment of human life. If the pessimists of the past had been right, men would still be living in caves and trying to get their meals with clubs and flint arrows. And evidently they did without publicly confessing their mistakes, for their pessimistic children continue to prophesy

It was nine o'clock on a rainy evening when some culiers came to call. I was sitting in a corner with my back against the wall. With a heap of clean lying in my lap, and a bottle of wine, I was contriving to pass the time. With my youngest daughter beside me, with her long blue eyes afloat, choosing long-stemmed blossoms, telling me which way was right. And the hour was filled with laughter. Till the doorbell changed its summons and until our callers came.

Jinx said, standing there above me with a playing sort of smile. "I can't see, not for a minute, how you do it. To waste time the way you're doing on such foolish things. Don't catch me at any nonsense; when one of my children brings Playroom stuff to me to fool with, that's the time they go to bed. None of that in mine!" I pondered on the words my caller said. And I thought of the young Jinxes back at home there fast asleep, and my heart was filled with pity for each lone little heap.

"Wasted time," my caller called it; he wasted time in being such a joy. To the heart of a wee girl, or a little bit of boy. That through all the years of living they will smile when they recall how their daddy, in the corner with his back against the wall, played at games to make them happy. To cut rows of paper dolls for a little girl's delight. With my weaving, Humphrey went off to links—Wasted time! You bet I wasn't wasting any time on Jinx.

It is a sort of first aid to the injured, and it may be well remember this when something goes wrong.

Tomorrow, Columbus Day, is the holiday of the summer season. Although it is a little cool, the motorists may call it a most wonderful time of the year for driving, and no doubt there will be few who do not take advantage of this day for a spin through the country. Just now, before the frosts have killed all the leaves, the foliage has its rare tints and lustre. The combinations of nature's colors make an attraction for the lovers of beauty and art, and it is in an alluring array.

AUTOMOBILE QUESTION BOX

NOTE—In these columns every Wednesday we will give expert advice to motorists on how to repair and operate their machines. Automobile readers of THE SUN are invited to send in questions or problems they may wish to have answered. Such questions will receive attention in due time. Address all communications: Automobile Editor, Sun, Lowell, Mass. Communications must bear the signature and address of the sender, though not for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

About three weeks ago I had differential filled with grease, and ever late catering to weddings and social affairs with his excellent motor and taxi service.

The sales of the Lowell Motor Mart for the past week are: J. C. Abbott, Grantville, a Chandler roadster and a Dodge Bros. roadster; D. G. Allard, a Dodge Bros. touring car; G. D. Hawley, Dodge Bros. touring car.

During the last year or two automobile engineering has been rapidly approaching a limit beyond which advancement is going to be very gradual.

since I notice that quite an amount of it leaks out through the right-hand brake of a 1916 Overland. How may I locate trouble and remedy?

Ans. Remove wheel and see if felt washer is in place in axle tube. If it is missing or badly worn one must be replaced. The amount of grease in differential must be reduced. A heavier grease than the one you are using would also help to reduce the trouble.

The lights in my car are not as strong and bright as formerly. I can find no cause for this except that in running the motor, thereby charging the batteries, all the cells in the battery bank are used, except the one which does not get at all and which indicates to me that this cell needs replenishing. Do you think this cell is the cause of the lights being dim, and if so, how can I restore it to a healthy condition? An answer through the motoring page will oblige.

Ans. Although you do not state so, we assume that you keep the defective cell filled with water. Otherwise your trouble would be due to a leaky cell. It is possible that the plates are short circuited. This would reduce the current and make the lights dim. Would be advisable to have the battery inspected and repaired without delay.

Please answer the following in your motoring column:
I have a 1916 Ford car, also an automobile equipped with generator and battery, and desire to equip my Ford with a storage battery for lighting. Could I charge the battery for the Ford from the other car? Also, could I charge the battery for the Ford from one car to the other? I will appreciate your advice and information.

Ans. The battery on the Ford car could be charged by the other system, but it would not be economical to run the engine just to charge the other battery. You would best proceed as follows: Get a battery of the same capacity as the one with your starting and lighting system—a duplicate of it if possible, as it will then fit into the same space on the car. Use one of these batteries on the charging system until it is charged and then change with the one on the Ford car. This will be found to work out very successfully in practice.

I find that if a Ford car is jacked up behind and thrown in low gear the left rear wheel only will spin, and likewise in reverse the right wheel will spin, but in high gear both spin. From these facts some contend that the left wheel only does all the pulling in low and reverse gear. Please let me know if this is the case.

Ans. I wish to know this for the reason that if this is true it will be best in foul roads to give the left wheel the hardest track when pulling in low gear.

Ans. All differentials are designed to deliver equal power to both wheels. When rear wheels are jacked up a slight drag on one wheel, such as brake dragging or a loose wheel, would cause one wheel to run more slowly or stop while the other ran forward. If the high speed is used it drives the differential with so much more force that it overcomes the resistance and both wheels run forward.

Now that winter is coming on I should like to know what is the best preparation on the market to prevent the water from freezing in the radiator. I am using a radiator which is so, how can I tell which one is injurious and which one is safe?

Ans. There may be anti-freezing mixtures for sale which are not injurious, but most of them contain calcium chloride, which eats away the solder holding the radiator together. Glycoline is used by some, but it sells the rubber tubing. The only thing we can recommend is denatured alcohol in the proportion of one to three. Measure the water in the cooling system and you will know how much alcohol to put in. Be careful of leaks, never fill the radiator quite full, and add alcohol occasionally, as it evaporates readily and must be replaced.

Please let me know how to stop a leak in a radiator. It keeps dripping all the time and I have to fill it two or three times a day. A. C. M.

Ans. You fail to state what type of radiator you have. A cellular radiator may be repaired temporarily by plugging both ends of the tube with rubber. If the leak is at the surface where it can be reached a drop of solder may be all that is necessary. A tubular radiator is hard to stop leaking, but your supply dealer has a preparation which is to be dissolved in the hot water in the radiator. As it leaks out it goes up the heat. Some use a teaspoonful of linseed meal, but it is apt to cause the radiator to clog. As soon as possible the radiator should be properly repaired by a competent workman.

The breathing tube on my engine lets out a lot of gas, but doesn't seem to take any in. Is this anything serious? Please tell me what a breathing tube is for.

Ans. The breathing tube is to let the air into the crank case and let it out again as the pistons move up and down, so as to avoid back-pressure against them. If there is much air coming out it shows that the gas is leaking by the pistons. On an old motor this is the result of wear. On a new motor the piston rings are probably gummed. Test motor for loss of compression. Piston rings may be loosened by pouring in half a teaspoonful of kerosene and cranking the engine. A worn cylinder can only be restored by grinding. This also, will require a larger sized piston and rings.

I have been advised to paint my tires with some of the white paints on the market for that purpose. Please let me know if it will prolong the life of the tire, as some claim.

Ans. The paint you mention serves merely to cover the outside of the tire and to improve its appearance, but can have no effect on the interior. It does not even close up the small cuts in the tread. Its main purpose is to add to the appearance of the car.

I find it difficult to start the motor these cold mornings. Can you give me some cold weather hints that will help get the engine started? I would appreciate them very much as I have no starter on my car and do not enjoy spinning it.

Ans. The following hints may help you. If cranking is not sufficient, warm carburetor by wrapping hot cloths, wrung out in hot water, around the carburetor and pipes. Trimming the carburetor through the relief valves is another method. You will probably use gasoline, but ether is better, as it evaporates at all temperatures and gives very snappy explosion. If everything else fails, sufficient hot water can be had, fill the cooling system with hot water. This never fails.

HELPFUL HINTS
If at any time you open the switch and the engine continues to run it is due to glowing carbon or overheated engine. Close throttle, put gears in low speed, apply foot-brake gently, and let in clutch suddenly. This will stall motor.

If wire terminals break off and become loose make an eye as follows: Remove enough insulation so that the bare wire may be turned around the sharpened end of a pencil, and the end wrapped around the wire itself. This alone makes a good terminal, but it will be much improved if it can be dipped in melted solder.

Do not neglect to take a few spark plug cores with you on your trip. The metal parts of a spark plug will last almost indefinitely, but the cores must break in time, and that usually means buying a new spark plug. The cores can be bought for a fraction of the cost of a new plug, it means economy to carry a few with you. Also carry a few extra gaskets.

Spark plug porcelain cracks from a variety of causes. A chance blow from a wire while tightening, pulling too hard on the ignition wire, dropping the plug, or defect in manufacture are frequent causes. But the usual trouble is from screwing them too hard into the cylinder. As the plug heats up and expands it cracks the porcelain.

Do not neglect to inspect valve clearance at least once a month. If valve lifters are out of adjustment power is being lost without being noticed. Wait till motor cools and adjust them to one sixteenth of an inch. If they are too wide open they become noisy; if too far closed the motor loses compression. In both cases there is a serious loss of power.

IMPORTANT ENGINE FACTORS
At the present day and time, it's the little things that really count in the design of an automobile motor. declares an authority on engineering. "Up until the past few years it looked as though the only way to increase the power of an automobile engine was to increase the bore of the cylinder which, of course, necessitated a larger cylinder casting, resulting in a motor that was clumsy and heavy and extravagant in its use of gasoline and oil."

The tendency at the present time, and it is undoubtedly correct, is to increase the power of the automobile engine by increasing the speed rather than the size. "There are many things in design that affect the speed at which a motor may run; in the first place, the reciprocating parts must be very light and carefully balanced, the crankshaft must be designed in such a manner that it will be possible to revolve it at high speed without excessive vibration, and while the motor bearings must be free from friction as nearly as possible, at the same time they must be strong enough to stand the most severe strains.

"Two of the most important factors that determine the speed at which a motor may be operated are getting the gasoline vapor into the cylinder and the burned gases out of the cylinder as quickly as possible."

ARMENIAN TAG DAY

Local Committee Wants Workers to Aid in Good Work Next Saturday

The general committee in aid of the Syrian and Armenian relief fund has issued a call for 100 volunteer collectors or more to sell tags in this city next Saturday. Women are needed more especially as they are hoped that some of the zealous young ladies who worked for other tag days will respond to the call.

There was a meeting of the general committee for tag day yesterday at city hall. Rev. A. C. Ferrin was chosen permanent chairman, and other members of the committee named were Rev. H. A. Barker, Alex. Williams, a Hahagan representing the Armenians, and George Dehney, representing the Syrians. Twenty young women will form the Armenian corps of workers and the Syrian committee will have from 25 to 40. At least a hundred more are needed.

Alex. Williams offered the rooms of the Boy Scouts in Shattuck street as headquarters for tag day and the committee voted to accept it. It was suggested that those wishing to serve as collectors should call at headquarters and notify Mr. Williams or some other member of the committee. Saturday will be observed as relief day for the Syrian and Armenian throughout the country and it is hoped that Lowell's contribution will be worth while. The movement followed a proclamation by President Wilson and a resolution passed by congress.

Y.M.C.A. BANQUET DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS

Every worker on the teams that will attempt to increase the membership of the Lowell Y.M.C.A. from 1100 to 2000, was in an optimistic mood at the opening banquet in the gymnasium at 6:30 o'clock last evening. That the task of securing at least 900 members in one week is no easy one was realized by the team workers, but all agreed to put their shoulders to the wheel and good results are expected.

The teams will report each noon at 12 o'clock in the gymnasium. The system will be the same as in the membership campaign last year when great success was met with.

The banquet last evening was as usual, very satisfactory. More than 200 team members were seated at the tables which were attended by the Women's auxiliary. Following the banquet Chairman Samuel N. Thompson, president of the association and toastmaster of the evening, outlined the rules of the campaign. He told of the accommodations at the Y.M.C.A. for more members and thought that there were enough clean young men in Lowell to obtain a membership of 2000. Campaign buttons bearing the inscription "We Are Out for 2000" were distributed to be worn where they will be seen.

Ed Neubach, the Boston Braves pitcher, who had promised to attend, sent a telegram to the effect that he was bound by a newspaper contract to remain in Brooklyn until after the world's series, but would speak at one of the noonday meetings. The speakers were Congressman John Jacob Rogers, P. F. McGuire, director of education at the Boston Y.M.C.A., and Guy D. Croft, industrial secretary of the Brockton Y.M.C.A.

The campaign organization follows: Division A—C. B. Redway, chairman; M. F. Furey, secretary; F. A. Anderson, Fred Winkler, Raymond Carter, W. W. Conings and Alfred Fletcher, captains. Division B—H. G. Wright, chairman; R. R. Cumb, secretary; D. W. Hinkley, J. A. Brown, J. A. Grant, T. A. Wick and W. F. Berry, captains. Division C—A. F. French, chairman; W. A. Bristol, secretary; J. B. Brown, Seth Hall, Paul Loupre, Samuel Bahl, Earl and Herbert Howard, captains. Division D—O. W. Butler, chairman; V. H. Gurney, secretary; W. W. Dooley, Dr. R. S. Perkins, Will Rounds, John Bowker and F. Shaw, captains. Division E—A. D. Mullen, chairman; W. G. Duncan, secretary; Fred Urbank, Charles A. Lake, C. H. Howland, C. P. Dupea and Clifford Jessop, captains.

Each captain is at the head of a team of about 10 workers, and as there are 20 teams the working force numbers close to 200.

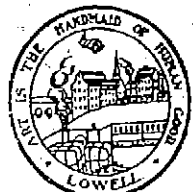

BABY GIRL WAS SHOT DEAD BY BROTHER

WESTBORO, Oct. 11.—Margaret McDonough, 3 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip McDonough, was accidentally shot and killed yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the farm of Thomas E. Godfrey on the Menders Road, in the Rockingham district.

Mr. McDonough and his family were removed to Westboro only a week ago from South Boston to take charge of Mr. Godfrey's chicken farm.

Margaret and Mark F. McDonough, the latter only 6 years, were playing in the attic of the home when Mark got hold of a double-barreled shotgun with which Mr. Godfrey was shooting foxes. The little boy pulled the trigger, shooting Margaret in the side of the head, killing her almost instantly.

DEATHS

SWANSON—Nils Sture Swanson died early this morning at his home, 15 Roper street, at the age of 35 years, 8 months and 4 days. He is survived by his mother, Augusta W. Swanson; two brothers, Otto and Axel Swanson, all of this city.

CURTIS—Freeman H. Curtis died Oct. 7 at the home of his son, B. A. Curtis, Nashua, N. H. He was born in Monroe, Me., June 12, 1837. He served his country with honor in the Civil war, enlisting in Company H, 24th Maine Volunteer regiment. He leaves eight children, Burton A. of Nashua, N. H., Mrs. Albertine Heath of Wakefield, Arthur F. of Nashua, Mrs. Anna Bassett of Chicago, Ill., Walter H. of Lowell, Irving L. of Nashua, N. H., Ernest L. of Wakefield, Mrs. Linda Ormsby of Berwick, Me. The funeral was held Monday afternoon, Rev. J. Bruce Gilman officiating. The funeral services were numerous, including large pillows, inscribed "Our Father" from the bereaved children. Burial was in the family lot at Waldo, Me.

GORMLEY—The many friends of Miss Mary T. Gormley will be grieved to learn of her death which occurred this morning at her home, 15 Curran street, at the age of 62 years. She was the daughter of the late John M. F. Gormley and the late Ellen T. Duffy, she was 31 years of age. She leaves two sons, John and Riley; Mrs. Francis Finnegan, and the Misses Josephine and Sadie Gormley.

BOYLE—Albert R. Boyle, aged 2 years, 8 months and 12 days, son of Thomas J. and Ethel, died this morning at 7 Sayles street. He leaves three brothers, Thomas, George and William, and one sister, Margaret.

FUNERALS

TEJERIAN—The funeral of Marlon Tejerian, who died Monday morning from accidental burns, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of her parents, Eli and Mary Tejerian, 27 Tyler street. Services were conducted by Rev. Herbert A. Baker. Among the floral offerings was a basket inscribed "Our Father" from the bereaved family; pillow inscribed "Sleep, Beatrix, Jennie, Della, Georgiana, and Rebecca"; and pieces from the Oscar family, Anacleto and Haig Khudjian, playmates of the deceased; Rose Paulian and Antonio G. Antebian. Burial was in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Mr. Baker. Undertakers J. H. McDonough sons had charge of the arrangements.

HUBBARD—The funeral of Miss Clara Hubbard took place yesterday afternoon from the rooms of Undertaker William H. Saunders, 12 Hurd street. The services, which were private, were conducted by Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the First Primitive Methodist church. The bearers were Messrs. Arthur J. Hubbard and Charles Elmer and Arthur Craig. Burial took place in the family lot in the Edison cemetery, where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Matthews. Undertaker William H. Saunders had charge of the funeral arrangements.

CASSELL—The funeral of James Cassey, son of Michael J. and Ellen (Harrigan) Cassey, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 15 Phillips street, and was largely attended. There was a profusion of floral offerings, including a basket inscribed "Our Father" from the family; pillow inscribed "Baby"; Misses Sarah and Catherine Cassey; and pieces from Bernard and Wm. Cassey, North Andover, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Enright, Miss Lora Dwyer, Mr. and Mrs. Summer Holt, Mary O'Garra, Mrs. Deauregard, Mrs. Rose McCrann and family and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. McCrann; Kiernan children, Mrs.

Each captain is at the head of a team of about 10 workers, and as there are 20 teams the working force numbers close to 200.

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle!

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work compelled me to stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. FRANK KNOX, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move.

Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. Yost, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up.

Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. CLEMENTINA DUEERING, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

All women are invited to inspect the laboratory of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Margaret Queenan and family. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers James E. O'Donnell & Sons.

NOONAN—The funeral of the late John E. Noonan took place this morning at 9 o'clock from the home of his sister, Mrs. Francis McCarron, 28 Mill street, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends, including the following delegation from the Loyal Order of Moose: Edward S. Ledger, Henry Supple, George A. Tyrrell and James Brady. The cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where at 9 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Daniel Keleher, assisted by Rev. W. George Mullin as deacon, and Rev. Patrick Crayton as sub-deacon. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a pillow inscribed "Brother" from Mr. and Mrs. Francis McCarron and family, and pieces from Mrs. John McCarron and family, Mr. James P. O'Donnell and family, Loyal Order of Moose, Mr. B. J. Dunn, Mr. Joseph Shurtley, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Davis, Mr. William H. and family, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hart and family, stable associates, Mr. James McCann and family, Mr. and Mrs. James McCann and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Clift, Mrs. Mary Irwin, Miss Mary Ryan and Mrs. Patrick Ryan. The bearers were Michael Rotherman, James Hechman, Thomas Cull, John Barry, Patrick Hart and William H. At the grave Rev. Fr. Keleher read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers James E. O'Donnell & Son.

FUNERAL NOTICES

AMELS—Died in Boston Oct. 10th, Miss Amels, aged 65 years. She leaves one brother, Samson Amels; one nephew, Charles, and two nieces, Helen and Charlotte M. Amels, all of this city. Burial next after. John A. Weinbeck, undertaker.

HOMER—Died Oct. 10th, at Prout's Neck, Me., Arthur Benson Homer, aged 75 years. Funeral services will be held at the Tabbot Memorial chapel in the Lowell cemetery, Lowell, Mass., Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends are invited to attend without further notice. Please omit flowers. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker George W. Newman.

NEWMAN—Died in Tyngsboro, Oct. 10, Christopher C. Newman, aged 32 years. Funeral service from his home, Friday, Oct. 13, at 2 o'clock. Friends invited without further notice. Funeral arrangements in charge of Undertaker John A. Weinbeck.

MCKENNA—The funeral of Michael A. McKenna will take place Thursday morning at 8 o'clock from his late home, 61 18th street. High mass of requiem at St. Michael's church, at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertaker James W. McKenna.

SWANSON—Died in this city, Oct. 11, Nils Sture Swanson, aged 35 years, 8 months and 4 days. Funeral services will be held at his home, 45 Roper street, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Friends are respectfully invited to attend. The funeral arrangements are in charge of Undertaker William H. Saunders.

BOYLE—The funeral of Albert R. Boyle will take place Friday morning at 10 o'clock from the home of his parents, Thomas and Ethel Boyle, 7 Sayles street. Burial in St. Patrick's cemetery under direction of Undertaker Charles H. Molloy.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned desires to express publicly her sincere thanks to those who by expressions of sympathy acts of kindness and floral offerings served to sustain her in her hour of grief at the loss of a devoted and loving mother. To the girls of the Appleton cloth room in the undersigned particularly grateful. The memory of such true friendship shall be ever cherished by Mrs. Mary Costello.

CARD OF THANKS

The Coulter family extends sincere thanks to all those who by their gifts for sympathy on the death of their dear mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Coulter.

Mr. John Coulter and Family.

BLAMES LODGE AND ROOT FOR DEATHS

NEWPORT, N. H., Oct. 11.—Speaking at a democratic rally here last night, Senator Henry F. Hollis charged Senator Elihu Root with arousing prejudice against the Wilson administration in Mexico and encouraging Mexicans to kill Americans in that country and to make raids across the border.

"Lodge and Root," he said, "are responsible for these deaths more than anyone else, because they have enlarged upon the disorders that rend the American people."

Senator Hollis declared that the republicans have tried to control Mexico in the past through capitalists who formed a partnership with the government of Mexico by obtaining valuable concessions in return for financial and military support.

SARAH BERNHARDT GETS GREAT WELCOME

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Looking wonderfully youthful for her 70 years, the divine Sarah Bernhardt made a triumphal entry into this country on her arrival here yesterday on the French liner Espagne.

A score of beautiful society girls strewed orchids, roses and lilies over the gangplank and across which was borne in her sedan chair to her waiting automobile.

The girls represented the British, French and Belgian relief fund for the blind. Mme. Bernhardt was cheered by a big delegation at the pier to greet her and appeared as vivacious as any of the young misses who gathered about her.

COLUMBUS DAY PARADE

Gov. Calvin Coolidge, Speaker Cox of the house of representatives, the governor's staff, Hon. Frederick Mansfield, Congressman John Jacob Rogers, the mayors of several cities, and others. It was stated today that Gov. McCall would be unable to attend. There will be a buffet lunch, for the visitors, in the mayor's reception room during the afternoon and this is the only entertaining that will be done by the city.

The Knights of Columbus, however, will entertain on a grand scale although the Knights did not accept any of the $1200 appropriated by the city for the Columbus day observance. The Knights of various cities have voted to attend the celebration and it was stated today that there would be over 250 in line, including bands. The cities and towns from which Knights will come will include Boston, Waltham, Peppercor, Reading, Wakefield, Woburn, Newburyport, Amesbury, Haverhill, Andover, Lawrence, Manchester, N. H., Ayer, Charlestown and Somerville. The local Knights will entertain the guests at the following places: High school annex, Y.M.C.A. hall, Railway Men's hall, hall of Brothers school in Suffolk street and the K. of C. rooms. Buffet luncheons and entertainments will be provided in all of the halls or places of entertainment. This part of the program held in charge of a committee headed by John E. Golden.

Eagles Will Entertain

The Lowell Aerie of Eagles will entertain at the parade at their headquarters at 220 Central street, including bands. The cities and towns from which Knights will come will include Boston, Waltham, Peppercor, Reading, Wakefield, Woburn, Newburyport, Amesbury, Haverhill, Andover, Lawrence, Manchester, N. H., Ayer, Charlestown and Somerville. The local Knights will entertain the guests at the following places: High school annex, Y.M.C.A. hall, Railway Men's hall, hall of Brothers school in Suffolk street and the K. of C. rooms. Buffet luncheons and entertainments will be provided in all of the halls or places of entertainment. This part of the program held in charge of a committee headed by John E. Golden.

Spanish War Veterans

The Spanish War Veterans, who will have as guests members of various camps along the Merrimack valley, have hired a hall in Middle street and after the parade they will provide their guests with a luncheon and entertainment.

French-American Brigade

The companies of the French-American Volunteer brigade of the United States, who will take part in the semi-military division will be entertained at the C.M.A.C. hall by Col. Albert Bergeron of the Second regiment and the members of the local companies. General other organizations have provided for luncheon for their guests.

Lieut. W. C. MacBrayne, chief marshal of the parade conferred with Supt. Farrington of the Bay State Street Railway company this morning, and received permission to incorporate the poles of the company from Tower's corner to city hall. This work will be done some time tonight. The members of St. Anthony's society, (Portuguese) informed The Sun this morning that despite the fact that the name of their organization was not on the list of those taking part in the parade, that they will take part in the celebration and will be headed by the Lowell Portuguese band.

The parade will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the junction of Thorndike and Highland streets and the route will be as follows: Thorndike to Davis square, to Gorham, to Appleton, to South to Middlesex, to Central, to Merrimack, to Merrimack square, to Bridge, to Fifth, to Reade, to Sixth, to Bridge, to Merrimack, to Moody, to Alken, to Merrimack as far as Dutson, where it will be dismissed by the chief marshal. It was announced this morning that the Eagles and the Moose will feature floats in the parade. The Boys' brigade of the First Unitarian church, the Boy Scouts and the Spanish War Veterans will, if the weather is favorable, carry large flags.

Columbian March

Mr. Henry Gilday has written a military song march which will be played by all the bands in the parade tomorrow. The Spirit City band and the Sixth Regiment band will play the march some past city hall and the Lowell Cadet band will play it at Merrimack square. Mr. Gilday's reputation as composer is gaining wide recognition. Words for the "Columbian March" were written by Dennis A. McCarthy, the port-editor of the Sacred Heart Review.

NEWPORT, N. H., Oct. 11.—Speaking at a democratic rally here last night, Senator Henry F. Hollis charged Senator Elihu Root with arousing prejudice against the Wilson administration in Mexico and encouraging Mexicans to kill Americans in that country and to make raids across the border.

"Lodge and Root," he said, "are responsible for these deaths more than anyone else, because they have enlarged upon the disorders that rend the American people."

Senator Hollis declared that the republicans have tried to control Mexico in the past through capitalists who formed a partnership with the government of Mexico by obtaining valuable concessions in return for financial and military support.

SARAH BERNHARDT GETS GREAT WELCOME

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Looking wonderfully youthful for her 70 years, the divine Sarah Bernhardt made a triumphal entry into this country on her arrival here yesterday on the French liner Espagne.

A score of beautiful society girls strewed orchids, roses and lilies over the gangplank and across which was borne in her sedan chair to her waiting automobile.

The girls represented the British, French and Belgian relief fund for the blind. Mme. Bernhardt was cheered by a big delegation at the pier to greet her and appeared as vivacious as any of the young misses who gathered about her.

Gov. Calvin Coolidge, Speaker Cox of the house of representatives, the governor's staff, Hon. Frederick Mansfield, Congressman John Jacob Rogers, the mayors of several cities, and others. It was stated today that Gov. McCall would be unable to attend. There will be a buffet lunch, for the visitors, in the mayor's reception room during the afternoon and this is the only entertaining that will be done by the city.

The Knights of Columbus, however, will entertain on a grand scale although the Knights did not accept any of the $1200 appropriated by the city for the Columbus day observance. The Knights of various cities have voted to attend the celebration and it was stated today that there would be over 250 in line, including bands. The cities and towns from which Knights will come will include Boston, Waltham, Peppercor, Reading, Wakefield, Woburn, Newburyport, Amesbury, Haverhill, Andover, Lawrence, Manchester, N. H., Ayer, Charlestown and Somerville. The local Knights will entertain the guests at the following places: High school annex, Y.M.C.A. hall, Railway Men's hall, hall of Brothers school in Suffolk street and the K. of C. rooms. Buffet luncheons and entertainments will be provided in all of the halls or places of entertainment. This part of the program held in charge of a committee headed by John E. Golden.

Eagles Will Entertain

The Lowell Aerie of Eagles will entertain at the parade at their headquarters at 220 Central street, including bands. The cities and towns from which Knights will come will include Boston, Waltham, Peppercor, Reading, Wakefield, Woburn, Newburyport, Amesbury, Haverhill, Andover, Lawrence, Manchester, N. H., Ayer, Charlestown and Somerville. The local Knights will entertain the guests at the following places: High school annex, Y.M.C.A. hall, Railway Men's hall, hall of Brothers school in Suffolk street and the K. of C. rooms. Buffet luncheons and entertainments will be provided in all of the halls or places of entertainment. This part of the program held in charge of a committee headed by John E. Golden.

Spanish War Veterans

The Spanish War Veterans, who will have as guests members of various camps along the Merrimack valley, have hired a hall in Middle street and after the parade they will provide their guests with a luncheon and entertainment.

French-American Brigade

The companies of the French-American Volunteer brigade of the United States, who will take part in the semi-military division will be entertained at the C.M.A.C. hall by Col. Albert Bergeron of the Second regiment and the members of the local companies. General other organizations have provided for luncheon for their guests.

Report Submarine in Harbor

Rumors were afloat yesterday morning that a strange submarine had been sighted by towboat men in the bay between Boston Light and Minot's Light, but the report could not be substantiated. It was reported to the United States steamboat inspectors that the captain of a local tug had seen a strange subsea craft outside the lights and that it was unlike any of our American submarines.

No tidings have yet been received from the Elbermar Line steamship City of Naples, which was due yesterday from the Far East by way of the Panama canal. The course of the freighter will bring her through the area where the German U-boat has been active.

Capt. Kerruish of the Leyland Line steamship Kingstonian, one of the vessels sent to the bottom off Nantucket, has many friends in this city, and they are anxiously awaiting information regarding the officers and crew of the vessel.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At a regular meeting of the members of Count Samuel de Champlain, which was held last evening the recently elected officers were duly installed. The installing officer being Deputy Field Leclerc. The officers installed were: Chief forester, Alfred Lebel; sub-chief forester, Camille Ayotte; past chief forester, Narcisse Foucher; recording secretary, Edmond Lambert; financial secretary, Arthur Levesque; treasurer, Paul Vigorin; guards, Adolphe Labelle and Louis Desautels; sentinels, Napoleon Mercier and Louis Marchand; trustees, Edouard Desmarais, Fran-

The Weather-Wise say it will be a mild winter, no real cold weather until February. This is fortunate, for coal will be high and perhaps hard to get, so the coal people say.

Until the cold weather really comes, heat your sitting room or bedroom with one of the new steam radiators, with gas as fuel. We are selling a lot of these to people who study economy and who take pains to find out what things cost. We have just given an order for a carload more.

Just as the gas stove is better than a coal stove, so is the gas steam radiator better than a furnace or boiler in moderate weather.

ALL BRITISH BOATS ARE BEING HELD IN PORT

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—The British admiralty is apparently governing the sailings of British steamers from Boston. The British consul decides whether it is safe for a vessel to clear.

So far this week only one British steamer has taken out clearance papers for Europe. The Kausan, an American steamer, bound with steel munitions and general cargo for the Italian and French governments, took out clearance papers Monday, but she is still in port, and there is little likelihood of her leaving today. The 1200 horses she is to take have not yet been loaded.

Even the sailing of the steamer Prince Arthur for Yarmouth was canceled yesterday, and in her place the American steamer Gov. Cobb was sent out. The Cobb arrived yesterday morning from Portland and was at once transferred to the Yarmouth berth. She sailed in the afternoon with several passengers and a big freight. Capt. Simms of the steamer Prince George, now laid up at this port, was pilot. On account of the transfer of the Cobb there was no sailing for Portland last evening.

The officers installed were: Chief forester, Alfred Lebel; sub-chief forester, Camille Ayotte; past chief forester, Narcisse Foucher; recording secretary, Edmond Lambert; financial secretary, Arthur Levesque; treasurer, Paul Vigorin; guards, Adolphe Labelle and Louis Desautels; sentinels, Napoleon Mercier and Louis Marchand; trustees, Edouard Desmarais, Fran-

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a gold ring bearing the coat of arms to Past Chief Forester Narcisse Foucher, the presentation being made by Deputy Leclerc.

Lowell Eagles

Lowell Aerie, 223, F.O.E., held a meeting Tuesday evening in its hall in the Harrington building in Central street. Owing to the fact that it was the last meeting to be held before Thursday's parade, final arrangements were made at this meeting.

President P. J. McCann, who will be the marshal of the fraternal division, announced that all arrangements had been completed, and that nearly the full membership of the organization was expected to be in line. The committee on arrangements reported that all possible had been done to make a successful showing, and the secretary reported the purchase of 1500 badges for the occasion. A band has been secured to lead the division.

As a special feature, the aerie will put a float in the parade. The board of trustees, through their chairman, Thomas Corcoran, reported that all arrangements had been completed for the entertainment of the members and their guests and that on the day of Oct. 12th open house would be kept for all Eagles.

Worthy Treasurer Richard Griffith, who has charge of the memorial exercises to be held in connection with the unveiling of the Eagles' monument on Oct. 22, reported that the Lowell Cadet band had been engaged for that occasion, and that State President Thos.

SEVEN CENT FARES

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 11.—The state public service commission yesterday gave the Manchester and Nashua electric railway permission to raise its single fares from five to seven cents. Inability of the company to operate at a profit under the present traffic is given as the reason for the increase. The new schedule is effective Oct. 15.

GARFIELD'S SON IS OUT FOR PRES. WILSON

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—Harry N. Garfield, president of Williams college and son of a former president of the United States, has enlisted as a member of the Woodrow Wilson College Men's League.

Although a republican and the son of a republican president, Mr. Garfield is actively engaged in the work of the organization.

EASY VICTORY AT LEXINGTON

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 11.—Split heat races, all of which were hard fought except the Ashland Stakes, which was won by Early Don, was the rule yesterday at the meeting here of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association.

The 2:07 pace carried over from Monday went two heats before it was won by the original favorite, Beth Clark. This race went six heats, which is the longest of the meeting.

The 2:08 trot went five heats and had four heat winners, Peter Dilliken, having won two heats, was declared the winner of the race under the rules. He was obliged to take a new record of 2:08 1-2 in the third heat, while Platte-burg lowered his record to 2:05 1-2 in the fourth heat.

The 2:15 pace was untried at sundown, the Canadian mare, Queen Hal, having won the first two heats, and Baron Wood, from Michigan, the third.

The principal race of the day was the Ashland Stakes, worth $200. Early Don, from the stable of Valentine, had little difficulty in winning in straight heats.

The hardest fought race was the 2:07 pacing class. Beth Clark won the fourth heat, the first one of the day. In 2:07 1-2. Camelia beat her easily in the next one in 2:06 1-4, and it seemed that she had the sixth heat at her mercy when only the two started, but Beth Clark won. The summary:

IMPORTANT GAME AT SPALDING

PARK TOMORROW—LOCAL TEAM

EXPECTED TO WIN

The Lowell high football eleven which has shown up so favorably in the two games played thus far should have no trouble in winning from Lawrence academy in the game to be played at Spalding park tomorrow fore-

WITH HOME RUN IN WORLD'S SERIES

MYERS (Brooklyn) ROUNDING
THIRD IN SERIES' FIRST HOME RUN.

Most of the second place glory that went to Brooklyn for the fourteen-inning game, second in the world's series, belongs to Smith, pitcher, and

Hi Myers, centerfielder. It goes to

Smith for the two games he twirled and to Myers for his home run in the first inning made off Ruth. Myers came within an ace of beating the Red Sox single handed, although Boston won, 2 to 1. He was the Robins' brightest star. Myers shocked Babe

Ruth and the Boston fans when he hammered the ball to the concrete wall in right center for a clean home run to the first inning. It was a tre-

plate before Janviri, in short center, had a chance to relay Walker's long throw to Catcher Thomas. Myers also made several miraculous plays in the field. He killed a possible two-

inning, when he captured a hard line drive in right center. He robbed

Harry Hooper of a probable home run in the sixth and smothered a rally in the ninth with a gorgeous throw.

Picture shows Myers' portrait and

JODDIN MAKES GREAT SCORE IN CITY LEAGUE

The second week's schedule of the City Bowling league brought together eight teams which provided plenty of enthusiasm for the large number of bowlers attracted to each of the four alleys. The Kimball System again made the best score knocking down 1237 pins. Joddin of this team made a remarkable score of 251 with a single string of 112. The Kimballs rolled on Kittredge's alley and a capacity crowd followed Joddin's work as he piled up his high score.

The results were as follows: At Kittredge's, Kimball System 1237, Newton Mfg. Co. 1197, At Cresson, Cressons 1557, Highland Daylights 1432, At White Way, White Ways 1503, Carr's 1412, At the Jewel, Jewels 1235, Boyd's 1356.

BARRACA LEAGUE

SMITH OUT AT THIRD, THIRD INNING, SECOND WORLD'S SERIES GAME

In Brooklyn's half of the third inning of the second world's series game, after Miller had bounced out, Scott to Hohlitzel, poor coaching or poor judgment by Pitcher Smith threw away a chance for Brooklyn to score at least one run, a tally that would have given them victory without going into extra innings to be defeated. Smith let one ball go by and then slammed a terrific drive to the right fence. He made two bases easily, but Jack Coombs, who was coaching at third, either urged him to take another base or else the pitcher ran blindly on without using the proper judgment. At any rate, he was thrown out at third by at least ten feet when Hooper relayed the ball to Walker, who came in and shot it to Gardner. This act proved very costly for the Robins, as Johnston followed Smith's double with a single to center, which might have brought Smith home.
